NAVAL POWER OF U. S. CLOUDED BY POLITICS

Henry M. Hyde Will Bare to Public Facts on Actual Water Strength.

TO CITE FUTURE NEEDS

This is the first of a series of articles by Mr. Hyde on the present condition of the United States navy.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

When Rear Admiral Caperton, commanding the cruiser squadron of the Atlantic fleet, landed his bluejackets and marines at Port au Prince the other day and took temporary charge of the negro republic of Haiti, it was the hundredth time in the last century that some unit of the United States navy has been in action.

Real wars have been few, but almost always somewhere around the seven seas the ships of the navy are busy sending men ashore to enforce law and order and compel the recognition of international rights. In ordinary times a small naval landing party at some remote and obscure port gets, perhaps, only a casual notice in the newspapers. Often it may escape public notice altogether.

War Makes People Wake Up.

Under ordinary circumstances the people of the United States look on the navy and its activities as entirely outside of and unconnected with their daily lives. Only in times like these, with three-quarters of the civilized world in a death grapple, is there sufficient interest in the subject to justify an attempt to tell the facts about the United States navy, its present condition, its prospects, and its needs.

One has but to look at Great Britain, saved from invasion and certain capture by the potency of its tremendous fleet, to realize that a nation without an army, which is separated from other great and aggressive powers by the ocean, may safely depend on its navy for defense—provided that navy be sufficiently strong and efficient for the work.

China Example of Weakness.

And a glance around the world at China shows what happens even to a rich and populous power which, lacking an army, fails also to provide a first line of defense in the shape of battleships and their necessary auxiliaries.

There is plenty of evidence that the people of the United States, in all parts of the country, are awake to the situation. Not only has a keen interest in the navy developed, but there is an apparent determination that whatever is needed to make the navy strong enough to defend our shores shall be granted.

Unfortunately the public is not at present well informed as to conditions in the navy. The public mind is badly confused by conflicting statements which are made by men of apparently almost equal authority in naval matters.

Politics Aid in Confusion.

The reporter who goes to discover the facts for himself is likely to share something of the same confusion. It is unfortunate that in a discussion of so vital a matter as the naval situation partisan politics should be allowed to play so large a part.

One finds a former Republican secretary of the navy declaring that our fleets are inadequate and in poor condition, that millions are wasted in keeping open useless navy yards and stations, that our supplies of torpedoes, of guns and am-

U. S. WARSHIPS SPEED TO VERA CRUZ

Bridewell Convicts Work on Streets Without a Guard

NOT "HONOR" PLAN

Sixty prisoners at the bridewell in Chicago have been working on the streets without a guard since June 1.

There has not been an escape nor a single attempt at one since the men were put to their different tasks.

Penitentiaries throughout the nation have experimented with their honor systems. At Joliet the inmates, working in the country and subjected to few if any temptations, have made some escapes.

In Chicago, under no guard but the direction of a "foreman," and where beer signs beckon from every corner and the call of the "old life" is at its strongest, there has been a uniform obeyance of the law, and not so much the law as a new system at the Chicago house of correction, to use the proper title.

"Jimmy" Morton Father of System

Now there's Jimmy Morton out in the prison who is serving six months for disorderly conduct. He has a unique claim to distinction, for he is the indirect instigator of a "pride system" that may make way for a general reorganization of prison methods.

It is a psychological reason and one that came to the bridewell inmate suddenly. This is what he said a few weeks ago:

"Say, fellows, I wish the boss would give us a chance to get outdoors and do something. This honor stuff is all bunk but I'd like the sunshine for a minute, wouldn't you?"

Superintendent Overhears.

John L. Whitman, superintendent of the institution, happened to be standing near. The superintendent does not believe in any "honor" system. He believes it is a matter of human nature. Some men you can trust and others you can never trust, he says.

Nevertheless, Jimmy's remarks made a deep rooted impression on Mr. Whitman and he began to think. Jimmy had mentioned the word "pride" in his remarks to his fellow prisoners and it seemed to strike the right chord.

The result is that now Chicago has a gang of from sixty to eighty workmen from the Bridewell on different streets doing repair work. And they are not under an armed guard of any kind. No one is there to see if they leave or come back except a "trusty" who might escape himself if he saw fit.

And the idea?

It is this: Chicago could have a lot of things it needs if it could overcome the objection of organized labor and not conflict with the law. This is Supt. Whitman's opinion.

Pride Basis of the System.

Jimmy Morton said something when he spoke the word "pride."

"I don't want to be put on record as establishing any honor system or anything of this kind," said Supt. Whitman, "but I do want to say this: some men can be trusted and some cannot. I overheard Morton talking to some of his fellow prisoners about pride, and it gave me courage to go ahead with an idea I'd always had.

"Now, Sacramento avenue, from West Twenty-sixth street to the river, has been in a bad condition for years, and the city never would have repaired it because

GO TO PROTECT AMERICANS IN MEXICAN PORT

BULLETIN.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 10.—A United States infantryman was killed by Mexican bandits at Palm Gardens, about two miles east of Mercedes, Tex., shortly after 9 o'clock tonight. The dead man was one of four soldiers guarding Palm Gardens. The bandits' shots were replied to, but the result is unknown here.

A dispatch from Harlingen says two brothers named Brady were reported killed near there today by Texas rangers. The Bradys were alleged leaders of Mexican outlaws.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—The United States battleships New Hampshire and Louisiana at Newport, R. I., on orders tonight from the navy department proceeded with all speed to Vera Cruz, Mex., to protect Americans and other foreigners imperiled by the latest crisis in that country.

In addition the gunboat Marietta is racing toward the Mexican port to remove the Guatamalan and Brazilian ministers. The Guatamalan envoy already is on the Sacramento and the Brazilian minister is expected here in the morning. Both men will be taken to the United States on the Marietta.

This show of force bears out the belief in official circles that the Mexican situation tonight is more critical than at any time during President Wilson's administration.

Wilson Ordered Ships to Go.

It is understood that the warships were dispatched to Mexican waters on the direct orders of President Wilson.

That the chief executive considers the situation as one of grave moment is indicated by the fact that he notified the White House he would be in Washington in time to attend the cabinet meeting on Thursday, at which the crisis will be canvassed. Secretary Daniels also has been called to Washington and left Asheville, N. C., tonight.

Fear that the news of the warships' coming would reach Vera Cruz ahead of the warships led officials to keep their own counsel regarding the contemplated step.

Move Purely Precautionary.

When the order did become public it was carefully pointed out that any naval or military activity at this time would be purely precautionary to safeguard foreign interests, and should not be construed as having any connection with the Pan-American conference, which will be resumed in New York tomorrow.

It was learned tonight that conditions in Vera Cruz are becoming worse instead of better, and that the state and navy departments have become alarmed as a result of the various cable and wireless dispatches from Commander McNamee, who says that foreigners, and particularly Americans, are in grave danger of bodily harm.

It is insisted in many quarters that this feeling is being engendered by followers of Carranza, who has made no secret of the fact that he is opposed to the proposed peace plans as advanced by the United States.

No Bearing on Peace Parley.

Secretary Lansing, who left tonight for New York to attend the Pan-American conference, would not discuss naval movements. He said that on account of continued bandit raids on the border orders soon would be issued to increase the American military forces there, but at the same time declared that neither this action or any movements of ships had any bearing whatever upon the peace plans before the conference.

Secretary Lansing at the conference tomorrow will explain to the Latin American envoys the position of the United States again. Only in the last extremity will force be used, he will tell the envoys. If peace can be restored without it, the United States under no circumstances will resort to it.

Mr. Lansing will explain, however, that

THE TRIUMPH OF A "TRIBUNE" CRUSADE

On July 9, 1911, just four years and one month ago, "The Tribune" printed the first expose of the police protected clairvoyant rings. On July 11, 1911, "The Tribune" printed an interview with the police, who said they could not stop the fakers from preying on the gullible. In November, 1913, Mr. Hoyne became state's attorney. In October, 1914, he made the arrests which ended in last night's startling conviction. The men in the picture are the convicted detectives.

GOES FROM SWEETHEART TO DIE IN AIR FIGHT

LONDON, Aug. 11, 3 a. m.—The Daily Express, describing the death of Flight Sublieutenant Reginald Lord while trying to repel the Zeppelin attack on England yesterday, says:

"The death of Flight Sublieutenant Reginald Lord was doubly tragic, for within half an hour before the time he died he was dancing with the girl whom he was to have married, Miss Violet Beevor, daughter of Lieut. Col. Beevor, C. M. G., of the Scots guards, who is now at the front.

"Miss Beevor recently went to stay with friends and on Monday night she and Lieut. Lord took part in a dance at a hotel.

"While the dance was in progress the alarm of the Zeppelin raid was given, and Lord hurried off to the aerodrome. The dance stopped and the guests waited for the outcome of the raid.

"Half an hour later Lord was killed. While he was coming to the ground in the pitch dark after his flight his machine turned a double somersault and crashed to the earth.

"Lord sustained a fracture at the base of the skull and other injuries. He was taken to a hospital and Miss Beevor was sent for, but, although she reached the hospital in a few minutes, Lord had lost consciousness. When she arrived she stayed by the bedside until he died."

Barney Bertsche, politician, business broker, former saloonkeeper, and former convict, was arrested at 1 o'clock this morning at his residence, 5008 Magnolia avenue. The charge is conspiracy, on which three warrants were issued.

It is alleged he is the brains of the "fortune tellers' trust," as well as of a highly organized gang of crooks whom he brought to Chicago to prey on its citizens and visitors.

He is allowed to have built up an organiza-

O'BRIEN AND EGAN GUILTY; BRIBE TAKERS

HALPIN TRIAL NEXT.

Detective Sergeants William Egan and Walter O'Brien—once gilded wardmen for Capt. Halpin and powers in the inner circle administration of headquarters affairs—were found guilty of bribery last night.

It took eleven men of the jury only an hour and a half to decide that "Big Bill" Egan, known as "The Devil," and "Caroline," as O'Brien was known to the underworld, had accepted and solicited payments of protection money from Barney Bertsche and the lesser figures of Barney's clairvoyant swindling ring.

"COERCED," SAYS JUROR.

The twelfth juror voted with the rest. But after the jury had been polled in court and he had said he concurred in the verdict he came forward with charges he had been coerced.

This juror was William Anixter of 3219 Douglas boulevard, manager of a lunchroom. From the beginning of the trial on July 8 he had been watched closely by state detectives.

Conviction on the bribery charge carries with it an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years' imprisonment. What course the state will take with the other indictments hanging over Egan and O'Brien remains to be determined.

HALPIN TO BE NEXT.

It is certain, however, that Capt. Halpin himself will be the next of the accused policemen to be put on trial. Against Halpin, who for years was czar of the detective bureau, stand eight indictments. With the Halpin cases out of the way, the state will turn to Lieut. John R. Tobin, Halpin's right hand man, who is named in four indictments.

Assistant State's Attorney Frank Johnston Jr., who conducted the prosecution, said the jury could not possibly have reached a different sort of verdict. Whatever charges Anixter may make can have no influence on the granting or refusal of a new trial, he pointed out, since the juror discounted them in the poll.

"It's Halpin next," said Johnston. "Just as soon as we can get a judge we'll put him on trial. In the case just closed so satisfactorily Halpin was a witness and he said on the stand he had been trying to get an immediate trial. Mr. Halpin will be accommodated."

"CUTTLE FISH DEFENSE."

The fate of Egan and O'Brien was put into the hands of the jury at 5:10 o'clock at the end of a brilliant closing argument by Johnston. Adopting a Roosevelitian phrase in his diatribe, he styled the tactics of lawyers for Egan and O'Brien as a "cuttlefish defense."

"The talents of counsel for the defense have been overburdened by the weakness of their case," he said. "They have been compelled to adopt the tactics of the cuttle fish, a fish which has the power of ejecting a black ink-like fluid when attacked. The fluid darkens the water and thus the cuttle fish, concealed from its enemies, is enabled to escape.

"The crime for which these two men are on trial is nothing short of treason. Paid to protect the public from criminals, they have consorted with the enemy. In times of war a traitor is court martialed and a speedy end is made of such a detestable and dangerous creature.

ASKS FULL PENALTY.

"I invoke the full penalty of the law against them, not for the purpose of securing a victim, but for the reason that law and justice demand it. Bertsche and Jimmy Ryan are in Joliet, paying the penalty. Now let Egan and O'Brien pay theirs. Bertsche and Ryan claim to be nothing but the confidence men and crooks they are, whereas Egan and O'Brien are traitors, pretending to be the protectors of the people they are betraying.

"I have nothing to do with the broken-hearted wife or the mother's anguish, or the kindred feelings of near relatives. These are the melancholy events which follow the track of crime. They are the result of crime and involve the innocent as well as the guilty—considerations which should help men to lead honest lives. But the selfish, sordid man is not moved by such feelings.

"Mashing" doesn't pay, especially when the intended victim is a southern girl and when the offense is not the first.

George R. Wright, 6 West Superior street, learned this by means of a small but vigorously propelled fist last night in Washington square. He was knocked flat when he tried to flirt with Mrs. J. W. Willmore of 832 North State street and then dragged by the object of his unwelcome attentions to the East Chicago police station.

Mrs. Willmore promised to appear against him. She called attention to the fact that Wright was arrested June 23 and fined $25 and costs for a similar offense.

"My southern blood won't permit me to accept an insult from any man. Down where I was raised they'd tar and feather you," she told Wright, as she dragged him along.

A huge crowd, attracted by the spectacle, cheered her on.

BANKRUPT BY EASTLAND.

Disaster Causes Slow Payments to Furniture Company, Attorney Says.

The Blue Island Furniture company, 1915 Blue Island avenue, went into the United States bankruptcy courts yesterday involuntarily as a result of the Eastland disaster.

Attorney Michael Gesas, counsel for some of the creditors, said that one of the reasons for the bankruptcy action was the drowning of a large number of debtors of the company in the Eastland capsizing July 24. Accounts which were due the first of this month were not paid and the company could not pay its bills.

SWOBODA MAY BE RELEASED; ESPIONAGE CHARGE FAILS

American Probably Will Be Freed of Second Charge After Court Martial in Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 11, 3:45 a. m.—Maj. Jullien of the Paris permanent court martial has closed his inquiry into the case of Raymond Swoboda, and has recommended to the military governor of Paris that the proceedings be dropped.

Swoboda, who claims to be an American citizen, was first taken into custody on suspicion of being responsible for the fire started aboard the French line steamer La Touraine and later was accused of espionage.

He was cleared of the first charge and no convincing proof was found against him on the second. His release from custody probably will be ordered soon.

VANDERHEYDEN FYLES DIES; TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE.

New York Journalist and Critic Makes Fatal Error in Choosing Medicine for Headache.

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Bichloride of mercury tablets, taken by mistake, caused the death today of Vanderheyden Fyles, 38 years old, newspaper man and critic. He was the son of the late Franklin Fyles, dramatic critic and magazine writer.

Fyles, who long had suffered from severe headaches, had a violent attack a week ago Monday and took three tablets from a wrong envelope. Quickly realizing his error, he told a friend, who summoned a doctor.

The physician at once washed out the stomach with water and at Fyles' urging repeated the treatment. But his stomach was empty when he took the tablets, so the mercury was absorbed directly.

"If you gentlemen love Chicago, if you care for its reputation and its honor, if you have respect for the laws of the great commonwealth of Illinois, it is your duty to convict these men—to provide an example which shall stay the itching palm of the greedy and avaricious policeman."

Accused Remain in Courtroom.

It was 4:38 o'clock when Johnston, mopping his forehead resumed his seat. Judge O'Connor then began his charge, and at 5:10 the jurors retired.

At 6:30 o'clock Judge O'Connor left the bench and the jury sat down to dinner, served in a room adjoining that in which they had been deliberating.

Egan and O'Brien and a good share of the throng of spectators and newspaper men remained in the courtroom. Charles E. Erbstein, attorney for Egan, exerted his powers as a raconteur to cheer his client. O'Brien laughed uproariously, but Egan remained glum.

"If either, it should be Egan laughing," said Erbstein to a reporter with whom he had strolled into the corridor. "I'm afraid O'Brien's goose is cooked, but there's a chance for Egan. It has been a bad case all the way through."

"The Verdict!" No.

Erbstein returned to find the courtroom in excitement. It was then five minutes past 8, and a pair of knuckles had just beat a tattoo on the door of the jury room.

"The verdict!" someone yelled.

The defendants were on their feet, O'Brien now as grave as Egan.

But the verdict was not yet ready. It was a false alarm. The last of the jurors, entering the room in which dinner was waiting, had slammed the door behind him. The lock had snapped and now he and his fellows were unable to get back.

The jurors remained scarcely a half hour in deliberation after the door into their own room had been opened for them. At 8:40 o'clock there was more knocking. A bailiff went to the door.

Verdict at Last.

"Reached a verdict?" he asked.

"We have," came from within, and the door swung open.

Into the courtroom filed the twelve jurors, their six weeks' task near an end. They lined up before the desk of Albert Gieren, the court clerk.

"Have you agreed on a verdict, gentlemen?" asked Gieren.

"Yes, sir," replied Jay Crawford, the foreman.

There was a ghost of a smile on O'Brien's face. He was trying to justify his headquarters' reputation for "gameness," but it required something more than nerve to hold back the perspiration which stood out in beads on his forehead. Egan moistened his lips and gripped the arms of his chair so tightly that the blood was pressed back and left his big fingers chalky white.

Foreman Reads Verdicts.

Crawford was reading:

The foreman paused to glance at the man whose name he had spoken. O'Brien had slumped in his chair, covering his face with his hands. If the smile was still on his lips, the hands concealed it.

There was a halt of perhaps two minutes before Crawford read on. Egan sat like a statue. His heavy breathing was the only sound that broke the silence. The breath came like a whistle.

The foreman proceeded:

Egan looked toward O'Brien. His erstwhile partner—the flippantly designated "Caroline" of the clairvoyant dope books—had straightened and met his eyes. They stared at each other unwinkingly for a moment. Then their eyes drifted apart.

All Jurors Say O. K.

Gieren was proceeding with the routine poll of the jury. Of each of the twelve men he asked:

"Was this and is this your verdict?"

Twelve times the answer was in the affirmative.

Mr. Johnston was not in the courtroom at the moment, nor in the corridor adjoining. In his stead Assistant State's Attorney George C. Bliss accepted the verdict for the state.

Reporters swarmed about the jurors as they made their way from the courtroom with their pay vouchers. They wanted to know how many ballots had been cast and how the vote had stood on the various ballots. Eleven of the jurors at first were a unit in their refusal to discuss their deliberations in any way. The twelfth was Anixter.

His Story of Coerion.

"Twenty ballots were taken," he announced when the question was put to him. "It was 11 to 1 until the last ballot. I was the one. Then, after I was certain there was no use fighting any longer, I gave in. I was sure all through the trial, as I heard the testimony, that Egan and O'Brien were being 'framed.'"

"If you were sure of that why didn't you hold out?"

"I was coerced and threatened. I voted to protect myself. As long as I held out the others kept me under fire. They accused me of being fixed and said I'd been getting money from the defense. I was told that unless I voted for a verdict of guilty I'd be in the state's attorney's office myself tomorrow.

"Then one guy told me I'd get worse if I kept on voting for acquittal."

"Why Not Tell Court?"

"What did he mean by that?"

"I guess he meant I was going to be beaten up."

"Why didn't you tell the court then when the jury was polled?"

"I didn't think there was any use. I'd changed my vote, and I thought I'd let it go at that."

The other jurors broke their silence when Anixter's charges were put up to them.

"It is not true twenty ballots were taken," said Foreman Crawford. "It is true there were a number of tests, but there was only one real ballot. Nor is it true that Anixter was coerced or threatened. There was considerable argument, of course. Naturally there would be in such a case."

With the exception of Anixter the other jurors corroborated the foreman.

Erbstein Still Hopeful.

"I brought about the acquittal of Detective Roth when he was tried with Capt. Storen and Detective Weissbaum in the 'burglar trust' case," said Erbstein, "and I haven't yet abandoned hope for Egan.

"I believe there are sufficient grounds for a new trial in Egan's case, and I certainly am not going to stop in Judge O'Connor's court if my motion is overruled. I am satisfied I can get a reversal in the Supreme court.

"Egan has been made a victim of the general prejudice against policemen. That prejudice, which is by no means imaginary, has existed for years. The statement that 'it's no crime to kill a copper' is not uncommon in the Criminal court building."

Statement by Hoyne.

"The verdict is what I expected. The case was complete. The defendants were known crooks. I feel a certain gratification in the result in view of the many underground influences which have been used in an effort to defeat the ends of justice.

"From the day Anixter was accepted as a juror we have been in receipt of considerable information in regard to him and have kept him in mind. My advice to him is that if he has any complaints to make, it would be better for him to come to my office without delay, otherwise he may need other counsel than the state's attorney.

"I pay my respects to the various gentlemen who engaged, during the trial, in a handshaking exhibition before the jury. If this practice is continued in criminal trials there will be some gentlemen who probably will find themselves indicted for conspiracy to obstruct justice, whomsoever they may be."

Judge O'Connor remained in chambers, where the jurors saw him after drawing their pay.

"I thank you for the attention with which you have heard the testimony in this trial," was all the court said.

What They Are Guilty Of.

The specific charge on which Egan and O'Brien were tried was that they accepted $500 as the price of releasing from custody three employés of Frank Ryan, the so-called "clairvoyant king."

Witnesses for the state testified the bribe was taken in Bertsche's saloon, opposite the temporary city hall in Randolph street, out of which ran the main trunks of the underground wire system connecting crooks and police grafters.

Through the trial the state proceeded on the assumption the arrest of Ryan's men was made as the first move in a new "shake-down" of the clairvoyant swindlers. In their raid "Big Bill" and his partner also seized the red "sucker book" in which Ryan et al. not only kept thumb nail histories of victims, but some of their most important accounts. In consideration of the $500 the red book was also restored, with its record of payments to "Caroline"—O'Brien.

Next to Face Bribery Jury, and Two Chief Accusers.

Egan Has Record; Gets on Force in Spite of Law.

In the interest of the community which the police department is designed to protect, a law is on the statutes against permitting a man convicted of a crime to serve as a policeman.

Nevertheless Detective Sergeant "Big Bill" (The Devil) Egan, who last night was convicted of accepting graft to protect criminals, has a criminal record of twenty-five years. He has been permitted to serve on the force in spite of this record until his time would qualify him for a pension.

REPORTER BARES METHODS OF CRIME INVESTIGATORS.

Tells Commission Holding Inquiry Why It Was Necessary to Associate with Crooks.

A picturesque glimpse of his adventures in the underworld as an investigator for the Merriam crime commission was bared before the city civil service commission yesterday by Ben Kendall, a reporter for THE TRIBUNE. The merit commissioners are probing the expenditures of the crime commission.

Kendall's story of his associations with safe blowers, pickpockets, and shoplifters in the "Little Indiana" café at Indiana avenue and East Twenty-third street was related while Attorney Charles Lederer, representing the civil service commission, was finding out where Kendall had spent some $66 for drinks and meals. The former investigator explained that he had to frequent the café to get information desired in the inquiry.

Accompanied by two other investigators, Mortimer and Claussen, Kendall said he used to meet Lilly Watson, a shoplifter; a woman named Edna, a pickpocket; a safeblower named Shea, and others of their kind in the cafe. The first night he met Shea, Kendall said, the safeblower spent about 35 cents, and said he had a "date" to get some more. A safe was blown on the west side that night, and the next night Shea had a roll of about $400.

Despite the roll, Kendall said he had to buy most of the drinks because Shea did not stay with the party.

ADMITS $20,000 BANK THEFT?

Report in Cedar Rapids Said to Involve Prominent Citizen in Big Crime.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 10.—Cedar Rapids was wild with excitement tonight when crowds besieged the newspaper offices demanding that an alleged confession of guilt in the $20,000 bank robbery of last Wednesday be confirmed.

The report of the confession was circulated late in the afternoon and implicated a prominent local man. It was finally denied by a high official of the bank.

Detectives have practically abandoned the theory that the theft was committed from the outside.

CITY EMPLOYES OUSTED; POLITICAL DEBTS SETTLED

Administration Drops Several Hundred Poles and Bohemians—Places Taken by Negroes?

Several hundred city employés yesterday lost their jobs when the present city administration began paying off some of its political debts.

One hundred are said to have been dropped from the municipal garbage plant pay rolls and 300 have been lopped from the city water pipe extension bureau. The street cleaning bureau also is hit. Most of the men dropped are Bohemians and Poles, and their places have been given to negro political workers from the Second ward, it is said.

A meeting of protest against political rule at the city garbage plant was held yesterday at the school hall, West Thirty-eighth and South Paulina streets. Fifty-four heads of families who lost their jobs discussed steps to force an investigation of their removal.

The old garbage plant employés were under civil service, but the method of procedure in getting rid of them is to abolish the jobs. Then new jobs are created and temporary appointees named to fill them. The temporary appointments can be renewed every sixty days.

TAKE SPARTA WOOD NYMPH.

Wisconsin Girl, Dressed in Lace Nightie, Captured by Sheriff After Week's Search.

Sparta, Wis., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—After a week's search Sheriff George Poss and Humane Officer George Manuel drove into Sparta today, with Sparta's mysterious wood nymph wrapped in a horse blanket. The nymph is now being cared for by the sheriff's wife. The identity of the girl is still a mystery, and she refuses to talk. She met all questions with a laugh and seems to care not at all that she has been cavorting about through Monroe county woods for nearly a fortnight clad only in a lace nightie trimmed with blue ribbon. The girl is a blonde and appears to be about 25 years old.

IT TOOK LAW FOUR YEARS TO CATCH DETECTIVES

CHAPTER I. THE CLAIRVOYANTS.

On July 10, 1911, THE TRIBUNE printed the first of a series of exposures of the activities of fortune tellers, crystal gazers, and other clairvoyants in Chicago. Reporters had been sent out to learn how things were prospering with the fake prophets. They found a trade flourishing and remunerative.

Certain Chicago newspapers were deriving a comfortable revenue from printing the advertisements of the ubiquitous seers. Armed with pages torn from these journals, THE TRIBUNE men went to the addresses set forth and posed as would be clients.

One went to a clairvoyant on Michigan avenue and told a pitiful tale of having shot a man in his youth, down south, a circumstance which, he said, prevented him from going down there to claim a $30,000 fortune which was awaiting him. After appealing for aid in learning whether his victim had really died the reporter watched with interest the preparations of the seer not to find the man but to annex the $30,000.

Another, who took his "sister" with him to make an impression, said he had embezzled $10,000 from a bank. He was told that for $5,000 as would be seen safely out of his trouble and in undisturbed possession of the other $5,000.

THE TRIBUNE'S information was turned over to the authorities, and there was talk of a "cleanup." But little was done. It was said, that, unfortunately, the law didn't cover these cases.

Maclay Hoyne was not state's attorney then. If he had been, this chapter might have been longer. As it was, the matter, for the time being, rested.

CHAPTER II. THE VICTIMS.

In the spring of 1913 two women and a man complained to THE TRIBUNE that they had been fleeced by men operating as clairvoyants.

"Go down on Michigan avenue," said the man. "Try to do business with some of these people whose addresses I will give you. The evidence is there waiting, and if you want to protect a lot of gullible people like myself, you have a big opportunity."

Reporters for THE TRIBUNE were put on the case immediately. They visited the clairvoyants, posing as prospective victims, and uncovered an amazing system of graft, large and small, by which the self-styled clairvoyants were permitted to ply their trade without interference from the police.

The evidence gathered was placed in the hands of State's Attorney Hoyne, who announced he was working along the same line. Results followed with astonishing rapidity.

Bertsche Under Arrest.

Within twenty-four hours Christian P. (Barney) Bertsche, politician, saloonkeeper, and former convict, was arrested, charged with being the brains of the "fortune tellers' trust." It was said that his connection with the clairvoyants' ring had been established to the state's attorney's satisfaction by "Jimmy" Ryan, alias "Prof. Crane," who operated a clearing house at Wabash avenue and Lake street.

Ryan was being held in Chicago on a charge of robbing Mrs. Hope L. McEldowney of $15,000 through a pretense of being able to direct her investments through his occult powers.

Bertsche, known as a gunman, put up a terrific fight with a drawn revolver before he submitted to arrest. He spent $22,000 in his efforts to stay out of the penitentiary, but was convicted and sentenced, retaining his liberty for a time under bonds pending an appeal of his case.

CHAPTER III. THE POLICE.

State's Attorney Hoyne's investigation turned its attention to the police department immediately after Bertsche's arrest. Bertsche himself stoutly refused to "squeal," but there were other sources of information. Dr. William T. Kirby, a private banker, told the state's attorney that he had been fleeced out of $20,000 in a wire tapping scheme, and largely as a result of the investigation of his charge eight detectives, among them Sergts. William Egan and Walter O'Brien, were suspended.

A man named Strosnider, accused in the Kirby case, was found to be a "pal" and business associate of Bertsche, and thus the net drew tighter about the former convict.

Bertsche Runs Saloon.

Bertsche, however, was still flourishing in a small way, running a saloon on Randolph street. Hoyne's attention was directed to this saloon, with the result that he demanded that former Chief of Police McWeeny revoke its license, charging that it was a "hangout" for suspicious characters and a clearing house for graft.

The revoking of Bertsche's license and his indictment, at about the same time, in connection with the McEldowney case, were too much for his equanimity. He went to a high police official and asked that he be allowed to reopen his saloon. The request was refused. Then he went to Egan and the others and demanded help. This also was refused.

"All right," he is reported to have said. "If I go to the penitentiary I'm not going alone."

CHAPTER IV. THE SHOOTING.

Bertsche was now at bay—and ready to talk. In September, 1914, the word was passed around at detective headquarters that Bertsche was to be subpœnaed by the council crime commission organized under Ald. Merriam. It was also reported that Hoyne was planning to indict Egan and the rest.

Bertsche, a tiny revolver always tucked under his belt, was in seclusion in a hotel on Randolph street. He is reported to have told a friend that he did not dare leave the building. He is also reported, at a conference with an attorney one night, to have tapped his revolver, saying:

The Gunman's Mission.

Oct. 8 was the day set for Bertsche's appearance before the crime commission. Egan and Detective James Monaghan, his partner, had also been subpœnaed to appear on the same day.

The day before, with Nathan Spira, a convicted firebug, Bertsche came out of Redpath's saloon on Randolph street. Egan and Monaghan strolled along a moment later. Words passed between Egan and Bertsche, and then a bystander, a gunman named Kelly, fired.

It was 1:15 in the afternoon, and the Randolph street Rialto was crowded. The rattling fusillade of shots that followed cleared the block quickly. When the ambulances and patrol wagons arrived they found six wounded men—Bertsche, Egan, Monaghan, Spira, and two unfortunates who had nothing to do with the affray but had been in the line of fire.

CHAPTER V. THE INDICTMENTS.

Things happened fast in the detective bureau after this. As soon as he was out of the hospital Bertsche went before the grand jury and joined "Jimmy" Ryan and his brother Frank, known as "king of the swindlers," in telling what they knew.

"I paid $400 a month tribute to my brother Frank," said "Jimmy."

"I added $400 to it and paid it to Barney Bertsche," said Frank.

"I handed it all over to Capt. John J. Halpin of the detective bureau and Lieut. Tobin," said Bertsche. "I paid every month—as regular as the rent."

Six indictments were returned on Dec. 11 against Halpin, Tobin, Egan, and O'Brien. Halpin and Egan were charged with having participated in the operation of confidence games, and the others with accepting bribes. Charges of conspiracy were not made because the statute of limitations on this charge operates after eighteen months.

Both Halpin and Tobin were removed from the detective bureau before they were indicted. Both are under suspension and are awaiting trial.

MISS VITTUM BLAMES FILTHY JAILS FOR GRAFT

There would be less graft in the Chicago police force if we had better police stations. That's what Miss Harriet E. Vittum, civic director of the Woman's City club, asserted at the University of Chicago yesterday in an address on "Chicago's Police Stations and Penal Institutions."

"Chicago's police stations are a stinging disgrace to the city," said Miss Vittum. "We have forty-seven stations, and only six are fit for human beings to be in. The cells are below the street level, have no direct light, and absolutely no ventilation. Our stations have all the bad features of all the stations of all the countries and none of their good qualities."

Cave Dwelling Vermin.

"The walls in the majority of stations," continued Miss Vittum, "are of soft brick, which harbor every known variety of vermin. The walls reek with moisture, and in some water stands on the floor so that the matron has to wear rubbers to keep from getting rheumatism.

"In the police stations Chicago violates four hundred of her own health, fire, and building ordinances. In two stations that I know of—the East Chicago avenue and the Division street stations—an open sewer runs through all the men's cells and empties into a cess pool in the middle of the pantry. Every one who spends any time at all in the station is exposed to any number of contagious diseases, and it is almost impossible to spend a night there without being infected with vermin."

Shakspeare the Best.

Miss Vittum said the Shakespeare station was by far the best of the police depots in Chicago.

"This station has light airy quarters for the men, a reading room, and pool tables for the recreation of the officers held in reserve.

"These advantages seem to have a good effect upon the men, for they are cheerful and polite, and one never hears of an officer asking to be transferred from the Shakespeare station. If all our stations were as good as this one the standard of the average patrolman would be greatly raised and as a result we would not hear so many charges of graft against the force."

HAIRBRUSH AS BATTLEAX OBNOXIOUS TO HUBBY.

Following Upon Various Other Infringements of Conventions He Sues for Divorce.

Another variation for the use of the hair brush has been sounded. Long have children been reared upon it and prepared foods in alternate doses, but, according to Godfrey W. Staves, his better half did not confine her applications to the children. While he was sick in bed, he charges, she struck him with it. Not only that, but the brush broke.

Once, to be sure, Mrs. Freda Anna Staves, the wife, resorted to prize ring punishment, striking her spouse on the jaw with her fists. Other charges made are:

That she grabbed him by the hair and bumped his head against the wall.

That she struck him with a milk bottle.

That she ran a table fork into his cheek.

GERMAN FORCES OCCUPY LOMZA; GAIN IN SOUTH

Lomza Not Fort, M'Cormick Says.

BY ROBERT R. M'CORMICK.

The Berlin dispatch stating that Lomza is a fortress is a most extraordinary statement. I spent two weeks in the city of Lomza. There is no fort there whatever. There is an old bridge head, which was kept in repair to prevent capture by sudden attack, but which since the beginning of the war has been abandoned. Back of the city some four miles is an old Polish fortress, which has been occupied and somewhat renovated.

Apparently there is an attempt to mislead public opinion about the situation at Lomza, because the town is a commercial city, a highway of travel, and there are at least 100,000 people who know the situation to be as I have stated it.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Austro-Germans are slowly closing in on the portions of the Russian armies which remain on the Polish salient. Their wide, outflanking movement in the northern part of the Baltic provinces has been brought to a standstill, but further south they are approaching the forts of Kovno, and the Russians are reported to be preparing to evacuate Vilna, which lies about fifty-five miles east of Kovno, on the main railway line.

A dispatch to Reuter's News agency from Petrograd says that the first steps for the evacuation of Vilna have been taken by the removal of some of the public institutions and the contents of the public library and museums.

Germans Go Beyond Lomza.

The Germans have captured Lomza, which holds the same relative position on the northeastern flank of Warsaw as Ivangorod on the south, and southeast of Lomza they are approaching the River Bug, which other Teuton forces have reached from its mouth to a point south of Ostrov. These points are not far from the main railway line, which is the German objective.

The Russians still hold Ostrov, some twenty-five miles to the southward of Lomza, but their only purpose is to delay as long as possible the advance of the Germans and enable the Russian armies to get clear.

The armies of the Teutons which are advancing east of Warsaw and those which have crossed the Vistula at Ivangorod and Field Marshal Mackensen's forces are now joining hands and making another effort to catch and destroy the Russian armies. The Russians, however, are believed in military circles here to be fairly safe by now.

German Official Statement.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—German troops have stormed and captured the Russian fortress of Lomza, according to an official announcement made by the war office this afternoon. Lomza is on the Narew river, seventy-eight miles northeast of Warsaw.

This latest German victory gives Von Hindenburg possession of four of the five Russian fortresses guarding the Warsaw-Petrograd railway between Novo Georgiewsk and Grodno. The fortress of Ossowetz is now the only important stronghold delaying the German advance on the railway at the Bialystok junction, forty-eight miles east of Lomza.

Break Line of Forts.

East of Warsaw and on the southern front between the Vistula and Bug rivers, the Austro-German armies are driving back the retreating Russians. The official statement follows:

"On the front in the district of Kovno the attack was pushed forward with continuous fighting, nearer the line of fortresses," the official statement says. "The troops of the army of Gen. Faleke broke through the line of fortresses at Lomza yesterday afternoon and took fort No. 4 by storm. At daybreak today the fortified town was occupied. South of Lomza the high road to Ostrov was crossed. Ostrov is still being held by the enemy.

"Our troops have reached the Bug from Bolany, west of Brok, to the mouth of the river.

Continue Advances in South.

"Since Aug. 7 10,100 men have been taken prisoners in this region.

"East of Warsaw the army of Prince Leopold of Bavaria has advanced to a point near the Stanislawow-Nowo Minsk road.

"In the south the army of Gen. Von Woyrsch, pursuing the enemy, has reached the district north and northeast of Gelschow. This army joined the left wing of the group of armies of Field Marshal Von Mackensen, who is advancing from the south. On the front from Ostrov to the Bug the rear guards of the enemy were driven back towards their main forces."

$50,000,000 BRITISH GOLD DUE IN NEW YORK TODAY.

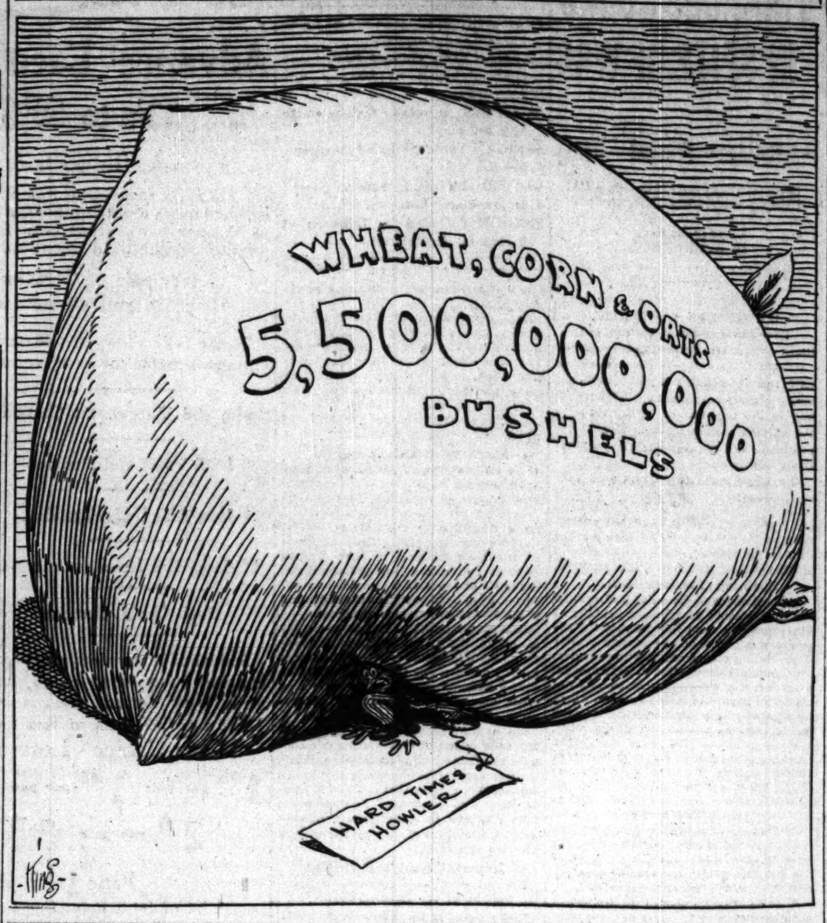

J. P. Morgan & Co., Consignees, Refuse to Give Information Regarding Where It Will Be Spent.

New York, Aug. 10.—The value of the gold shipment from England to New York now on its way here from Halifax by special train is $50,000,000, according to R. H. M. Cowie, vice president and general manager of the American Express company, which has the shipment in charge.

Mr. Cowie said tonight the shipment was expected to arrive here tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

There has been much speculation in financial circles regarding the value of the shipment, which was variously reported to be from $15,000,000 to $100,000,000. J. P. Morgan & Co., the consignees, refused to give any information regarding the shipment or the purposes for which it is to be used.

BRITISH BACK UP AT CITY OF HOOGE

Open Ground Trenches Become Untenable; Town Is Consolidated.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Sir John French, commander in chief of the British forces in France and Belgium, in a report given out today by the Official Press bureau, says the British troops have slightly withdrawn from their line south of Hooge, near Ypres, but have consolidated the village of Hooge. The report of Field Marshal French follows:

"Northwest of Hooge and in the ruins of the village itself we have consolidated the ground gained yesterday, repulsing one weak infantry attack during the night.

British Abandon Trenches.

"Yesterday afternoon there was no infantry fighting, but there was a violent artillery engagement, as a result of which all the trenches in the open ground south of Hooge became untenable by either side, and we have now slightly withdrawn the position of our line which lay south of the village.

"This makes no material difference to our position.

"The total number of prisoners captured by us yesterday was 150."

[In a statement issued Monday Field Marshal French reported that the trenches at Hooge, which had been captured by the Germans on July 30, were attacked by the British on that morning and all retaken. Following up this success, the British commander said, further progress was made north and west of Hooge and the front of the trenches captured was extended for a distance of 1,200 yards.]

French War Report.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The following official communication was issued tonight:

"The day has passed quietly. There have only been artillery engagements in Artois, in the valley of the Aisne (region of Troyon), on the border of the Argonne forest, and in the forest of Apremont."

NEW AMERICAN AIR RECORD.

Military Biplane Designed by Curtis Betters Passenger Carrying Mark for Altitude.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug 10.—New American altitude records for passenger carrying aeroplanes were established here today in experimental flights with a new type of military tractor biplane designed by Glenn H. Curtiss. In the first flight Pilot Raymond V. Norris took two passengers to an altitude of 8,200 feet. On the second, with three passengers, the needle registered 8,300 feet. The ascent on the second flight was made in thirty-six minutes.

U. S. CARDINALS PEACE ENVOYS

Gibbons, Farley, and O'Connell Picked by Pope to Start Movement.

ROME, Aug. 10.—The Corrispondenza stated today that Cardinals Gibbons, Farley, and O'Connell, the three American prelates, at the instruction of the pope, will assume the initiative in arranging a meeting of bishops and cardinals in Switzerland to discuss the best means of obtaining peace in Europe.

Spain and Holland already have agreed to such a program, the Corrispondenza declared, and the United States is expected to give the gathering its moral support.

Allies to Fight to End.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The allies will fight to the finish and make peace only on their own terms.

This was the general tone of the angry comments that came from the British press today on the statements of the German chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, regarding the terms on which the kaiser would consent to peace negotiations.

Bethmann-Hollweg's statement was given much display in the London papers and the majority, in addition, carried lengthy editorial comments, expressing indignation at what they termed the "impudence" of Germany's proposals.

No Peace on Berlin Terms.

The Daily Telegraph in a column editorial said in part:

"Bethmann-Hollweg's formula was intentionally so conceived as to cover anything from the lowest terms Germany considers it could make without owning itself beaten to the utmost limite of extortion.

"The plain truth is that Germany cannot propound any peace terms which neutrals could approve. The allies are fighting to obtain justice, liberty, and exact retribution. Unless Germany will yield these points voluntarily, the peace it gets in the end will be such as seems just and politic to the conquerors."

CHIEF OF POLICE HEALEY DENIES HE PLANS TO RESIGN.

Health Good and He Expects to Be on Job Eight Years Instead of Four, He Says.

Chief of Police Healey yesterday denied a report that he was about to resign and give way to Col. E. C. Racey, one of Mayor Thompson's close friends.

"What! They say I am unable to be on the job on account of declining health? Well, if I was able to ride a horse up to the day I was chief of police I guess I am able, as far as health is concerned, to hold down the chief's chair.

"I'm going to give the people of Chicago the very best that is in me for the next four years, and I would not be surprised if I would last for eight years instead of four."

AUSTRIAN VIEWS REJECTED BY U.S.

Reply Denies Any Violation of Neutrality; Reaffirms Right to Sell Arms.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—The United States government today dispatched to Vienna a reply rejecting the Austro-Hungarian views recently set forth in a note contending that the great scale on which war munitions are being exported from America to enemies of the Germanic allies "is not in consonance with the definition of neutrality."

The note was cabled to Ambassador Penfield, who probably will present it to the Vienna foreign office on Thursday. It may be made public later by agreement between the two governments.

Firm on American Rights.

Although framed in diplomatic language and entirely friendly in tone, the reply is understood to repudiate flatly the suggestion that the United States has permitted violations of neutrality and to stand firmly on the right of American exporters to send war supplies to belligerents able to purchase and receive them.

The United States always has held that this is an unquestioned right under international law, and that to prevent such shipments to one country because another was not in a position to receive them would in itself be a violation of neutrality.

Reply on the Frye Case.

The American reply to the last German note regarding the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye was cabled to Berlin tonight and probably will be given out for publication on Saturday.

While the original position of the state department that the Prussian-American treaty of 1828 was violated by the destruction of the vessel is reaffirmed, it is understood that the United States now agrees to accept payment for the Frye under the conditions suggested in the last German note, obviating an appeal to arbitration at The Hague.

Germany stipulates that payment shall not involve admission of a treaty violation; the American note is said to stipulate that no treaty rights are waived by acceptance. The amount to be paid will be fixed by two commissioners, one appointed by each government.

AIR RAID KILLS 15 IN ENGLAND; LOCALITY SECRET

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—German Zeppelins last night raided the east coast of England and dropped bombs, killing fourteen persons and wounding fourteen others. As has been the custom recently, the official statement did not tell the names of the towns visited.

One of the raiding dirigibles was lost. It was attacked by gunfire while on its return home and was so seriously damaged that it fell into the sea and was towed into Ostend, Belgium, where allied airmen attacked and destroyed it. It is believed that four or five airships took part in the raid. One English airman, Sublieut. R. Lord, lost his life.

A dispatch from Holland says that five more airships passed over that country, going in a northwesterly direction this morning, so that another air raid on England is expected tonight.

There was a big storm on the eastern coast today, however, and this may turn the enemy's air craft back.

British Official Statement.

The statement issued by the official bureau said:

"A squadron of hostile airships visited the east coast last night and this morning.

"Some fires were caused by the dropping of incendiary bombs, but these were quickly extinguished and only immaterial damage was done.

"The following casualties have been reported: Killed, one man, nine women, and four children. Wounded, Five men, seven women, and two children.

"One Zeppelin was seriously damaged by the gunfire of the land defenses, and was reported this morning being towed into Ostend. It has since been subjected to dontinual attacks by aircraft from Dunkirk and has been under heavy fire, and it is now reported that, after having its back broken and its rear compartments damaged, it was completely destroyed by an explosion.

"It is regretted that Flight Sub-Lieut. R. Lord, who was one of the pilots sent up to engage the enemy, was killed on landing in the dark."

Eight Killed in Germany.

There was great activity by the aerial forces in all the war fields yesterday. A summary of the reports received in London follows:

Berlin—An official statement says: "Six or eight enemy aeroplanes attacked Zweibruecken and Sankt Ingbedt. Fifteen to twenty bombs were dropped on Zweibrucken, causing only unimportant material damage. At Sankt Ingbert eight persons were killed and two wounded.

"On the border of Harz forest, west of Verdun, a French observation balloon was shot down. Between Bellingen and Rheinweiler a French aeroplane was forced to land by the fire of our anti-aircraft guns. The aviator and observer were taken prisoners. An enemy aviator was forced to land on Swiss territory."

Paris—Four of the aeroplanes which took part in the bombardment of Saarbruecken failed to come back to our lines. One of them is said to have landed in Switzerland, near Payerne, in the district of Vaud.

Petrograd—The railroad from Vilna southwards has been the object of attack. Twelve bombs, five of which were incendiary, have been dropped on Bialystok, while a simultaneous visit was paid to the Kovel railroad depot. The damage done was slight and traffic was not interrupted.

TURKS SWEPT BACK BY ALLIES

LOSE A SUBMARINE.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The allied armies are again in full swing in the Dardanelles.

The renewed attempt against the Turkish positions seems to be a concerted one. Attacks are being made at the tip of the peninsula, along the Krithia road, where a gain of 200 yards on a front of 300 yards has been made, and at Sari Bahr, where an important crest has been occupied, according to Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, commander in chief of the British forces.

"Elsewhere," Gen. Hamilton's report continues, "a fresh landing has been successfully effected and considerable progress made."

This landing evidently was a surprise to the Turks, as 630 prisoners, a number of guns, and a quantity of material are declared to have been taken by the British forces.

Where Troops Were Landed.

A Turkish official report supplies the localities of two landings. According to this forces were put ashore in the environs of Karachali, a town on the road which skirts the north shore of the Gulf of Saros, opposite the neck of the Gallipoli peninsula, and near Ari Burnu.

This latter place, although it is not shown on available maps, is believed to be at the foot of Sari Bahr, just north of where the Australians are holding a strong position.

At Ari Burnu the Turks admit that the landing was successfully carried out, but they claim to have dispersed the troops which came ashore near Karachali.

It is believed in military circles here that the landing at Karachali was only a feint to disguise the real intention of the allies, although it is said that the putting ashore of a strong force at this point might result in their working around and cutting the Turkish main line of communications with the Gallipoli peninsula above the Bulair line across the neck of the peninsula.

Means Salvation of Russia.

The forcing of the Dardanelles is realized by the military critics here to be of the greatest importance, for they assert that it is the only way that the allies can give immediate aid to Russia and repay it for the great sacrifices it has made for the common cause.

In addition, it is believed by the military observers that a success here would bring the Balkan states definitely over to the side of the quadruple entente powers in the war. Italy is understood to be prepared to lend a hand in the Dardanelles operations.

Allies' Submarine Sunk.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 9.—A submarine of the entente allies was sunk near Bulair this afternoon by a Turkish aeroplane, which threw bombs upon the craft. The crew was lost.

FINE A NEWSPAPER MAN WITH FALSE PASSPORT.

H. W. D. Fraser, British Writer in London, Who Described Himself as American, Must Pay $250.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—H. W. D. Fraser, the British newspaper man charged with having traveled through Europe on an American passport obtained at the American embassy in London by his describing himself as an American, was fined $250 in Bow street court today on the charge "of having in his possession an irregular or false passport."

Counsel for the prosecution said the authorities regarded the matter as serious, as it made American citizens liable to be suspected and led to questions between the American and British foreign offices.

The defendant said he was born in Chicago of British parents and that, while he knew he was a British subject under British law, he thought he was an American citizen by American law.

BRITISH CRUISER TORPEDO VICTIM IN THE NORTH SEA

BERLIN, by wireless to Sayville, L. I., Aug. 10.—The British auxiliary cruiser India of 7,900 tons has been torpedoed off the Norwegian coast. Eighty members of the crew were saved.

The India was attacked at a point north of Bodge when entering Restfjord. The rescued men were picked up by the Swedish steamer Goesteland. The India belonged to the Peninsular and Oriental line and was built in 1896.

[The place of attack on the India lies along the steamship lane between England and the Russian port of Archangel. Restfjord is a bay six miles long on the northwestern coast of Norway.]

British Destroyer Sunk.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The British torpedo boat destroyer Lynx was sunk in the North sea yesterday as the result of striking a mine, according to an official announcement made this evening by the British press bureau.

Four officers and twenty-two men of the crew were saved.

The destroyer Lynx displaced 935 tons. The vessel was 260 feet long, 27 feet beam, and 9.3 feet depth, and was capable of traveling thirty-two knots an hour. The Lynx carried three four inch guns and was equipped with four twenty-one inch torpedo tubes. Its complement in normal times consisted of 100 officers and men.

Norwegian Ship Sunk.

A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Copenhagen says that the Norwegian steamer Geiranger of Bergen has been sunk. The members of its crew were landed by a Dutch fishing boat.

The Geiranger was a vessel of 1,081 gross tons. It was built in 1907.

The trawlers Westminster, Harbor Wiper, and Benardna have been sunk. The members of the crews of all three were saved except two men on the Benardna.

A report received late tonight says the Danish schooner Jason has been burned by a German submarine. The Jason was a vessel of 180 tons' gross built in 1907 and owned by R. L. Hansen & Co. of Thurce.

Russian Warships Trapped?

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 10.—Several Russian warships are reported to have been trapped in the gulf of Riga by the sudden appearance off the entrance on Sunday of a large German battle squadron. Dispatches received here today predicted that the Germans would repeat their attempt to penetrate the gulf and not only destroy the Russian ships but support the land attack on Riga by bombardment from the sea.

Berlin advices early today were silent on the Russian claim that three German ships were damaged by mines in the action on Sunday.

OIL SHIP RELEASED.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—The American steamer Llama, one of two Standard Oil ships taken by German submarines to Swinemunde, was released on Aug. 6, according to a dispatch to the state department today from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin. The dispatch does not say whether the Llama's cargo of petroleum was detained and makes no mention of the steamer Wico, taken with it.

BULGARIA READY TO JOIN ALLIES IF SERBS YIELD

Army Will March on Turks in 24 Hours if Macedonia Is Ceded; Spurn German Offer.

BY HENRY WOOD.

[Copyright: 1915: By United Press.]
[Copyrighted in Great Britain.]

SOFIA, via Berlin, Aug. 10.—Bulgaria will send its armies marching against Constantinople in twenty-four hours if Serbia will cede Serbian Macedonia.

V. Radoslavoff, prime minister of Bulgaria, made this frank statement today. He revealed exactly what Bulgaria demands in the present negotiations, what it asks from Austro-Germans for remaining neutral, and what it asks from the allies for driving the Turk from Europe, an operation that admittedly would prove the turning point of the war for the allies.

Does Not Want Turk Capital.

Of equal importance was his reply to the report circulated in European capitals that Bulgaria, having won Constantinople, would demand the Ottoman capital as its prize.

"That fear is groundless," he said with emphasis. "The international, commercial, and political responsibilities attaching to a city occupying the geographical position of Constantinople are too great for a nation that must always remain small—like Bulgaria.

"We will fight for only one end. That is to extend our frontiers until they embrace the peoples of our own blood, but that end must be guaranteed to us beyond all doubt. If we are asked to fight alone, we are ready. If we are asked to fight with Greece, Serbia, and Roumania in a new Balkan alliance, on the side of the allies, our willingness remains the same. To the allies we say, 'Give us back Serbian Macedonia and we will fight in the way we can serve you best.

Demand Serbian Macedonia.

"Our national aspirations lie in Serbian Macedonia, which, with its 1,500,000 of Bulgarian peoples, was pledged and assigned to us at the close of the first Balkan war. Unfortunately, our aspirations are not attainable by direct force of our own arms. Instead they must be ceded to us by others in compensation for the participation of our arms in the general conflict.

"On the part of the allies we are asked for the direct participation in the war of our entire army, whose valor the whole world knows. On the part of Germany, Austria, and Turkey, we are only asked for a continuation of our neutrality until the end of the war.

"Candidly, this latter request we are loath to grant. We cannot foretell what the future holds for us. To discount it entirely and tie our hands by a solemn pledge of continued neutrality would be impolitic, indeed."

Serbia Willing to Cede Land.

NISH, Aug. 10.—Possibility that a Balkan agreement will be reached, by which Bulgaria will march against Turkey, loomed large this afternoon, when it was officially announced that Serbia is willing to make important concessions to Bulgaria, the exact nature of which was not stated, provided the allies secure assurance from other Balkan states that they will negotiate in a conciliatory spirit.

An Athens dispatch today declared Greece has asked for eight days in which to consider the proposal of the allies that it cede Kavalla to Bulgaria, receiving Smyrna in compensation at the end of the war.

The Greek government is said to have asked the Serbian foreign office today whether Serbia is willing to negotiate on the basis suggested by the allies. The Serbian foreign office replied in the affirmative.

Allies Call on Bulgaria.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The correspondent of the Havas agency at Saloniki telegraphs that diplomatic representatives of France, Russia, Great Britain, and Italy have delivered a joint communication to the Bulgarian government with a view to procuring the collaboration of that nation with the allies, as part of a common understanding with the Balkan states.

This action was taken in conjunction with the presentation of similar communications to Greece and Serbia, as recently made known. It is in response to Bulgaria's request on June 14 for information from the quadruple entente powers concerning the advantages it might expect in exchange for its active cooperation with them.

Greek Cabinet Meets.

LONDON, Aug. 11, 1:45 p. m.—Frequent cabinet meetings are being held at Athens, according to a Reuter dispatch from the Greek capital in connection with the reply which will be made to the collective note of the quadruple entente powers regarding a proposd agreement among the Balkan states in relation to the war. Premier Gounaris has had several conferences with King Constantine on the subject.

Will Bulgaria Fight?

Bulgaria's part, in the event that she enters the war on the side of the allies, will be to send her armies marching southward through Turkey, against Constantinople. Turkey would thus be caught between the advancing Bulgarians and the operations of the French and British on the Gallipoli peninsula and in the Dardanelles, and the result, the allies hope, would be the wiping out of Turkey in Europe. In return, it is said, Bulgaria asks, not for Constantinople, but for Serbian Macedonia, which contains 1,500,000 Bulgarian inhabitants, and certain minor claims in Grecian Macedonia.

KEEP GERMANY'S FINANCES SOUND IN SPITE OF WAR

BY HENRY J. REILLY.

[War Correspondent of The Tribune.]
[Copyright: 1915: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, July 17.—While the war is now well along in its eleventh month, not only has there been no panic in Germany, due to the depreciation of the value of the national currency, but even such depreciation as has taken place is comparatively not great.

The steps taken to prevent such considerable depreciation were so clearly outlined by Vice President von Glasenapp and President Havenstein of the Imperial bank in the interview which they granted that in the following article the general outline of their interview will be followed.

Spandau Reserve Ready.

In the first place, Germany had on hand the gold reserve at Spandau, kept for no other purpose than that of meeting the primary expenses of war without greatly depreciating the currency of the country. This put into circulation a large amount of gold just at the time when currency of all kinds was most in demand and where as a consequence ordinarily the demand would have caused an increase in value.

While prior to 1906 there was paper currency of the denomination of 100 marks ($23.80) and up, it was not until this year that a bill was passed authorizing the use of paper bills of smaller denomination as legal tender. In this year these smaller bills made their appearance, so that during the period of eight years between the passing of this law and the outbreak of the war the public had become quite accustomed to the use of paper money.

A tremendous number of these bills had been manufactured. Most of these were held in reserve until the outbreak of the war, when they were immediately issued. This also helped to prevent a rise in the price of money, due to its scarcity at the time when the demands for cash payment has naturally tremendously increased.

Question of Maintaining Credit.

After the question of ample cash came the one of maintaining private credit without decreasing the value of such securities as would be advanced to obtain credit.

The Imperial bank could only make loans as against deposits or certain high class securities prescribed by law. To enable the owners of other classes of securities to obtain money, there were formed imperial loan banks, taking the form of limited liability companies.

These banks were authorized to make loans in bank notes or silver against all classes of securities or goods. They are also authorized to issue paper currency of the smaller denomination up to and including 20 marks ($4.76) against the value of securities or goods deposited. This also increased the legal tender in circulation.

The important point is that it means the natural resources of Germany have been and can be liquidized without forcing the owners to sell and without any appreciable depreciation in value. The paper not used by these banks is retained by the Imperial bank as a reserve, against which they can issue bank notes. So far this has not been necessary; therefore all note issues up to the present are backed by gold and bills of exchange.

War Credit Banks Organized.

As throughout the country there are thousands of people who have no mortgageable securities or large quantities of goods on hand, and need credit, war credit banks have been organized for this purpose. These are founded by large private capital, guaranteed by the various chambers of commerce and large industrial concerns.

Experience up to now has shown that these institutions are not used nearly to the extent which was expected. There are two reasons for this: First, because of the large number of bank notes in circulation, and, secondly, the knowledge that credit was within reach kept most creditors from demanding payment of those in their debt.

The country's credit has been materially aided by the fact that the blockade for the most part compels people to buy necessities at home, instead of importing them. The adaptability of German manufacturing concerns, which permits them to produce most of the goods previously imported, largely compensates for the loss suffered due to the difficulty of exporting goods.

As a consequence of these two facts, German money is kept in Germany, where it circulates like blood in a healthy body. The war loans, which have been oversubscribed, being entirely spent in Germany, aid this healthy circulation. This is the reason why the second loan was heavily oversubscribed, and the third also will be more than successful.

Increase in Gold Reserve.

The gold reserve of the Imperial bank has increased from 1,200,000,000 to 2,400,000,000 marks ($571,200,000), June 15, 1915. This is primarily due to the gold voluntarily deposited by the German people. No premiums are paid. This increase is all the more striking, as these figures show the net increase, and are, therefore, exclusive of the gold which has been exported from Germany since the beginning of the war to meet payments abroad.

Thus the Imperial bank has been able to strike the happy medium between keeping a large gold reserve at the cost of greatly depreciating the value of German money abroad, or maintaining German credit abroad by sacrificing the gold reserve at home.

One of the consequences of the British blockade hoped for by Germany's enemies has thus failed to materialise. While the exchange value of German money has depreciated, so has that of French, English, and Russian money. As these countries continue to make large purchases abroad, the value of their money will depreciate still further.

Imperial Bank's Position.

Weekly report of the Imperial bank June 15, 1915:

NAVAL STRENGTH OF U. S. CLOUDED BY POLITICIANS

munition are small, and, to some extent obsolete, and that on the whole the navy is in no condition to hold command of the seas.

One reads savage attacks on the navy made by Republican speakers in both houses of congress, declaring that while France, for instance, had 1,400 aeroplanes when the present war began, the United States navy had less than two dozen, and that most of them were out of date; that on the whole Atlantic coast the navy has only an even dozen submarines, and that most of them are not able to dive.

Daniels Cites Naval Strength.

On the other hand, the present Democratic secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels, issues letters and statements from which one might conclude that the United States navy is in better condition than it has ever been and that most of the progress which makes it almost invincible has been made since President Wilson went into office.

To the defense of Secretary Daniels in congress have come members from his own state of North Carolina with eulogies, not so much of the navy as of the surpassing wisdom and greatness of the secretary and president and of Democrats, generally, and especially in naval matters.

Recently great unofficial and country-wide societies have been organized, such as the Navy league and the National Security league, and have issued in the name of patriotism various attacks on both the army and navy, declaring that unless sweeping and swift reforms are made the United States will become the easy prey of the first attack from over seas.

Armor Men Buy "Patriotism"?

These charges some of the responsible members of the present administration in Washington seem to take chiefly as personal affronts. They are answered chiefly by insinuations that the so-called patriotic societies will be found to be largely financed by contributions from armor plate manufacturers, shipyards, and big gun makers.

From high officers of the navy themselves come statements equally disquieting, which cannot be so easily dismissed. The most startling is that of Rear Admiral Fiske, late member of the general board of the navy, and president of the Naval institute.

He declared, with all the emphasis of his high position that it would take the United States navy five years to get ready to confront the navy of any first class power on equal terms. The fact that Rear Admiral Fiske's retirement from his post in the navy department and from the active list of the navy followed quickly upon the issuance of his statement need not minimize the weight of his words.

Calls Torpedoes Obsolete.

Rear Admiral Strauss is quoted as stating that most of our battle fleet is equipped with torpedoes which are practically obsolete. Rear Admiral Badger has declared that the navy needs 18,000 more men than are at present authorized by congress in order to provide a sufficient complement for all vessels which could be made useful for war purposes. In this statement he is backed up by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department.

The list of official navy critics of the navy could be increased indefinitely. Unfortunately the public has been educated to believe that army and navy officers almost always multiply the difficulties in their way and increase their demands in order to influence congress in making appropriations. That feeling may be excused in times of general peace, when there seems no immediate possibility that the United States may be involved in war.

But now, when the security of the lives and property of all the citizens of the country may depend at any time on the strength and efficiency of the navy, it is not so easy to dismiss the subject with a smile or a sneer.

It is of vital importance to know the facts.

SAYS UNITED STATES NAVY IS LOSING PLACE IN WORLD.

Rear Admiral Dillingham, Retired, Says Powerful Ships Are Necessary to Uphold Nation's Policies.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10.—That the American navy is losing its relative place among the navies of the world was stated today by Rear Admiral Albert C. Dillingham, U. S. N., retired, who addressed the City club here today.

Rear Admiral Dillingham said that the policies of the United States, whether the Monroe doctrine, the open door in China, or the rights of neutrals, are "just as strong as our navy, and not a bit stronger."

Will See U. S. Bluff Called.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 10.—The United States will face a grave peril at the end of the European conflict, was the opinion expressed here today by Herbert L. Satterlee, assistant secretary of the navy under the Roosevelt administration.

"It is certain that the warring nations will look to the United States and the western hemisphere as an easy way of paying war debts," he said.

"We have been getting along on a bluff with our Monroe doctrine, our Panama canal, our great responsibilities in Alaska, the Philippines, and the Hawaiian islands, but we shall see our bluff called at the close of this war, and it behooves us to be ready."

ASKS ADEQUATE DEFENSE.

Head of John Hus League Writes to Wilson Scoring Congressmen.

"All boisterous politicians, even if members of congress, who are blocking our country's need of preparedness should be classed with the foreign, treacherous instigators and summarily delivered to sea wolves."

This is the statement made yesterday by K. E. Rada, president of the John Hus League of Slav Free Masons, at Gary, Ind., in a letter to President Wilson.

Welsh Coal Strike Called Treason by French Editor

BY CAROLYN WILSON.

[War Correspondent of The Tribune.]
[Copyright: 1915: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, July 21.—I suppose there is no satisfaction in the world like being able to say, "I told you so." It is usually all the thanks or recompense one has, to be sure, for the early warning or disclosure, whatever the case may be.

But it is with a certain feeling of vindication that I see the French and English papers publish day after day serious criticisms of the way the British government is carrying on the war, and tell the open truth in regard to the seriousness of the strike question.

'Way last November I wrote a series of articles from England—the first derogatory or critical ones of the kind which had then been printed. For these I received a great deal of censure, even to the extent of a column in my own paper from a London correspondent calling my views the superficial opinions of a person who had passed but a few weeks in London, whereas the writer had spent—I forget now the exact number of years—sixteen, I think, getting to know the English people.

Sees Little Improvement.

During those days Great Britain was the savior of Europe, the white hope, and all the rest of them put together. France was a nice little country which unfortunately did not know how to fight.

The first of March I was asked to England again to write a series of articles—the supposition being, I presume, that they would be favorable. However, I did not see England in much better light than before. Perhaps another hundred or so people were awake to the danger and faults of the British in all those four months.

However, now every one seems to be awake to what the British really are doing—to the small amount of work they are doing at the front, their reduced lines, their terrible blunders in the Dardanelles, their—I suppose there is no other word for it—stupidity in the management of home affairs.

Editorial by Herve.

In regard to this latest manifestation—the coal strike in Wales—Gustave Herve has a splendid editorial in the Guerre Sociale. He speaks of the conditions of the strike and the demands of the workmen, continuing:

"But that we—we whose principal coal mines are occupied by the enemy—are lacking in fuel for our machines, that is the least of their worries!

"That they stop French and English factories from the manufacture of munitions—what is that to them, provided they can make a little extra money to swill down a few additional glasses of whisky a day?

"That because of their selfishness, distrustful people, pessimists, and neurasthenics here in France hurry to spread the news that the English people are indifferent to the martyrdom of Belgium and of our seven provinces occupied by Germans—all this is a preoccupation of too high a moral tone to touch for an instant their consciences.

"Well, how about the rest of their countrymen—and how about us, then?

"And the hundreds of thousands of brave Britons who are in the trenches, freezing in winter, roasting in summer, under the perpetual danger of being destroyed by a shell, or a bullet, of being mutilated, or being asphyxiated—what of them; are they so perfectly comfortable every day?

"And the four or five million Frenchmen who have left their businesses, who have seen their affairs ruined, who have lost their positions and salaries, whose families live on 25 cents a day, who themselves make exactly 1 cent a day—do you call theirs a bed of roses?

Defend Threshold of Britain.

"In defending the French soil of Arras, of Calais, and of Dunkirk, aren't we at the same time defending the threshold of England, and the threshold of Wales with it?

"We have a working class here in France which has the reputation of being hotheaded. But it has too much sense, too much patriotism, too much sentiment, too much intelligence to commit an ignominy such as the English miners commit at this moment.

"A strike at such a time! At a time when we are all fighting for the liberty and independence of Europe!

"Call it what you wish. I call it a crime of high treason, not only against England, but against France and all the allies."

Speech of Lloyd-George.

Nor was David Lloyd-George himself in his speech to the miners more complimentary, though he put it more politically. He recalled to the men what France has done and is doing in this war—a fact which a few million Englishmen need brought home to them.

"In this harbor," he said, "you have got now five ships from France waiting to have their bunkers filled with Welsh coal to help the valiant troops of our great ally. What has happened in France? The bulk of the coal fields are in the possession of the enemy. France depends upon you for her coal.

"This is the land that is now begging you with empty bunkers in your harbor of Cardiff to send her coal to speed a few more of her valiant children to the battlefield to fight the brutal enemy.

"I beg of you to help them. Do your best, as much as is in you, to make up for the lost time, and show the democracy of France at any rate that you are prepared to assist them in the common struggle for the freedom of the world."

SAYS SCHOOLS CAN BORROW $9,000,000

Trustee Sonsteby Scoffs at Much Talked Of Deficit of $1,250,000.

John J. Sonsteby startled the members of the senate investigating committee yesterday at the Hotel La Salle when he stated that the board of education is not confronted with a deficit. He said that legally the board has access to ample revenue to cover all of its proposed expenditures.

Mr. Sonsteby said that the board, by law, is entitled to borrow about $9,000,000 more than what it already is borrowing, and that until it borrows that amount it is wrong to state that there is a deficit. He said he was not in favor of borrowing, however, except in emergency.

Myer J. Stein was questioning Mr. Sonsteby about an item of $105 spent by the board on Mayor Thompson's prosperity parade.

No Actual Deficit.

"There is no actual deficit in the educational fund," asserted Mr. Sonsteby, after it had been intimated that the board was not eliminating all unnecessary expense.

"That's interesting," said Mr. Stein. "I think some of the trustees who have been talking to us about a deficit of $1,250,000 would like to hear about that."

"Hasn't it been stated here before?" inquired Mr. Sonsteby.

"It's absolutely new to us," said Mr. Stein.

Can Borrow $9,000,000.

"We have for educational purposes during 1915," said Mr. Sonsteby, "the 1914 tax levy and a right to borrow 75 per cent of the 1915 tax levy, which is collected in 1916. So the board has a right to borrow $9,000,000 and a right to spend even more than that. The city and the county do it. The city had a real deficit when it appropriated more than its possible income. We have not done that.

"As a practical proposition, however, we should not expend more than we actually have, without borrowing. I think it is worse than a mistake, except as a temporary expedient."

"Then all this talk about the deficit being due to the increases in teachers' salaries is a myth?" asked Mr. Stein.

"If you designate it as a deficit," replied Mr. Sonsteby.

Wants Trustees Elected.

Mr. Sonsteby recommended an elective board of eleven members, each to be paid a salary of $10,000 a year, which would devote its entire time to the schools.

LOOP SALOON MEN NAMED IN EXPRESS ROBBERY.

Employe Charged with Robberies Covering Six Years Says Drink Dispensers Were His "Salesmen."

A confession involving a number of loop saloonkeepers in the systematic robbery of the Wells-Fargo company, was made yesterday by Benjamin Watkins, one of the band of alleged robbers. Watkins was a destination clerk for the express company. He was arrested with three alleged confederates, Frank Wilson, J. F. Stone, alias John Stein, and Christian Miller, or Muller.

Miller's arrest was made yesterday. He is a waiter occasionally employed in a Cottage Grove avenue café. He is said to be the chauffeur who drove the others about the city and also to have acted as their salesman.

Watkins named Stone as the "brains" of the band who are said to have stolen more than $100,000 worth of merchandise during the last six years. He also named a number of other men, who probably will be arrested in a few days. The saloonkeepers, according to Watkins, acted as salesmen for the stolen goods.

Watkins is said to have told the police that he was supposed to get 50 per cent of the proceeds from stolen merchandise, but he claims Stein gave him only a small per cent. The men have not been booked at the detective bureau.

Car Men Get Raises.

In accordance with President Busby's desire to make an early adjustment of the increases under the recent arbitration award, a large section of the auditing force of the surface lines has been exclusively engaged upon this computation for some weeks. The distribution of the accumulated wages began yesterday and will continue today. The extra pay involved for trainmen alone exceeds $125,000.

CLAIM 219,186 LOWDEN SIGNERS

Mayor and Allies Elated at Report of Pledges in Governor Race.

Nearly a quarter of a million names were turned in as signed to pledges to vote for Frank O. Lowden for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois, at the roundup of the Cook County Frank O. Lowden club held at Hotel Sherman last night.

The exact count, as reported by Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, who was chairman of the meeting, to Mayor Thompson, who made the chief speech of the night, was 219,186. The workers were started out for 100,000 more.

Mayor Thompson and Fred Lundin will proceed to Col. Lowden's summer home in the Thousand Islands Saturday afternoon carrying a report of what has been accomplished. They have no doubt whatever, they said emphatically last night, that Col. Lowden is to be a candidate.

Downstate Fight Starts at Once.

The Lowden formal announcement will be made during state fair week at Springfield, it was learned last night. The work of organizing the downstate in his behalf is scheduled to begin immediately.

Incidental to the formal launching of the Lowden boom for governor, Mayor Thompson announced his willingness to become the next Republican national committeeman from Illinois. No reference was made during the proceedings to presidential politics.

"It's a cinch," said former Congressman Lundin. "Lowden will be a candidate as sure as anything can be forecast. This meeting tonight opens and nearly closes the campaign."

The meeting itself was of formidable dimensions. Perhaps 2,000 persons were in the Italian room on the first floor of the Sherman, for the formal reception of petitions and the speechmaking.

Harry B. Miller, city prosecutor, opened the meeting and introduced Chairman Faherty. Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson and Frank R. Reid of Aurora were the speakers in advance of Mayor Thompson.

Deneen Forces Inactive.

The Deneen forces are making no move as yet to counteract the city hall activity for Col. Lowden. The downstate Deneen men are lining up behind National Committeeman Roy O. West, whose defeat Mayor Thompson is now seeking to accomplish.

From what was heard in last night's crowd, the fight throughout the city for national convention delegates will center largely over the West-Thompson alignment. The first scrapping started in Mr. West's congressional district, the Hyde Park territory, last night, where an open attempt has made by the city hall forces to overthrow West's control.

Sues for $277.77 Per Cabbage.

Harry Abent had Albert Jurek arrested on the charge of stealing thirty-six cabbages. Jurek spent a day in jail, then was arrested again, but discharged for want of prosecution. Now Jurek wants $10,000 damages, or $277.77 per cabbage.

PEACE COUNCIL IS REPUDIATED

Labor Leader Quits Buchanan Organization; Says It Is German Movement.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Labor's National Peace council, of which Congressman Frank Buchanan of Chicago is president, was formally repudiated today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, through Milton Snelling, first vice president of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers.

At the time of the organization of the peace council, Buchanan persuaded Snelling to accept the position of vice president. Today Snelling, at the instance of Mr. Gompers, threw up his place and vigorously condemned the purposes and methods of the peace organization.

The Snelling letter to Buchanan indicates plainly that even if Mr. Buchanan's purposes are sincere, those of a number of his associates in the organization are not. Mr. Snelling quotes a conversation between two delegates to the recent meeting, which resulted in the formal organization of the council, to show that a number of members are acting purely from pro-German sentiments.

Promoters Foes of Labor?

Another argument assigned for his withdrawal by Mr. Snelling is that the organization is carrying a number of men who heretofore have attempted to estrange the efforts of the American Federation of Labor to better conditions for workingmen. Two individuals whom he refers to personally are Henry B. Martin and Herman J. Schultels. Martin and Schultels organized the Anti-Trust League of America some time ago. These men, it is said, have used this organization to boost or denounce legislation at their personal pleasure. Their operations in legislative matters were practically ended, however, when their associate, David Lamar, the "wolf of Wall street," was convicted and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for representing himself to be a congressman.

Charges German Propaganda.

Snelling then says that Jacob C. Taylor, the delegate from East Orange, N. J., when asked, "What, after all, does this council want to do?" replied:

"We want to stop the exportation of munitions to the allies. You see, Germany can manufacture all the munitions she wants."

TWO U. S. WARSHIPS TO VERA CRUZ

conditions are such that this country cannot afford to take a chance at Vera Cruz now. He will insist that the vessels are not being sent to intimidate Carranza or his followers, but merely to see that American rights are not derogated.

Wants Confidence of Republics.

The administration makes no secret of its desire to obtain and maintain the confidence of the Latin American republics. Careful work now, it is believed, will do more to create a spirit of friendship and Pan-Americanism than fifty years' explaining, if a false step is taken.

Officials here are hopeful that the work of the conference can be concluded this week. It is believed that it may be possible for Secretary Lansing to make a definite announcement in New York tomorrow evening regarding plans and program of the United States and the six other republics for the restoration of law and order in Mexico. The appeal to Mexican factions to get together and establish a single government, which can receive proper recognition, will be issued, it was said today, before the end of this week.

Reports received from Gen. Scott, chief of staff, who is now on the Mexican border, indicate that Villa is willing to agree to all of the proposals of the United States.

The reports from Vera Cruz, however, indicate that Carranza is still obdurate. Carranza is demanding full recognition. That material concessions may have to be made to him to prevent him resisting with force the provisional government which the United States expects to recognize is feared.

It is this determination to oppose the plan of the United States and the Latin-American governments for a new deal in Mexico that is regarded as responsible for anti-American feeling in Vera Cruz.

Coast Warships to South.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The United States gunboat Yorktown arrived at San Diego today from San Francisco. Admiral Howard, commander of the Pacific fleet, issued orders to the commanders of the Yorktown to proceed immediately to the Mexican port of Acapulco.

The United States gunboat Annapolis is now off the southwest coast of Mexico en route from Corinto, Nicaragua. It is expected to arrive at Acapulco tomorrow.

The cruiser Cleveland is now stationed at Lapaz and has orders to remain there. The cruiser Chattanooga is stationed at Mazatlan. It is denied that the presence of these United States warships at these two important Mexican ports, which are under the control of Carranza, has anything to do with the reported unruliness of the "first chief."

Gen. Carranza in Protest.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 10.—Dr. Victorino de la Plaza, president of Argentina, has received a telegram from Gen. Venustiano Carranza which asserts that the Washington conference, should it decide to interefere in Mexican affairs, would commit an unpardonable error.

"Argentina," the dispatch says, "has made itself an accomplice in a crime against our race which possibly may help to bring on a war between two American nations."

Villa Bows to Scott.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 10.—Gen. Francisco Villa today withdrew his order to foreign mining corporations to send representatives to a meeting at Chihuahua City to act on a matter of "great importance," presumably a forced loan, and promised to release from the order of confiscation goods of foreign merchants and mining companies seized at Chihuahua City and Juarez.

Villa's action was taken after a three hour conference with Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army, and George C. Carothers of the state department. Alberto Madero also attended the meeting.

More Border Fighting.

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 10.—United States cavalrymen and Mexicans fought again today, this time near Mercedes, Tex. One Mexican was killed. None of the troopers was reported hurt.

Six United States cavalrymen were on border patrol duty near Mercedes when the Mexicans attacked them. The soldiers captured four horses from the attacking party.

An explanation of the purposes and extent of the Mexican raids of the last three weeks was obtained today from Jesus Garcia, a Mexican wounded and captured in the Sunday fight at Norias, who is expected to die.

He said many Mexicans, especially the lower classes, hope to regain possession of that part of Texas between the Rio Grande and the Nueces river, or, roughly, the strip bounded by Brownsville and Corpus Christi, and return it to Mexico.

Garcia said a political party having this aim exists in the southern part of Texas. The recent raids were intended to equip for organized conflict to reconquer the lower end of south Texas.

ELECTRIFY EAST, IGNORE CHICAGO

Pennsylvania Road Ridding Philadelphia of the Smoke Nuisance.

On the heels of the announcement that the Association of Commerce smoke abatement committee has decided electrification is impracticable in Chicago word comes from Philadelphia that the Pennsylvania railroad has nearly completed the electrification of its suburban lines in that city for a distance of twenty miles.

"It must be the climate," commented an engineer yesterday. "That is the only substantial difference I can see between conditions in Philadelphia and Chicago. Yet it seems the Chicago Surface lines are able to operate by electricity even in Chicago."

The Pennsylvania began the electrification of its suburban lines in Philadelphia in 1913. Between the Broad street station and the West Philadelphia yards there are 2,295 train and engine movements every day, and this was found to tax the capacity of the terminal to such an extent it was impossible to put on additional trains.

It was concluded quickest relief could be obtained by operating the heavy suburban traffic by electric power. Accordingly the road was equipped for the use of this power as far as Paoli, a distance of twenty miles.

This electric service will reduce the number of train movements in the station 15 per cent. Further relief, it is said, is contemplated by the extension of the electric system on the western division of the road and by the electrification of the divisions running north and south from this station.

INSTITUTE SALE ATTACKED.

Chicago Bank Holds Mrs. Springer's Muncie Purchase Was Too Low a Figure.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—While preliminary steps for taking over the Muncie Normal institute, sold at receiver's sale to Mrs. Margaret Springer of Chicago, have been taken, the Colonial Trust and Savings company of Chicago has filed a motion for a modification of judgment and asking for a new trial. It is believed Mrs. Springer will have to put up in actual cash only between $40,000 and $50,000.

NEW POSTOFFICE 10 STORIES HIGH

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Acting Secretary Newton of the treasury department today stated that the committee of experts from the postoffice and treasury departments had recommended the construction of a ten story building for Chicago's new west side postoffice.

The enormous increase in the cost of ground space has made it almost impossible for the government to continue its policy of constructing one and two story postoffices in the larger cities.

The following formal statement was issued at the treasury in regard to the report on the Chicago office:

"The joint committee recommends that a ten story postoffice building on one block in Chicago would be of sufficient size and dimensions to take care of the parcel post and postal business in that city for a period of twenty years. This ten story building would have floor area of 1,194,195 square feet, or about twenty-seven and one-half acres."

Mr. Newton is wholly in accord with the recommendations of the joint committee. It is expected that they also will be formally ratified by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo when he returns to Washington.

—Stephen Decatur.

IN PEACEFUL EUROPE.

We think Mr. Bennett's articles on Norway and Sweden have a peculiar charm which is largely the contriving of an appreciative man whose own senses are keen, after knowledge of war, for the placid beauties and majestic grandeur of the Scandinavian peninsula, but which is partly opportunistic. They afford more than glimpses of ravishing landscape and hearty human custom, and they are set against a background of suffering and agony. They picture human conditions as we should like to have them exist, and we know that they are denied to the larger part of Europe, which a little over a year ago had them in full content.

It is the opportunity of these articles to have this hideous background, and it is an opportunity which the appreciative reader will find weighing in his consideration. Mr. Bennett might have employed the same skill upon them two years ago, but they might not have had the same beneficent effect.

It is the hope of the world that what Norway and Sweden are enjoying may be restored to the parts of the earth now denied it. The wonders of Scandinavian meadow and mountain cannot be every nation's heritage, but the human fellowship can be restored, and on some kind day will be.

HOPE FOR THE ROCK ISLAND.

If the prediction comes true that the stock manipulators who reduced the magnificent Rock Island railroad to bankruptcy in a dozen years of maneuvering in the stock markets have actually exposed themselves to legal attack by the government, railroad securities in general should register a buoyant reaction. The suggestion that not even the highest paid advice insures any degree of safety to men who specialize in keeping a shade within the law should be welcome news to railroad investors. It is far more healthy than a 5 per cent increase in freight rates, because it cuts away the most irritating element between the railroads and public regulation. A rate increase is a matter of course compared with the proposition to separate the railroads from rampant speculation.

The public must know by this time that holding up these men to popular scorn is as ineffectual as punishing the railroad properties themselves by irrational regulation. Neither reaches the source. But the apparently authoritative report from Washington that a weak spot has been found in the front presented by Director Moore and Attorney Walker, who engineered the bankruptcy deal, gives new hopes.

Recent Rock Island earnings have compared favorably with its more prosperous and better managed competitors. If the interstate commerce commission is able to force the Rock Island back into the hands of railroad men with the aid of the federal courts, and at the same time make an example of the men responsible for its present helplessness, it will have proved itself all its most enthusiastic friends promised.

BASEBALL AND BELLIGERENCY.

John Evers, whose turbulency has made inroads upon his popularity, seems to have been disillusioned about baseball. The newspapers, he says, and especially those of Pittsburgh, have called him Roughneck and have added to his physical ills those miseries of the mind suffered by every misunderstood artist. He thought last week that contentment in the country was better than courage in adversity, and fixed his eyes upon rural life. He has since changed his mind, deciding to stick it out and continue the fight for the flag.

Mr. Evers is censured for his actual belligerency in a game which is wholly expressed in the terms of belligerency. It means to every reader of its annals, if not to every observer of its exploits, the attack and defense, the rally and the rout. The baseball writer takes his imagery from the war correspondent. The Cubs rush savagely to the attack or they retire sullenly before the onslaught. The Sox drive the enemy before them or they retreat from Warsaw. The idea is war, but, happily, without its mangling.

The public, we venture to presume, takes it as symbolic of the human struggle, idealized and expressed in the least offensive terms. Imagination makes its heroes virtually invulnerable, not liking the sight of the stricken body. Achilles had only his heel exposed, Siegfried only the space of an oak leaf between his shoulders.

To this public the baseball writers have made the baseball field the scene of contest, but not stricken and not gory. The sinking of a Turkish battleship is no more interesting than a death on second, and it is more than twice as unpleasant.

In the baseball columns is our national passion for bloodless belligerency satisfied. Records of the games have the vocabulary of battle. The sacrificial efforts of Archer are reported. Fisher dies painlessly on third. A thrill accompanies the phrase, "Cheney and Alexander engaged in keen battle." Claude Hendrix's arrival is heralded with the same spirit which makes Sheridan's ride a favorite among school children. Moreover, the reader does not mourn over the demise on third, and is happily conscious that he will not be asked, as a result of this temporary death, either to sit on a coroner's jury or to contribute to the Red Cross.

Mr. Evers is disposed to make the belligerency actual, and he spoils the picture.

CONSIDERING PEACE.

Speculation as to peace begins and ends in the confusion which confounds in the first place an understanding of the cause and purpose of the war. If it were definitely known what the nations were fighting for it might be possible to comprehend the probable terms of peace.

That they are all fighting for their lives is contended in every capital of Europe, but if permission to live and exist as a nation were all that were required an adjustment might be reached. The cosmic comprehension may be content with attributing the debacle to the sex impulse which can set the barnyard in a flurry of feathers, or to modern nerves which break under tension, or to the natural and inherent provocativeness and belligerency of animalism from which humans are not exempt.

Diplomatically, the war can be explained, militaristically it can be understood, and historically it is not astounding, but when the whole case has been submitted the confusion is just as great as ever.

No sane Englishman now expects to break down the German empire and scatter Prussianism to the four winds. No sane Frenchman expects to ride into Berlin and give Germany reason for placing a statue symbolic of lost territory in a public place and draping it in crêpe for the next fifty years. No sane Russian expects to dismember the Austro-Hungarian monarchy and set up a litter of small kingdoms in its place. No sane German expects to crown a king of Ireland in Dublin and reduce the British empire to the size and importance of a rural parish.

The rhetoric of the war is over. The dreams have been had. The thinking people are wide awake and they must be asking themselves definitely what they are fighting for. What are the terms of peace?

One is tempted to believe that they are at this moment partly if not purely sentimental. "Russia does not want peace; she wants victory." France wants her occupied territory back. She also wants all or as much as she can get of Alsace and Lorraine. Belgium wants her nationality restored, her territory returned, and her security better pledged. Russia wants the Turk out of Europe and the Black sea opened. Italy wants the provinces she regards as unredeemed. Germany wants freedom of the seas and possession of colonies adequate to her importance and her needs. She also may want Poland and Belgium, both of which virtually she now has. The Balkan states have territorial aspirations, and, as a part of them, commercial ambitions and nationalistic longings.

None of these adjustments, when demands have been reduced to their minimum terms, are outside the ability of diplomacy to attain. We can imagine that if the French could reach and spread along the Rhine, if the British could regain Belgium from the Germans, if the Ottomans could be sent back to the place from which they came, and if Italy could get her provinces the entente powers might suggest that the central powers consider the cause of peace, and the central powers, if so much had been done against them, might be willing to do so.

The changes thus affected would be important, but the world would be hard pressed to find them worth the cost. If Germany could retain all territory now held and thus could expand into a nation as populous as the United States, the realization of a nationalistic ambition so large might be esteemed well worth every cent and every life it required, but Germany denies that it is moved by a conquering ambition.

We may concede that two great social orders are in conflict; that individualism and communism are striving to impose their will upon each other. We may concede that a rich seagoing nation is fighting the ancient fight with a resourceful central land power. We may concede that racial animosities must bear the responsibility, but, conceding everything that speculation or thought might advance, what, nevertheless, remains as the specific objective towards which the nations are fighting? So long as the invader is in France and Belgium there is an objective for the French, Belgians, and British. So long as the invader is in Russia there is an objective for the Russians. Constantinople is another and Trent and Trieste others. In the main the objective seems to be the restoration of antebellum conditions, modified considerably or slightly as they may be by German, Italian, or Russian success.

The conclusion can hardly be escaped that peace means, unless unindicated weaknesses assert themselves and reduce one set of belligerents to unexpected powerlessness, a return virtually to what existed before Europe undertook to ruin one generation and put five others under a staggering burden of debt.

Prediction has a sense of its dangers, but the query persists: Is history to know this as the useless war?

Editorial of the Day.

ENGLAND THWARTS SYMPATHIZERS.

[From the New Republic.]

The policy of Great Britain makes the situation of the sympathizers with the allies in the United States very difficult. The United States is a nation whose inhabitants are derived from many countries and races. It contains many millions of people of German blood. These people are naturally very desirous that the resources of their adopted country should not be used in a manner inimical to their blood relations in Germany.

It so happens, however, that they can be used in a manner very harmful to Germany without any violation of technical neutrality. The allies can draw military supplies from this country to an extent which during the coming year may count decisively in their favor. The Germans naturally object to the assistance which the allies are obtaining from the United States, but they would not be in a position to stir up an effective counter agitation as long as Great Britain was respectful of the very restricted rights of trade which the existing body of law permitted Germans and Americans to enjoy.

Now, however, German-Americans are in a position to stir up an effective counter agitation. They can ask the good natured American citizen of the middle west whether he wishes to stand for an application of international law which enables the allies to buy ammunition in the United States but prevents the Germans from obtaining food and clothing for women and children. They can urge upon the southerner that the most effective way to obtain a sale for his cotton in Germany is to force Great Britain to modify her commercial policy by the threat of an embargo on military supplies. By making such a threat the United States would merely be itself following the example of reprisal which is so popular with Great Britain and Germany.

NORTHERN SUMMER.

(Frederika Peterson, in the New Republic.)

YEA, tell me of the northland, in the flush
Of summer, hard upon the white spring's heels!
These southern islands know not how she steals
Radiant with pity, through the frozen hush;
Gathering her emerald garments for the rush,
At all her hemlock altars first she kneels,
While every hill and vale her presence feels,

Pausing a little ere the oft-run race,
She waits the promised coming of the sun:
Light, wind, and light! Then summer, leaping forth,
Unveils the dazzling glory of her face,
And down the ways already woo'd and won

A PANIC in a Massachusetts theater was averted when the orchestra played "The Star Spangled Banner." Never were the sepulchral strains of that admirable dirge employed to better advantage.

BULGARIA is willing to fight for liberty, justice, and humanity—if the Allies will pay her price. Otherwise she may sign with the Teutfeds.

But No Easier Way

Sir: Just before I left Comanche county, Tex., we strung up a horse thief, and as they pulled the wagon from under him he said, "At last I am going to make it!" I thought his mind was wandering until I read a few copies of your Gibbet of Gayety, and then it dawned on me what he meant. After reading a few more issues I concluded that there are worse ways of making the Line than horse stealing. RANDOLPH SNORTER,

THE practice of painting pet names on motor boats is, happily, not followed in the case of automobiles. Think of encountering a string of fords labeled "Midge," "Fannie," "Mayflower," and what not!

Ye Editor and Ye Storm.

[From the Plainville, Ill., Messenger.]

One of the worst looking storm clouds we have had here in years rose gracefully and menacingly out of the west last Friday eve and throwed a big scare into a number of our town people, in fact the editor of the Messenger who is entirely fearless of every thing, felt a little cold footed as the purple hued cloud sailed over this way, and for once felt a little penitent and moved over our transgressions. Our typo said it was a great thing that the Lord made himself so manifest to the wicked, and that his power alone was all that could make an editor who was capacity loaded with iniquity, quake in his boots. She begged of us to repent and quit lying about our neighbors, and grafting the people out of a dollar for a paper that was good only for shelf paper. Before the storm struck the city we went to the house and retired to our private room where we sat until the good Lord had had all the fun out of us he wanted to, then we peered out and beheld the clear sky and bright sunlight again. We at once went to the office and wrote a few questionable articles for the paper and mailed out twenty-five statements to delinquents. Surely the wicked are prone to forget the mercy of the Lord.

AS we imperfectly understand it, the fair, m. or l., bathers on our local beaches have contended successfully for the Freedom of the Knees.

LIVE WIRES.

Sir: I rise to inquire the reason for the popular opinion which seems to class all men in the cemetery business as personages of long visages and gloomy aspect, sort of morgue devotees, as it were. Now, simply because a man happens, by circumstance or by choice, to be in the business of developing "memorial parks," it does not necessarily follow that he is a dead one. On the contrary, it takes a "live wire" to apply that much needed touch of cheerfulness so welcome to those he must come in contact with. A man must also be very much "wrapped in his business," s. t. s., to put over the fine and modern park landscapes that characterize present day burial grounds.

Are we vindicated? Thank you. R. M. W.

HERE'S ANOTHER.

Sir: I have been straining my eyes looking for you to emblazon the fact that Arthur Graves is custodian of the Evergreen cemetery, Bloomington, Ill. RAMESES.

A NEW YORK man thinks that the British submarine, H-11, recently launched at Quincy, Mass., should be easy to raise. On the o. a., she should be easy to drop.

HLUSS AND IMMORTALITY.

[From the Charleston, Ill., News.]

"B. L. T." is an alleged humorist on the pay roll of the Chicago Tribune. He copies items from country papers, and pokes fun at such items as "Bill Smith painted his barn, yesterday." This is supposed to be hilarious amusement for the city sapheads, albeit they may then turn to another column of their metropolitan paper and read three columns of hluss on how old Aunt Polly Potwetsky decorated her beloved poodle dog.

[From the Kankakee Gazette.]

The Gazette inadvertently made "the line" recently. We join the sob squad with Alexander the Great. It is easier for an editor to make the headline in a rival local paper than "the line" of the immortal B. L. T.

"KAISER'S Pianiste Is Driven from London."

As we have more than once observed, it is not the opinions they hold, but the objectionable manner in which they express them.

ALE AND MARKSMANSHIP.

Providence, R. I.—Sir: I note in current advertisements that Alexander Hamilton occasionally imbibed a glass of ale because he believed in liberty. Now, though not desirous of giving the prohibition cause too much of a boost, is it not logical to presume that he might have fared better in the Burr duel had he been a teetotaler?

THE SECOND POST.

[Received by the Auditorium theater.]

The Manager of Opera: I do like to find out if I get my girl to sing in opera. She is 16 year old and has taken lessons from vocal teacher for long time. People that have heard her sing tell her to go on stage. She is got a vary Beautiful voice she is not this Common singer you hear avery day in Opera. I must call it contralto, she sing something like that. They call her Little Caruso. Every boddy is crazy about her singing. Of course I will travell with her my self. I wish you could come to ——— and hear her voice for I am not able to spen monny only if I was sure for her to get a job. She could take contrackt for to sing for 6 months with you. I will not send her unless she get one houndred and fifty thousand a year. I am sure she do better than this Common opera singers like Miss Farar and all the old ones, for my girl is young and got a voice like a man. Please answer me at once for she got too Beautiful voice to be here in ———.

BUDDERIZED MILK.

THIS is milk to which peroxide of hydrogen has been added. The milk is heated to 128 degrees, and then to it is added about two teaspoonfuls of peroxide for every pint of milk. It is held at 128 degrees for from one to two hours. The amount of peroxide needed varies with different milks and at different seasons of the year.

Budderized milk will keep in a stoppered bottle at room temperature for several days. Some men claim that children thrive on budderized milk; others say they do not.

A child 6 months old, weighing fourteen pounds, should be fed five times a day—at 6 a. m., 10 a. m., 2 p. m., 6 p. m., and 10 p. m. An average formula will be:

Budderized milk .... 4 ounces
Water .... 2 2-3 ounces
Malt food .... 1 ounce

FORMALIN MILK—To use formalin in milk is contrary to law, yet some of the best men in Germany, among them Von Behring, claim that formalin milk is the lesser of two evils. Their claim in substance is that in homes where there is no ice the baby stands a better chance if the milk is kept by adding formalin to it. One part to 50,000 will keep milk, and they claim that so small a proportion will not lessen the nutritive quality of the milk.

No one has put a formalinized baby milk on the market in this country. No mother is warranted in trying to formalinize her baby's milk supply.

BABY FOODS—The baby foods are being very carefully studied. The result will be that in a few years they will stand before the public in a very enviable position. The extravagant claims made on many of the labels have disappeared on the one hand. On the other, the physicians will not be abusing them indiscriminately.

The baby foods have the advantage over fluid milk that they keep perfectly and that they never contain living tubercle, typhoid, or diphtheria bacilli, or the organisms of foot and mouth disease, scarlet fever, or septic sore throat. They have the disadvantage that they tend to produce scurvy, rickets, and improper growth of bone and muscle.

The tissues of the body cannot be repaired, nor can they grow unless the food contains enough proteins. In turn, proteins are composed of combinations of amino acids. Where there is a high degree of protein starvation the animal wastes. If there is a larger amount of proper protein in the food the animal repairs its muscular weight, but does not grow.

The amount of protein in the food and the quality of the protein must be right in order that an animal shall grow. That which determines quality is the amino acids contained in the protein. For instance, gelatin is a protein capable of making heat and of sparing muscle waste, but incapable of repairing muscle or of causing growth.

The reason is that it has neither the amino acids necessary for repairs nor those necessary for growth. The amino acid necessary for growth is lysin. Unless a food contains proteins which in turn contain lysin the animal will not grow bone and muscle, regardless of how much it may eat. Young animals, therefore, must have foods rich in lysin.

BOY A LITTLE BACKWARD.

Young Mother writes: "Our baby boy is 14 months of age. Has only seven teeth, does not walk, is just beginning to pull himself up alone, creeps nicely, wakes up early in morning, goes to sleep about 10 o'clock, sleeps till 12 or 1, no more till night. His food is modified cow's milk, with a part of one egg a day, graham and oatmeal crackers, some swieback. He does not seem to like broths of any kind. He sometimes seems hungry between feeding times, which is every four hours. He likes sweets. Has to be fed once in night. Bowels constipated most of the time. He seems well, is strong and active, a fine, noble looking boy, but has days of being very restless and fussy. Please tell me is food all right? What is any better for him?"

REPLY.

Your boy is a little backward, but not much. Break him of the habit of being fed at night. Give him some orange juice or prune juice. Give him some meat broth—four to six ounces—and a little fine chopped meat. Give him some spinach that has been well cooked and put through a colander. This, in addition to his milk, gruels, swieback, and crackers.

POSSIBLY CIGARET COUGH.

H. B. writes: "I am a young man, 30 years of age. I have been coughing and expectorating for the last four years. I have been very sore on my left side under the heart for about three years. It does not go away. I smoke cigarets—about twelve every day—and when I take a deep breath my lungs pain me on both sides. Could you kindly give me information as to what is the trouble and how to cure it?"

REPLY.

Probably you have a cigaret cough. If so, quit smoking. Possibly you have consumption. Have your lungs examined.

SHOULD UNDERGO EXAMINATION.

S. P. S. writes: "I have noticed a stringy substance in my urine during the last six or eight months. What is the cause of this? What effect does it have on the general health? Is there any remedy for one aged 60?"

REPLY.

1. Probably your prostate is enlarged and your deep urethra is inflamed.
2. In men past 60 it is a considerable menace to health.
3. I advise you to have a physician examine your prostate and bladder.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1915: By the Brentwood Co.]

GREAT BRITAIN'S premier peer, the Duke of Norfolk, has shown himself so conscientious, so sensible, unassuming, and in every sense of the word irreproachable a citizen that the news of his alarming illness has created widespread regret, all the more so as the British empire needs men of his particular stamp in its present hour of stress and peril.

It has been found necessary to remove him to a nursing home at Leeds, where he is to undergo an operation of so grave a character that fears are expressed by the surgeons as to the outcome of the application of the knife, and that even if he survives his convalescence will be an affair of several months.

This serves to call attention to his little 6 year old son and heir, the Earl of Arundel and Surrey, who, although a well grown boy for his years, is known among the members of his family by the name of "Tiny."

He will in the event of his father's death come into the possession not only of his father's many peerages and immense estates but also of his hereditary office of earl marshal of the realm, one of the highest and most ancient dignities of the empire.

Little Lord Arundel is the offspring of the duke's second wife, the Hon. Gwendolen Constable Maxwell, who has inherited in her own right her father's ancient Scotch barony of Herries.

The duke's first wife, Lady Flora Abney-Hastings, died after ten years of marriage, leaving him with a son named Philip. He bore the title of Earl of Surrey, and, although terribly afflicted physically and mentally from his birth (he was blind, deaf, and dumb), was an object of particular tenderness and devotion on the part of his father, who, the leader of the Roman Catholic aristocracy of Great Britain, made many a pilgrimage to Lourdes with the unfortunate lad in the hopes of his recovery.

The boy survived until after his twenty-first year, and it was only a considerable time after his death that the duke married again.

The duke remains on record as one of the most efficient and hard working postmasters general who have ever held that office in any English cabinet, resigning his seat, however, to take service in the field during the Boer war, going all through the campaign in South Africa in a subordinate military capacity in his customary unassuming, modest fashion.

Fifteenth duke of his line and head of that historic house of Howard, he makes his principal abode at Arundel castle in Sussex, one of the stateliest and most princely country seats in the United Kingdom, and which was once the home of Alfred the Great.

It is the only castle in England that carries with it an earldom, namely, that of Arundel, an honor which the duke holds by virtue of his possession of the castle.

Considerable alarm was created at Genoa, and, indeed, among the superstitious throughout Italy, by the circulation of stories to the effect that the holy grail of the Cathedral of San Lorenzo had crumbled to pieces. This relic, one of the most venerated in Catholic Christendom, the cup, indeed, which is said to have been used at the last supper, was first brought from the Holy Land to Genoa in 1101 by William Embriaco, the famous Genoese commander, who had discovered it among the booty at Cæsarea, where it had been treasured for ages as a subject of the holiest veneration.

Since then it has been repeatedly referred to in official documents still in existence, one of which, dated Oct. 16, 1319, consists of a contract by the terms of which Cardinal Fieschi undertook to loan 9,500 golden genovini, an enormous sum in those days, to the city of Genoa for purposes of military defense on the security of the sacro catino, as the holy grail is called.

Eight years later, in 1327, the city recovered the pledge by means of assigning to the cardinal in settlement of his loan the revenues of certain city property and the right to levy a tax on all salt sold in the district.

Eventually the sacro catino passed from the possession of the city into the custody of the Cathedral of San Lorenzo, where it remained until 1807, when to the dismay and grief of the Genoese it was carried off by Napoleon to Paris, where it remained until after his downfall, when it was returned to Genoa. It was not, however, restored intact.

The vessel is octagonal in shape, and a part, measuring about a third of its circumference, was in several small fragments. With infinite care and skill these were pieced together and braced around with a gold band.

Recently a rumor became current that the cup was in process of disintegration, and in view of the widespread popular uneasiness about the matter the minister of fine arts appointed a special committee to coöperate with the ecclesiastical authorities at Genoa in an examination of the relic.

The committee after careful investigation has come to the conclusion that the dampness of the treasure vault of the cathedral has caused the cement used in repairing the vessel a hundred years ago to become soft, loose, and nonadhesive.

So the sacro catino is to be once more subjected to a process of most painstaking repair, after which it is to be preserved no longer in the treasure vault of the cathedral but in some airtight receptacle elsewhere in the sacred edifice, where it can be better protected from the ravages of time and from destructive atmospheric corrosion.

Are married men braver than bachelors? It would appear so, at any rate in Great Britain, where the number of married men with children who have volunteered for service in the field since the beginning of the war has been out of all proportion to the number of unmarried men.

The British army, according to official returns lately reported to parliament, contains close upon a million married men. This takes no account of the large colonial contingents, nor yet of the Indian troops. That is to say, the proportion of married men is between 50 and 60 per cent, and it is this condition of affairs which is contributing largely to remove popular opposition to conscription.

It is felt that every man owes duties to the state other than those of merely paying taxes and obeying the laws of the land. He is under an obligation to defend his country, and since unmarried men of military age are holding back and leaving the fighting to others, it is felt that they should be forced to fight by means of conscription.

THE MORALISTS.

[From Meggendorfer Blätter.]

Mr. Wilson—"I'll call your attention to another thing, Cousin John. If you would lift your blockade against Germany things like the Lusitania wouldn't happen again."
John Bull—"And what good would that do me?"
Mr. Wilson—"Then we might send you our ammunition in safety."

NOTIFIED TO STOP NOISE.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad officials have been making promises that they were attempting to operate their freight trains with the least amount of noise possible, especially in the early morning, but they are getting worse instead of better. We are residing near the tracks at Greenleaf and Lunt avenues and it is simply impossible for us to sleep with the windows open because of this constant shunting of freight cars. Please see what can be done to lessen this noise. A SUBSCRIBER.

The department of health has instituted suit against the St. Paul company on account of noise prevailing in the vicinity of the Buena avenue station south of Montrose avenue. Relative to the above complaint notice has been sent to the officials directing them to abate the nuisance of noise at night.
WILLIS O. NANCE,
Chairman City Council Anti-Noise Subcommittee.

The above reply applies to complaint of James Hennessey, 1050 Byron street.

ALLOWED TO DISCARD COATS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company insist upon their employés wearing heavy uniforms during the summer months, and the employés cannot disregard this order for fear of being dismissed from service. Kindly see if this ruling cannot be modified for the benefit of the men during the hot weather.
J. MARSHALL.

The meter inspectors of this company are allowed to discard their coats during their work whenever the weather is so oppressive that they become a burden. L. A. WILEY,
Secretary Peoples Gas Company.

ORDERED TO ABATE NUISANCE.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly see what can be done in the way of removing a garbage burner from the rear of 2510 Van Buren street. The burner is opposite my bedroom window, and if I allow my window to remain open I am forced to suffer the smoke and odor from the burning refuse.
DAVID R. OATES.

An inspection was made and a notice has been served to abate the nuisance caused by this garbage burner.
JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Health.

PAVING LE MOYNE STREET.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly inform me when Le Moyne street, between Leavitt street and California avenue, will be paved. The curbs have been torn out and there are trenches dug on both sides of the street, making it almost impossible for one to drive in the street.
M. GALETTE, 1535 Maplewood avenue.

Le Moyne street, from Leavitt street to California avenue, will be paved during the summer. EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Secretary.

TO PAVE WENTWORTH AVE.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please tell me when the city intends to finish the paving of Wentworth avenue between Twenty-sixth and Thirty-ninth streets. GUST A. BENNER, 3008 Wentworth avenue.

An assessment has recently been confirmed for paving with creosoted blocks Wentworth avenue, between Twenty-sixth and Thirty-ninth streets. We are about to advertise for bids on the work and the improvement will be made this year.
EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Secretary.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

THEIR TUNE WOULD CHANGE.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Who says that the English people have no sense of humor? One cannot read London press comment on the president's note to Germany without arriving at the conclusion that they have an ample supply of it. England patting us on the back for asserting the rights of humanity over Teutonic military exigencies, and at the same time refusing our rights to the freedom of the sea because of alleged British military exigencies! Such an attitude is another insult to the intelligence of the American people, only partly alleviated by the humor of the inconsistency.

Doesn't England realize that the only reason why the dispute with Germany has reached a more critical stage than our dispute with England is that, in spite of European charges of devoting our exclusive worship to the dollar, in point of fact the American people consider human life as more valuable than many dollars? If the dispute with Germany did not exist, that with England would become immediately acute. England is hiding her wrongdoing in the shadow of Germany's, and, what is more, she is almost "getting away with it."

When the time comes that we send a final note to England, the tone of the London (and New York) press should, from the standpoint of truth, be the same as the comment on our final note to Germany: "fair," "just," etc. But it won't.

In the meanwhile, such familiarity from England is not appreciated. Let her cease throwing sticks between the spokes of the German-American controversy and set about mending her own fences.
H. A. RUCKEL, Northwestern University.

AMERICA FIRST AND LAST.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am taking the liberty of writing you to say that in my opinion the editorials on the European war published in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will stand the test of time and in ten years from now will be looked upon as the only real American editorials written by any of the Chicago editors.

The one of this morning headed "America, First or Last?" expresses my views on the subject. J. J. ARNOLD,
Vice President First National Bank.

DEMOCRACY OR BARBARISM?

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It seems a shame that in a country like ours, where we claim to be so democratic and highly civilized, a scene would take place such as the one that can be observed at our city hall every afternoon after the Boys' court is adjourned and a crowd of boys, some of them not over 15 or 16 years old, are being led away handcuffed in chains of four or five, as if they were the world's most dangerous set of desperadoes.

Such treatment for boys who in most cases have committed only petty offenses and in many instances are entirely innocent tends to harden their character and spoils their chances to reform.
ALBERT ARGO, 4356 West Madison street.

YUAN NOT FIT TO RULE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Having long sojourned in China, with more than a passing residence at Peking, I congratulate you on Mr. Davis' correspondence for THE TRIBUNE because it is made up of facts without conclusions. He has handled the Chino-Nipponese development most truthfully and ably.

There is, however, a field which he has neglected to cover and which is vitally interesting to the readers of THE TRIBUNE. I refer to the opposition against Yuan which will, eventually, scourge him out of his tyrannical seat of authority; for Yuan is a traitor to his country. Educated under the old truckling, graft school of Li Hung Chang, he aped Li in his skill at Manchu bootlicking, and thus developed himself temperamentally so as to be ever afterwards unfit to serve any others save the Manchus.

I am firmly convinced that Yuan today contemptuously underestimating the sterling qualities of the Chinese people, looks back to the bloodstained archives of the Manchus for the precepts of his despotic control rather than to the open books of modern civilization. Yuan has done nothing; will do nothing; can do nothing; for the only men who could actually help him he has driven from China; the great patriot, Sun Yat Sen, having fled for his life to Japan, and China's greatest military genius and consummate patriot, Gen. Hwang Hsing, having sought refuge in America, where Americans are rallying to his support.

It is the duty of Americans, always loving the cause of true liberty, to support such men as Sun Yat Sen and Hwang Hsing and their followers, and the cause of true liberty has a right to ask of the world's greatest newspaper that their side of the case be presented.

THE MAYOR'S NEUTRALITY.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Our mayor in his Aurora speech preaches what he calls the golden rule. He wants France, England, and Russia deprived of arms and ammunition, so that their enemies, who have vast stores of it and vast facilities for making more, can slaughter them at their leisure. In the same breath he advocates neutrality.

AMERICA'S LESSON FROM ANCIENT GREECE.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If, as THE TRIBUNE announces with apparent satisfaction, Britain has finally yielded to the necessity of conscription, compulsory military service, no nation is more deeply, or so deeply, concerned as the United States.

Like no man, no nation liveth unto itself, and if our great democracy shall say, as the Greek democracies of old said, "This war is over the mountains—we are not attacked," we may soon discover, as did the philosophers of Attica, that lust for power is ineradicable in the human heart. CHINESE INQUIRY ON RAILROADS HITS OFFICIALS

BY OSCAR KING DAVIS.
[War Correspondent of The Tribune.]

[Copyright: 1915: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, China, June 30.—The advance of the Chinese in certain forms of railway possibility is as marked as anything that has ever developed in the United States.

There is no small similarity between much that has aroused criticism and opposition in the United States in recent years and the things that have been going on in the new Chinese railway administration and which have now led to the downfall of Yeh Kung-cho, the vice minister of communications; the arrest of Chao Ching-hua, the managing director of the Tientsin Pukow line, and the trouble in which officials of two or three other important Chinese railways find themselves involved.

The scheme is the old, familiar one of diverting what should be official business into lines of private profit; using official position for personal gain.

Yeh Kung-cho was a strong man. He was informed in railway matters, and he was supported by Liang Shih-yi, who was, by general report and until recently, the strongest man in China with the possible exception of Yuan Shih-kai himself.

Mr. Liang Powerful in Finance.

Mr. Liang is a Hanlin scholar, a product of the old school. He has been in official life in various high places and has acquired an immense fortune. He has been closely associated with Yuan Shih-kai for years and it is the common report that it was Liang Shih-yi who, at different times of extreme crisis in the fortunes of his powerful friend, found the means to raise the cash that was necessary to carry on the program upon which they were embarked.

Liang is not now a member of the ministry, but he is head of the bank of communications and owner of a majority of its stock, head of the Chinese administration of the customs and director of the board of revenue.

Liang Tung-yen—not related to Liang Shih-yi—is minister of communications. He is another old friend of Yuan Shih-kai. He was one of a small party of young Chinese who were sent to the United States many years ago to study. Tang Shao-yi and Tsai Ting-kan were others of the same party. All three are well known in the United States.

Graft Common in Railroad.

When Liang Tung-yen came into the ministry some time ago, so the story goes, he found it pretty well packed with men who were not in sympathy with his ideas. It is said he desired a general cleaning up in the railway administration, the elimination of graft, and a substantial development of the system.

There is no doubt that graft permeates the administration and operation of the Chinese railways to an alarming extent. If you have a shipment of freight from here to Tien-tsin, for instance, you cannot entrust it safely to the railway supervision.

The railway will not undertake responsibility for its delivery at Tien-tsin, and if you want to make sure that the freight gets to its destination you must put a trusty man in the car with it and send him along. Otherwise the chances are better than even that the stuff will not arrive at all. Somebody else than the consignee will get it somewhere en route.

Shipping Company Is Responsible.

This fact is so well understood among shipping men that the move made by Yeh Kung-cho was practically inevitable. Instead of trying to clean up the railway operation he organized a shipping company of his own which would take the responsibility for handling goods and would guarantee proper delivery.

This company operated on the Tien-tsin-Kukow line, and it is alleged that Chao Ching-hua, managing director of the line, was the chief agent of Yeh Kung-cho in handling this outside shipping company.

The Tien-tsin-Pukow line had made a contract with the government for the abolition of likin taxes on its line, in lieu of which it was itself to pay 6 per cent of its revenues to the government. That in theory enabled goods shipped over that line to go through from shipping point to destination without the interruption, delay and bother of likin examination and payment at frequent intervals.

But now it is alleged against Chao Ching-hua and Yeh Kung-cho that their company, with the connivance of railway officials, nevertheless did collect likin along the way, and that it was a fat graft.

Line Is Losing Money.

Meantime the official reports of the Tien-tsin-Pukow line showed it to be losing money, although it runs through the most densely populated districts of China and should be one of the greatest money makers in the country.

Despite all the slackness and inefficiency in management, and especially in the collection and handling of the revenues, most of the Chinese railways are tremendously prosperous.

The failure of the Tien-tsin-Pukow line to show up with the others has caused it to be under suspicion for some time, and about six months ago two of the censors set about a private investigation of their own.

They had both had experience in the railway system of China, and knew how to go about their work. Also they employed a number of men who are classed as railway experts among the Chinese, and it is now understood that a mass of evidence has been piled up which it will be difficult for the accused officials to meet at their trial.

Involves Other Lines.

The investigation has already gone beyond the Tien-tsin-Pukow line, and involves the Peking-Kalgan and Peking-Mukden lines. The latter especially has been a great money maker, and its reports put it on the black ink side in the government books, whereas the Tien-tsin-Pukow line went $5,000,000 into red ink last year alone.

When it became bruited about, some time ago, that an investigation of affairs on the Tien-tsin-Pukow line was going on, Yeh Kung-cho advertised in the newspapers that he was not connected with the transportation company through which one of the principal schemes of graft was operated. That did not save him, however, and now he and his brother are both in the toils.

President Yuan Appealed To.

It is reported that Mr. Liang Shih-yi has made a hard personal effort, by direct appeal to President Yuan, to save his friends, but was told that the matter was in the hands of the court, which would have to settle it.

Meantime there is extreme tension in Peking over the whole situation. The friends of the accused men maintain an outward air of optimism and declare it is all a mere political effort, instigated and engineered by opponents of Liang Shih-yi in the government.

The defense they are preparing seems to be wholly in the nature of charges against the other side, to show that the men who originally denounced their friends are in fact the worst of the whole bunch.

Perhaps it will work. But there are a few men in Peking who express the hope that this will only furnish means to President Yuan on which he can clean up the other side as well as the one on which he has started.

BRIDEWELL MEN WORK ON STREET WITHOUT GUARDS

I knew it couldn't have been done with economy.

"So I just considered Morton's remarks and sent out twenty or thirty men to level up the thoroughfare and put it in shape. I didn't think especially about a guard because I knew the men."

"Jimmy" Agrees with Whitman.

At this juncture the superintendent stopped to call in Mr. Morton long enough for a short talk, and the latter not only verified everything that had been said but asserted he wanted if possible to pay off a certain portion of the debt he owed the municipality for violating its laws.

"I do not believe in honor, particularly," continued the superintendent after Jimmy had left. "I believe in judging men. It is human nature. I have never talked to the prisoners here about honor. When I saw that we could do a piece of work on the roads I simply called a few of the inmates who I thought were to be trusted, and told them to go out and do the work. And they did.

Doesn't Believe in Honor Plan.

"I do not believe in putting men on their honor. Here's the big point:

"Some men have honor, but all men have pride.

"Now if I can only make my prisoners feel that they have some pride, I hope to start a 'pride system' that will make a success.

"I try to make each prisoner feel that we are doing something to push him up the ladder instead of shoving him down. And there is a vast difference between pride and honor. A man may do something for pride's sake that he wouldn't do if honor were concerned. A man wants to be respected, not because of his honor but because of his pride."

Again, at this juncture, Superintendent Whitman gave a few of his ideas of what could be done by prisoners.

Many Things Possible.

"Without violating the law," he said, "why could not the city erect all its buildings with these men? They are willing to work. I would not sell their services to any individual, but I would, if not against the law, have them do whatever the city wanted done but could not afford."

The "pride" system, Superintendent Whitman asserts, will continue to be in effect at the bridewell, and—

BOARD MEMBERS AT JOLIET.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 10.—Although mutiny among the 1,800 convicts in the Illinois state penitentiary is still only a secret fear of prison officials, two members of the penitentiary commission, A. J. McGrath of Ottawa and P. W. Faltz of Somonauk, and one member of the board of pardons, William Colbin of Springfield are at the prison under orders from Gov. Dunne to cooperate with Acting Warden Lawrence Ryan in a reconstruction of the "honor system."

Reports of a general mutiny among the convicts last night were found to have originated from the disappearance of one prisoner, who was later found by a posse of guards concealed in a wood pile.

Prisoners in Good Spirits.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—Telegrams to Gov. Dunne today from C. W. Faltz and James M. McGrath, members of the board of prison trustees, now living at the prison at Joliet, said all the inmates were in good spirits. In a message jointly by the two trustees, the governor was told the convicts had applauded his message to them saying the honor system was to survive.

Girls' Sale Nets $7 for Ice Fund.

LEMONADE is a powerful factor in helping THE TRIBUNE ice fund. Five small girls and one boy made a lemonade stand and gave the proceeds to the fund. The result was a total of $7.

The girls were Marjorie Rosenthal, Edna Willis, Lucille Epstein, Jane Shannon, Elizabeth Hyman, and the boy, Jimmy Gerard.

Carolus	2.50
Mary	5.00

H. B. S., Paxton, Ill.	5.00
Julia Rider	2.00
	$ 23.50
Previously acknowledged	1,281.75
Total	$1,305.25

The need of money at this time for the fund is making itself felt through the large number of applications for assistance in the tenement districts.

BOARD EXPELS J. W. PEARSON

Former Evansville Man Who Has Disappeared Accused of Dishonest Practice.

Directors of the board of trade expelled Jed W. Pearson of Evansville, Ind., for dishonest conduct. The expulsion was on complaint of Thomson & McKinnon, a leading board of trade firm. Pearson having absconded last June while in the employ of the firm.

Pearson joined the board of trade last December, but had previously been a member in 1900 and 1910. He had been in the grain and stock business in Evansville for about seven years, representing the Thomson Grain company of Indianapolis previous to being the correspondent there of Thomson & McKinnon.

For a number of years Pearson was in the service of Logan & Bryan of Chicago and New York, having charge of different offices for that firm. He was formerly a telegraph operator.

The amount of money involved was said to be small. Pearson, it is claimed, has not been heard of since last June.

Sunday Clothiers Face Law.

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 10.—The first prosecution of Aurora merchants under a blue law ordinance forbidding labor on Sunday, except in cases of necessity or where some other day than Sunday is observed as the Sabbath, was begun today by City Attorney Kelley. Warrants for three clothing merchants were sworn out on complaint of members of clerks' organizations. The merchants, it is charged, have their stores open for business seven days a week.

BAD POTATOES KILL HORSES

The Illinois Humane society yesterday issued a warning against permitting horses to eat moldy potatoes. Vegetable peddlers and others, it is explained, often litter team tracks with decayed tubers in taking vegetables from the cars. Dr. George McKillip explains that horses after eating such potatoes develop sore throat and then cerebro spinal meningitis. Such an epidemic occurred three years ago.

PACIFIC PAIR DEFEATS EAST IN NET COMBAT

Johnston and Griffin Beat Williams and Washburn; Church Is Victor.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin of California, Pacific coast titleholders, passed the first obstacle in their battle for the national championship yesterday by defeating R. Norris Williams II., Philadelphia, and Watson Washburn, Boston, eastern champions, in five sets; George M. Church, Tenafly, N. J., defeated Heath T. Byford, the Illinois state champion, in the final round for the western championship in a match rivaling the doubles contest in importance; Miss Carrie B. Neely, Chicago, took the women's western singles title by defeating Miss Louise Pound, Lincoln, Neb., and paired with her opponent won the doubles crown.

These were the results of yesterday's matches on the courts of the Onwentsia club at Lake Forest, in which brilliant tennis was played.

Five Sets in Doubles.

Johnston and Griffin surpassed Williams and Washburn in speed in one of the most spectacular matches ever played on the courts. The contest drew out to five sets before the coast men won, 6—8, 6—3, 7—9, 6—4, and 6—4.

The eastern pair took the first two games of the opening set and retained a lead until the sixth game, when the score stood 3—3. Johnston and Griffin went ahead, 5—4, due to flashing play by the coast men, who peppered every ball at Washburn. The Harvard duo broke through after this and the Californians got one more game, Williams and Washburn each winning love games on their service. The coast pair fought hard for the last two games, deucing each several times before the frame went to the Longwood champions, 8—6.

The second set for a while seemed like a driving duel between Williams and Johnston. Williams possessed the hardest serve; Johnston had more power in his volleying strokes. The ball traveled faster than the eyes of the spectators in volley duels, with all four contestants working well up to the net. Griffin made wonderful backhand returns of vicious drives smashed to the corner of the back court by Williams and was almost certain on his overhead smashes. The set went to the coast team, 6—3.

Battle in Third Set.

The longest play came in the third set. As in every frame of the contest, Williams and Washburn secured a lead in the first game. The games went to the teams according to the alternating service until the sixteenth and last game, when the easterners won two in succession, making the set, 9—7.

With the score 5 to 1, in favor of Johnson and Griffin, the easterners rallied by winning the next three games of the fourth set, then collapsed in the final game, losing, 4—6. The last set was a seesaw affair, with the lead alternating until 4—4 was reached. In each of the last two games the losers scored 2 points. The victors scored 185 points to 181 by their rivals.

Church Strong in Title Match.

Byford was able to break through Church's defense for only one set in the finals for the western title. The Illinois champion won many supporters after the first three games, which he won, making the score 3—0. Church took the fourth as a love game on his own service, and by a sustained effort carried off the set with five straight games. Nothing like the brilliant placing of the New Jersey man was seen in previous matches of the tournament.

In the second set each player relied on careful placing to win. It required a calculation of inches for either player to get the ball past his opponent. Church took his serve after the first game was deuced, but Byford came back with a love game. Church and Byford each won two consecutive games, tying the score at 3—3. Four of the next five games went to deuce, Byford depending on lobs to force Church back from his favorite position at the net. He won the set, 7—5.

Byford tired after his great effort and was unable to come from behind in the next two sets. The match by points:

Miss Pound Gets Lead.

Miss Neely was left behind in the early games of the first set for the finals in women's singles, but by killing shots and two love games on her own service succeeded in passing Miss Pound. She won the first set, 6—3. She was never headed in the second frame, and by speedier returns broke through the consistent defense of her opponent, winning, 6—4.

Although they dropped the first set in the doubles finals, 2—6, to Mrs. E. H. Brewer and Miss Katherine Waldo, Chicago, Miss Neely and Miss Pound had the match from the first stroke in the second set, and won a 6—0 decision, the most overwhelming victory in title play in any division of the tournament. The third set was a 6—2 victory, Mrs. Brewer and Miss Waldo being unable to stop the smashes of the winners.

As Miss Mary K. Browne, San Francisco, the 1914 women's champion, is not in Chicago to play the challenge round, Miss Neely gets a clear title.

WILLARD WOULD BATTLE JOHNSON FOR $25,000 BET

BY BILL ROCAP.

[Copyright: 1915: By Public Ledger Co.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—"Jess Willard will fight Jack Johnson under the management of 'John Bull' for a side bet of $25,000," declares Jack Curley, the man behind the champion, in a letter received by the writer today.

This challenge, which Curley and others say Johnson cannot fail to accept, comes as a reply to the charge by Horatio Bottomley, owner and editor of John Bull, a London publication, that the negro "laid down" to Willard for $50,000.

Demands a Showdown.

Curley's letter indicates that both Johnson and Bottomley must immediately show their hand. It follows in part:

"One must realize that $50,000 is barely the price of a cheap bout for Johnson, and I'll wager that five times the amount claimed in the John Bull article would not have tempted the negro champion to forfeit his title.

"Johnson having publicly stated that he will fight Willard for a side bet of $25,000, a sum which I feel sure he cannot raise, and inasmuch as he has further stated that he cares nothing for any part of the receipts, just to call his bluff and feeling sure that he will never go through with it, I will say on behalf of Jones that Jess Willard will fight Jack Johnson under the management of John Bull for the side bet of $25,000.

Fifty Per Cent to Charity.

"Willard will accept 50 per cent of the gate receipts and the other 50 per cent to be donated to charity under the direction of Bottomley. Under no circumstances must Johnson receive one cent other than the side bet if he can win it. Another thing we must insist upon is that Referee Eugene Corri shall act, and that he shall call off all private bets before the beginning of the fray so that Johnson can get no chance to hedge his money by betting on Willard."

DOOLAN-BRODERICK GO EVEN

The bout between Barney Doolan and J. Broderick, which went four rounds to a draw, featured the weekly amateur boxing show at O'Connell's last night. The boxers met at 115 pounds and the judges were unable to give a decision at the end of the extra round. Summaries:

CHICAGO BOYS NET VICTORS.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Richard Doughty was the only Michigan player to withstand the attack of the Chicago contingent here in force to carry the title of champion tennis player of Michigan. State Champion G. J. Green, Weber brothers, and Ketchum, Chicago representatives, won their matches today. The scores of the Chicago entries were:

Singles, third round—Ketchum [Chicago] beat Webber [Detroit], 6-2, 6-0; Green [Chicago] beat Corey [Toledo], 1-6, 6-3, 6-3; James Weber [Chicago] beat Codd [Detroit], 6-2, 8-6; Jerry Weber [Chicago] beat Reindel [Detroit], 6-2, 6-4.

Fourth round—Jerry Weber [Chicago] beat Stevens [Detroit], 6-1, 7-5; Green [Chicago] beat Lightner [Detroit], 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

WARREN LEADS CITY GOLFERS IN TITLE PLAY

Gets Low Score Medal with a 150 Card, Bone Finishing Second.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Duplicating his score of the previous day, Thomas A. Warren of the Jackson Park Golf club won the low score medal in the qualifying round of the city golf championship with a card of 75—75—150, the same total Paul Hunter won the medal with in the western amateur championship at Cleveland. William A. Bone of Hyde Park High school was second with 151, and Murray Deming of Jackson Park, former city champion, was tied for third with Cal Smith, former New York champion, each having 152.

Deming Equals Course Par.

Deming furnished the spectacular round of the day with a brilliantly played round of 71, equaling the par of the course. Matt Kelly, the Garfield Park star, who led on the first day with 72, slumped to 85. The strain of the final round told on thirty-eight others who shot higher figures than on the preceding day.

Warren's victory was the story of a come-back. Going to Cleveland for the western amateur, he did not perform up to expectations, and on returning he decided to play no more this year and sold all his clubs. Then a friend persuaded him to try a few shots with a combination club, and Mrs. Warren gave him similar advice to that wired by Helen of Troy to John Evers: "Stick and show them."

Recovers Putters for $2.

Tom was able to buy most of his clubs back, but his favorite mashie and putter were missing. Yesterday he recovered his trusty putter at an outlay of $2. Then he went out and shot another 75, winning the medal and demonstrating how great is woman's intuition.

Kelly's chance for low score went glimmering when he shot 42 on the out round. Bone went out in 34 and had a fine chance to tie, but he went one over par at the eleventh and twelfth holes and a four at the short seventeenth put him out of the running. Deming was in the race on the final green, which he reached in two. A fifteen foot putt would have tied him with Warren, but he overplayed the hole and took two more to get in.

MRS. ANDERSON SETS SKOKIE CLUB MARK IN WOMEN'S TOURNEY

The setting of a new course record of 88 by Mrs. W. France Anderson of Hinsdale and a fine recovery by Miss Laurie M. Kaiser of Flossmoor featured the second day's play in the women's tournament at the Skokie club yesterday.

Mrs. Anderson made her record in her match against Miss Ruth Layman of Skokie and a former clubmate of Mrs. Anderson. Going out in 46, two under par, the Hinsdale player was 2 up at the turn. After the turn Mrs. Anderson played even better, coming home in 42, six under par. She won, 4 and 3. Miss Caroline Painter defeated Mrs. A. A. Heaning of Wheaton, 4 and 3, and Mrs. H. L. Pound won from Mrs. E. T. Perkins of Glen View by default.

In defeating Miss Fergus of Glen View, 4 and 3, Miss Kaiser scored one of the most sensational wins recorded on a Chicago course in many moons. After the first two holes had been halved Miss Fergus won five of the next six, but the Flossmoor player took the ninth, 4—6, and was 4 down. Miss Fergus was out in 46.

Wins Seven Straight Holes.

After the turn Miss Kaiser gave a great display, taking the next seven holes and winning, 3 and 2. Playing out the bye holes, Miss Kaiser finished in 42, six strokes under par.

DR. ELMER, ARCHERY CHAMPION, LEADS IN FIRST DAY'S SHOOT

BY JACK PROCTOR.

Dr. R. P. Elmer of Wayne, Pa., present national archery champion, turned in high score at the conclusion of the first day's shooting in the thirty-seventh annual tournament which opened yesterday morning at Washington park. Elmer finished the forenoon round leading by a good margin, and through consistent work in the afternoon lengthened the gap between the top and second position considerably. The champion's total for the day was 1,075 points out of 177 hits.

G. L. Nichols' record of 1,032 counters out of 170 hits gave him the next position to Dr. Elmer. J. Duff, a Jersey City man, gleaned 840 points out of 164 hits and ended his day's work a lame third. The second round of play will be put on today.

One of the east's favorite competitors, Miss Cynthia Wesson of Bryn Mawr, Pa., topped the list in the women's Columbia round with 998 points out of 144 hits. Miss Wesson had no dangerous rival in the competition, as Miss Mary Williams of Chicago only succeeded in getting 693 points out of 127 hits, her efforts giving her a poor second in the rating. Miss Mary L. Harlan, also of Chicago, pressed Miss Williams hard for the second berth, but fell short by eight markers, a score of 685 being the best she could total out of 129 hits. Summaries:

GRIFFITHS WINS ON FOUL.

Akron, O., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The scheduled twelve round bout between Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis and Johnny Griffiths of this city proved a fiasco tonight and 2,000 fight fans were disappointed. Referee Pat McIntyre disqualified Saylor in the fourth round for hitting after the command to break. Griffiths had a shade in the first round, but from then on Saylor got to Griffiths and it looked as if the Hoosier lad, if he had been given the opportunity, would have given the local boy the finest beating of his career.

SAM M'VEY STOPS FERGUSON

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Sandy Ferguson, erstwhile comeback, was perfectly satisfied tonight when Referee Young Donahue called a halt in the eighth round. The white man never figured for a moment, McVey dropping Ferguson in the first, fourth, and sixth rounds. Ferguson, while in fairly good shape and showing some of his old time cleverness, never had the power in his punches to stop the colored fellow.

LIGHT EXERCISE.

Ashley called up at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

"How about a little golf this morning?" says he.

"Sorry, but too much work to do," says we.

"Did somebody want you to play golf?" we were asked, when we'd hung up.

"Yes," says we.

"All right. The work can wait."

So we called Ashley back and rescinded the refusal. Then we remembered that there would be an automobile race, and since we'd be so close to the track we might as well attend. But we had no tickets. We looked in the old phone directory, the company having failed to provide a new one, found Parker, Reed L., and called the number that was opposite his name. It was the wrong number. Information gave us the right one.

"Hello. This, etc. How about tickets for the race?"

"Sure. How many?"

"Oh, three or seventeen."

"You can have three."

"Can you leave them somewhere for me?"

"Well, let's see. I can have Jake Smith meet you with them."

Then we went out and began to exercise. Ashley found two old balls in his bag and bought two new ones. We found two old balls in our bag and bought two new ones.

"Eight ought to be enough," says he.

"It ought to," says we.

But it wasn't.

When we drove into the river from the eighth tee it was discovered that there was only one ball left between us. After a brief discussion, the decision was reached that the best thing to do was quit.

Ashley had provided himself with a race ticket, so, with the prospect of three, we looked round for two gents to accompany us. Mr. Terrence and Mr. Templeton were the luckless ones chosen.

The distance from the clubhouse to the southeast entrance of the speedway is about a mile. In the morning's golf we had covered probably four miles, mostly in the rough. So when we reached the southeast entrance, a few minutes after a quarter of two, we had exercised to the tune of approximately five miles.

Jake Smith was not there.

We approached the gateman.

"Did anyone leave three tickets here for us?"

"No, sir."

"A boy was going to meet us here with three tickets."

"Don't know anything about it."

"We can't let you in without a ticket."

Considerable thinking. Then, bidding the two T's wait "a minute," we loosened up to the extent of a dollar, bought a general admission ticket, and started on the long hike.

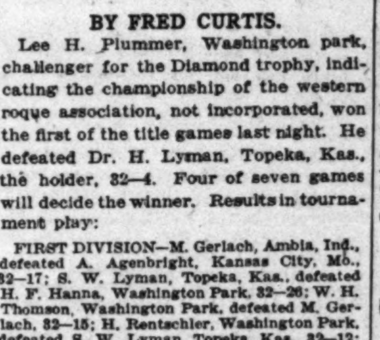

Resta is said to have gone round the track once in one minute and five seconds. This record beats the time we made by forty-three minutes and fifty-five seconds. There are several reasons for the difference. Resta's mark was made on the track, which is shorter than the route we had to take. Moreover, he was driving a high powered racer especially groomed for the occasion. We used our feet for four miles, and for the balance a touring car that had just come out of the shop. Resta made the trip without stopping. We were halted several times for arguments with ushers who displayed a morbid curiosity to see our seat check. They were mistaken in thinking we had one. Then we suffered considerably from tired trouble.

Jake Smith was not in the press stand when we got there. Neither was Parker, Reed L. Our plight was told to J. C. Burton. He came across with a press badge. Some one else gave up a grandstand ticket. Still another produced a plain ducat of admission. Thus armed, we again took up our exercising. But we hadn't gone more than fifty feet when the idea of three miles more of it lost its charm. We turned back.

"Who'll be kind enough to drive me to the southeast entrance?"

"I won't," says Tom Hay, "but you can take my brand new ——— and drive yourself."

The offer was accepted. And to anyone in search of real exercise we recommend driving a brand new car from the press stand at Speedway park to the southeast entrance, part of the way by a road inside the park just wide enough for two cars abreast and with a long line of two abreasts coming in the opposite direction, and the rest of the way on, and off, a mountain path that makes the Alps look like a billiard table.

The day's exercises ended with the three mile jaunt from the press stand to the golf clubhouse via the I. C. and a 100 yard footrace with Carl Devol.

It was not Jake Smith's fault. He says so himself. It was not Parker's fault. He admits it wasn't.

EVENT OF $5,000 TO PETER SCOTT; FAVORITES WIN

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 10.—Favorites went through flying in today's Grand Circuit races here, there being only one upset. That was in the Longworth B. stake for 2:08 pacers. Geers drove Russell Boy, a second choice to the money, in straight heats. The best Single G. could get was finish third.

The Furniture Manufacturers' stake for $5,000 brought out a good field of 2:08 trotters, Peter Scott winning. Summaries:

Beats Brundage of the C. A. A. by Four Points for All Around Title.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Alma W. Richards, representing the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago, won the national title of all around champion today when he took the honors in the decathlon at the exposition stadium. Closely following him was C. A. Brundage of the Chicago Athletic association, 4 points behind, while Chester Fee of the Multnomah Athletic club of Portland was third.

Following are the scores of the leading athletes:

Several Drop Out.

Sixteen men started in the competition yesterday, many dropping out when they saw that they had no chance of winning. As indicated by the closeness of the scores, the ratings of many of the competitors could not be determined until the last event had been decided.

Richards won by good, consistent work. At no time did he place below ninth and he took one first place and three seconds. His poorest efforts were with the javelin and in the 1,500 meter runs. Brundage did not drop below sixth place at anytime and had a majority of fourth and fifth places to his credit. Chester Fee is credited with three wins, the greatest number taken by any of the competitors.

Relay Event to C. A. A.

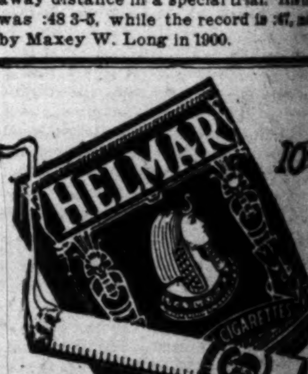

The Chicago Athletic association broke another world's record in the international half mile relay championship. The Cherry Circle team composed of Alfred Booth, Harvey Blair, Harold Smith, and Jo Loomis footed the distance in 1:21 1/5, but on later inspection it was found the course was seventy-four yards short. The Olympic club of San Francisco was second, Los Angeles A. C., third, and Cincinnati fourth.

Most of the C. A. A. athletes left for Los Angeles tonight and may take part in a set of exhibition games if proper arrangements can be made. They were Avery, Brundage, Blair, McKeown, Landers, Graham, Ward, Frank, Loomis, Goelitz, Eby, and Jo Loomis.

Long Run to Kolehmainen.

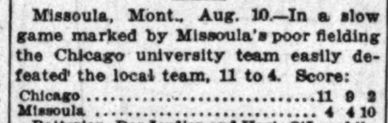

Hans Kolehmainen of the Irish-American Athletic club of New York had no trouble in winning the modified Marathon of fifteen miles from a field of six competitors. His time for the distance was 1:25:51. Villar Kyronen of the Mohawk Athletic club of New York finished second, 100 yards behind the winner.

J. E. ["Ted"] Meredith, national champion in the 440 yard dash, failed to equal the world's record for the straightaway distance in a special trial. His time was :48 3-5, while the record is :47, made by Maxey W. Long in 1900.

ROBINS UPSET ROGERS AGAIN IN BATTLE, 3-1

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Brooklyn's ambitious ball players continued to pommel the disabled and slipping Cubs yesterday, taking the fourth straight victory from the west siders and climbing to within half a game of first place, while the Cubs were kicked mercilessly into the second division. The score was 3 to 1, with most of the hitting on the Cubs' side and all the luck with Brooklyn.

The Brooklyn boys displayed an abundance of pepper and enthusiasm and their defense play sparkled with brilliancy in places. Their opportunities for scoring were few, but they made the most of them and counted three runs, although they accumulated only four base hits.

One little slip in defensive play by Karl Adams, our striving young pitcher, opened the way for Brooklyn to win the game. Karl hurled well enough to win nine games out of ten, but his own blunder in fielding cost him the game.

O'Mara Starts with Walk.

It came in the fourth inning before any one had scored. First he made the mistake of walking the first batter, O'Mara, but he would have escaped without injury regardless of that had he been more proficient in fielding a bunted ball. Daubert laid down the bunt and Adams excitedly scooped it, then juggled it and dropped it until he lost the chance to make a play. Daubert reached first with O'Mara camped on second and there was no one out.

Wheat bounted down toward third base. Adams ambled over after the ball and Phelan dashed in after it. A moment was lost in deciding which should take it, and that moment turned the bunt into a base hit. Adams finally fielded it, but Wheat was over first base ahead of the ball, filling the bags with no one out.

Cutshaw then bounded one down the first base line to McLarry. There was time for a force play at the plate, but McLarry had some juggling of his own to get out of his system, and he chose that critical moment. He lost the play at the plate, but got Cutshaw out at first base: Daubert advanced to third base on the play, from where he scored a moment later on Hummel's sacrifice play to Murray. Adams got the next man out, but those two undeserved runs were over and were plenty to win the game.

Brooklyn Scores Again.

In the eighth inning the Dodgers counted another on a base on balls to O'Mara, a single by Daubert which sent O'Mara to third, and a sacrifice fly by Wheat, this time the fly going to Cy Williams, who made a frantic heave to the plate both too late and too wide to do any business.

Young Adams pitched a much stronger game than his rival, young Sherrod Smith, an aspiring southpaw. The latter had better control, but not as much speed. The Cubs banged him for nine hits, but when he was in danger either he made the batter pop up or else one of his mates arose to the occasion with a sparkling play and ended the fussing.

Adams gave his place at bat to Vic Saier in the eighth inning when the Cubs had two men on bases with two out. There was a possibility of Vic's getting hold of one and driving it into the right bleacher for a homer, which would have been sufficient to have tied the count. Vic didn't hit any homer, or anything else, however. George Zabel, the west side prodigal son, went to the slab for the closing round.

Cubs Waste Several Chances.

Not many openings were presented to the Cubs in the first six innings, but in the last three they were on the verge of driving young Smith off the rubber. Murray opened the seventh with a single, but Fisher followed by slapping into a double play, after which Schulte poled a useless single. Knisely, acting as pinch hitter, and Phelan each got a single in the eighth, but nothing resulted, and in the ninth three singles brought in only one run, which did no good.

Murray started that fuss with a blow over second, and Fisher hit safely to right. Schulte forced Fisher, then Zim forced Schulte, Murray counting on the latter play. Williams followed with a single and took second on Cutshaw's overthrow, Zim going to third. This put the Cubs in position to tie the count with another single. Hargrave was chosen to deliver it, but he rolled out on a ground ball. Score:

PECHOUS WITH CUBS MONDAY

Charles Pechous, the amateur star who won the trip with the Cubs in THE TRIBUNE contest, will not go to St. Louis with the team tonight, but will join it Monday and go on through the east. The young amateur, being a good sportsman, is giving up the St. Louis end of the journey to be here Saturday to help the Western Electrics against the Butler Bros in one of the deciding games for the amateur championship of the city.

KELLY—ARGUING ABOUT THE CHECK.

Rip Van Winkle Back on Diamond.

CANONSBURG, Pa., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Disgusted with the work of the twirler of the McConnells Mills baseball team in a game with the Westland club today, W. C. Bedillion, 68 years old, manager of the former nine, went to the slab and by airtight pitching won his game, the final score being 8 to 5. Bedillion is an old time player who attained prominence in the early '70s.

With the score standing 4 to 2 against his club Bedillion pulled MacCheney, pitcher for the McConnells club, out in the sixth inning. The old timer gave a masterly exhibition, striking out four men, giving only one base on balls, and hitting one man, but allowing no hits.

Bedillion stated after the game that it was the first game he had pitched in twenty-five years.

Notes of the Cubs.

Either Jim Lavender of Jim Vaughn will tackle the Dodgers in the final game today, and there is a possibility that the veteran star, Jack Coombs, will hurl for Brooklyn. Big Wheezer Dell also is a candidate for the Brooklyn job.

Heine Zim was robbed of at least a triple and possibly a home run in the second inning yesterday when Myers legged it to deep left center and made a one handed leaping catch of a swell drive that was ticketed for the clubhouse.

Bresnahan and his men will go on another tour tonight, being booked for twenty-one games in the enemy's territory before returning to the home lot. The tour starts at St. Louis, then makes all the eastern cities, with one game at Pittsburgh on the way east and two on the way home.

Although the Cubs are in the second division this morning, they are only three and a half games from the top. The standing shows New York, Chicago, and Boston to be tied for fourth place, but if one figures it out far enough one will find that New York is 1-10,000th of a point ahead of Chicago, which in turn is 1-10,000th of a point ahead of Boston.

UMP. QUIGLEY IMPROVING; PLANS TO GO EAST TODAY.

Umpire Ernest Quigley of the National league staff, who was injured on Monday when the gas heater in the umpire's dressing rooms at the Cubs' park exploded, has almost recovered and expects to start east tonight to be ready to work in Brooklyn on Friday.

Quigley rested all day yesterday at the West Side hospital and Dr. T. A. Davis, who attended him, said his patient had no serious injuries and would be ready for work after another day of rest, if necessary. It developed that Quigley received a bad bump in the back when the force of the explosion hurled him across the room and against the wall. The blow caused temporary numbness in his right leg and for several hours he was unable to move it. Yesterday he had no further trouble of that sort.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 10.—Pitcher Adams was too good for New York and Pittsburgh won, 8 to 2. Marquard was hit hard and had poor support. Carey was hurt in the third inning, when he stole third, Lobert falling on him and injuring his back. He was forced to leave. Score:

ST. LOUIS FEATURES SPLIT DOUBLE BILL WITH A TRIPLE PLAY

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—The Boston Americans lost ground in the race for the American league pennant in an even break with St. Louis today, losing the first game, 3 to 2, and winning the second, 10 to 3.

A triple play by the visitors featured the second contest. Shotton caught Hoblitzel's fly after a long run, threw to Sisler at first base, catching Speaker, and Sisler threw home, where Severeid tagged Janvrin. Score:

Mackmen Outhit Sox, 15 to 14, but Lose Second Game, 9 to 4

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—By batting two of Connie Mack's slabmen all over Shibe park today the White Sox won the second game of the set, although Jim Scott was lambasted harder than ever before since he shot his first moose. Final score, 9 to 4.

The Mackmen actually made more safe swats off Scott than the White Sox compiled off Bressler and Davis, but the Rowlands mauled the pill harder in the aggregate and also accepted more free tickets to first base. They also gave Scott better support than was forthcoming from the Athletics. Three times the Sox came to Wyoming Jim's rescue with fast double plays that wrecked runs.

Schang Goes Hitless.

A grand total of twenty-nine swats was made during the day, and Wallie Schang was the only man engaged in the scrap who did not get at least one base hit. Eddie Collins led them all with a perfect batting average again on three hits in three times at bat. The other two times he was up Edward drew passes. Fournier also swelled his stick average with three solid ones, but missed a 1.000 swat mark for the day by bouncing out once. McInnis made three hits off Scott in four trips to the plate.

The result hinged on the superior support given Scott. It was not only letter perfect all the way, but it shone brightly in several spots. John Collins saved a couple of tallies in the second inning by a shoestring catch which stole a base hit from Kopf's average with two men on bases.

Weaver Makes Great Stop.

Weaver threw himself flat and smothered a hit from Strunk in the fifth right ahead of a bad mess that would have meant some runs, and in the same round E. Collins and Weaver pulled a double play that helped.

Only once did the Sox fall down behind Scott, and that was due to the presence of one too many Eddies on the team. Lajoie lifted a little fly to short right in the second spasm. Collins went back and Murphy came tearing in after it. Several coaches yelled for "Eddie, Eddie" to take the ball, and there was a near collision between the two Eddies, but they checked themselves in time to let the ball fall safe, and it cost nothing. The Sox have named Murphy "Mike" to get away from this duplication, but the former Athletic has not yet learned to respond to the new one on all occasions

Sox Off in Front.

It was Chicago's game all the way except for a few minutes after the third inning. The Sox started with a lead of one in the second round on J. Collins' triple and Schalk's double before anybody was out. That rally fell short right there, because Blackburne sacrificed, Scott whiffed, and Murphy rolled out to McInnis.

Rowlands Score Two More.

The Sox came back with two runs in the fourth. Schalk walked with one down. Blackburne cut a single to right and Strunk made a wild throw to third, on which Schalk completed the circuit, Lena going all the way to third before the ball was recovered. Scott put his team back in the lead with a Texas league single back of third, then the side went out. Two singles off Scott in the home half cost nothing, for Schalk nailed a thief tryin; to advance on a strikeout.

Eddie Collins led the fifth with a double against the right field wall. Fournier was up to bunt, but McInnis and Schang rode him, and he switched by pulling a grounder past Stuffy for two bases, scoring Eddie. Lajoie knocked down Felsch's hit enough to hold Fournier on third, but he came home on Schalk's fly to center.

E. Collins Leads Attack.

Two more runs were added in the seventh with Eddie Collins as leader again. He started with a walk. Fournier singled him to third, and he scored while Schang was pegging Felsch out. J. Collins flied, but Schalk singled, scoring Fournier. This finished Bressler and Davis replaced him.

The Athletics grew chesty in the eighth and smashed Scott for four safeties, including a double, but got only two runs out of it. The White Sox recuperated those in the ninth when E. Collins led off once more, this time with a single. He stole second and scored on Fournier's two bagger. Felsch struck out, but Fournier stole third and came on home when Schang muffed the throw.

Sox Sydelights.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Two more games here tomorrow and Thursday.

The Sox now have won three straight, which gives them five victories and seven defeats on this trip.

Chicago gained a bit on the Red Sox, and so did Detroit. It is the unanimous opinion in the Rowland camp that they have to beat Boston to cop the bunting.

Mel Wolfgang is laid up with a boil on the thumb of his left hand, and possibly will start for Chicago in the morning, as he is unable to pitch. That reduces Rowland's visible supply of hurlers to five, including Klepfer.

Ordinarily Scott would have been taken out when it was seen how hard he was being slammed today, but Manager Rowland is shorthanded for slabmen and did not want to use up either Benz or Russell today if it could be avoided. They are needed for the remaining two games here.

John Collins was the victim of a double dose of hard luck in the fifth. He was up with Sox on third and second and nobody out. He smashed one over third, but it went foul by a couple of inches. He came back and soaked another on a line over second, but Bressler speared it with one hand, and the other Sox had a belova time ducking a triple play. They did.

WHALES BLANK NEWFEDS, 7 TO 0; BRENNAN STARS

Westerzil's Bat Stops Newark After Winning Eight Games in a Row.

BY J. J. ALCOCK.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—With the help of Tex Westerzil's bat, Ad Brennan registered his first victory of the season today and made it good by shutting out the Newark champions, 7 to 0. Three hits were all Addison Foster allowed McKechnie's fighting clan, and the blows were so widely separated there never was a chance for the easterners to score.

Newark got just three men to second and never could work a man to third. Two of the three who reached Zeiderville stole their way from first, and the third venturer was pushed ahead by an infield out. In all, seven Newfeds got to first base. Two ambled there on forceouts and another made the journey on the only error of the day. Brennan issued only one pass.

Battle for Five Innings.

Despite the one sided score, it was a real battle for five innings. Fred Falkenberg treated the Whales almost as harshly as Brennan did the Newfeds, but Fred pulled a fatal mistake when he walked Zwilling purposely to get at Tex Westerzil in the sixth frame. Tex grew peeved at the slight on his hitting ability and drove home the first two runs of the game with a two base wallop, and again in the eighth Westerzil stepped up and poled a single which scored two of the four runs counted by the Whales in their second successful attack.

Chick Brandom replaced Falkenberg in the last inning and the Tinkers evened up some old scores by pounding him for their last run.

Whales Pole Twelve Hits.

Against Falkenberg and Brandom the Whales massed an even dozen base hits. Three doubles and two triples were included in that mess. Ten of the blows were assembled in the last four rounds, five helping to the four runs scored in the eighth.

Popular priced baseball didn't bring any tremendous gathering to the Newark grounds in Harrison, N. J. There were only about 3,000 who paid to get in, but a good part of that number shelled out four bits for grandstand seats. Still the assemblage probably meant less money than an ordinary Fed crowd in Chicago would bring, and that is not boosting the odd league in Chicago.

Newark started the game with a record of eight straight wins, and for five innings it looked as if Falkenberg would raise the total. The break came in the sixth. Zeider walked and Flack sacrificed. Fischer popped to center, then Falkenberg walked Zwilling intentionally to get at Westerzil. Tex ruined all calculations of the crafty Frederick by shooting a double to right which scored both Zeider and Zwilling.

Score Four in Eighth.

Another Whale spurt in the eighth netted four runs and sent Falkenberg to his bath. Fischer singled, Zwilling doubled, Westerzil poked a one bagger which drove home both runners, and Mann's single, a double by Beck, and Brennan's sacrifice fly counted two more runs before the inning ended. Flack's triple and a single by Dutch Zwilling produced our seventh run against Brandom in the ninth. Score:

NOTES OF THE WHALES.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—McConnell or Black will tackle the champions in the second game of the set tomorrow.

P. C. Lockett, a Texan who has been a friend of Tinker's for years, is keeping Joe company during our stay in New York.

Mosquitoes have been raising cain with the Whales ever since they struck the east. Today the boys on the bench were kept busy as bees brushing away the hungry insects.

Flack kept up his fight for the batting lead in the league by poling a real triple in the ninth. Zwilling gathered the swat laurels for the day with a double and two singles.

Fighting Jim Gilmore and Harry Sinclair watched the game from a box. There is a new story about Sinclair. He sent out a personal representative to get one real star of O. B. and the representative had a certified check for $10,000 to offer the player wanted. The athlete in question couldn't be tempted and when Sinclair got back his $10,000 check he tore it up casually, tossed it aside, and said, "Better luck next time; I should have made it $15,000." That sounds like money.

COMPTON SOLD TO BRAVES.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 10.—Outfielder Bash Compton of the Kansas City American association team was today sold to the Boston Nationals by President George Tebeau of the Kansas City club, which is playing a series here. Compton is a hard hitter and one of the best fielders in the minor organization. Compton was formerly a member of the St. Louis Americans.

"TRIBUNE" AMATEUR SEES NOTHING NEW ON GAY WHITE WAY

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Heine Rasmussen, THE TRIBUNE amateur with Tinker's Whales, has had his first glimpse of night life on Broadway. The white lights didn't impress Heine to any considerable extent.

"We have all this stuff in Chicago," said Heine. "What makes all this talk about Broadway? I don't see anything."

In one respect he hands it to Broadway. "You have to spend money here," he informed his guardian. "I went out for a walk and before I knew it I had bought a straw Kelly. It costs only six bits, but I could get it for a quarter down home now."

Invests in Broadway Hat.

Heine started the trip on a rainy night. He was adorned with a fall lid of the dicebox variety. His hat has caused some little comment by bellhops and waiters, so he grabbed his first chance to beautify his personage with a Broadway straw, but the dicer is carefully preserved for future reference.

Rasmussen and Claude Hendrix attempted to pull a little joke on the boys last night. They went to Forty-second street, hired a hansom cab at a cost of 25 cents, then drove up to our hotel here, but sad to relate no one was around to see them in their glory.

Wants Letters from Home.

Heine likes THE TRIBUNE stuff which concerns himself. He has volunteered to advise the writer of anything worth printing about him. He started by announcing he was peeved because he has had only two letters from girls since he left home. He didn't say whether or not both came from the same party.

BROOKLYN GAMES 10 CENTS.

New York, Aug. 10.—President Robert B. Ward of the Brooklyn Federal league club announced today that, beginning tomorrow, the admission prices to the Washington park grounds would range from 10 cents to $1. In making this announcement he said that 10 cent baseball had come to stay. President Gilmore of the Federal league, who is here, asserted today that the new league intends to center its fight with organized baseball on the question of cheaper rates of admission, and at the same time continue zealously to secure the services of all the star players available.

MARSANS CASE TOMORROW.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10.—A motion to dissolve the injunction restraining Armando Marsans from playing with any club other than the Cincinnati Nationals during the seasons of 1915 and 1916 will be entertained in the federal district court here Thursday.

The Cincinnati Nationals are under bond of $13,500 to indemnify the St. Louis Federals should the latter club win the case.

S'LOUFEDS BEAT BUFFEDS, 1 TO 0, IN 12TH SESSION

Base on Balls, Kores's Two Base Hit, and Sacrifice Score the Only Run.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 10.—A base on balls, a force, a two base hit by Kores, and a sacrifice fly by Hartley, a pinch hitter, scored the winning run for St. Louis against Buffalo in today's twelve inning game 1 to 0. Once St. Louis had the bases filled and in another inning had two men on with none out, but Krapp was steady in the pinches and received good support. Score:

KAWFEDS, AIDED BY SLIPS, NOSE OUT BROOKFEDS, 3-2.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Brooklyn outbatted Kansas City but lost the game, 3 to 2, because of poor fielding behind Bluejacket and through good support given Packard. The locals, needing one run to tie the score in the ninth, made three hits, but a double play and a strikeout by Helfrich, batting for Frank Smith, ended their chances. Myers' batting and Kenworthy's fielding featured.

FOSTERS WIN IN 12TH, 2-1, THEN LOSE TO STARS, 1 TO 0.

The Lincoln Stars of New York and American Giants split even in their double header yesterday, the Giants winning the first game, 2 to 1, in twelve innings, and the Stars the second, 1 to 0. Each team has now won four games and the ninth game of the series is scheduled for this afternoon at Schorling's park.

Both combats were fiercely fought, Wickware of the Giants pitching both games for Foster's club and displaying great form against Sykes and Harvey of the Stars. Scores:

BRIGHT SAYINGS of the CHILDREN

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The stories may be sent in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Little Edward came into the house crying very hard. When his mother asked him what was wrong he cried, "John [his little brother] hit me with a stone." John was called in to explain, and he said, "Well, Edward was throwing stones at me." Edward interrupted him, saying, "Yes, yes, I know; but I missed you every time." J. M. S.

Our 2 year old daughter went to visit her grandparents, and as her great-grandfather also resided there we were discussing how she was to distinguish between her grandfathers. When dinner was announced, and without any hesitation, the baby walked over to her great-grandfather and said: "Come, other grandpa; dinner is ready." M. S.

FLICKERINGS from FILM LAND

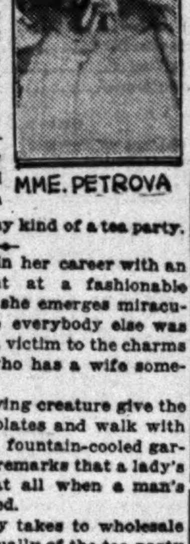

by KITTY KELLY

"THE VAMPIRE."
At the Studebaker.

Jeanne Lefarge	Mme. Petrova
Robert Sterling	Vernon Steele
John Glenning	William A. Morse
Louis Katz	Wallace Scott
Richard Sterling	Lawrence Grattan
Francis Murray	Albert Howson

OLGA PETROVA is the kind of a lady that is easy to look at, both facially and figurely. She rests the eye, and that is the main thing she is listed to do in this production bearing the tantalizing label of "Vampire."

It is a thing of that discreditable texture, suggesting naughtiness by its insinuating label, pandering to the type of instinct that responds to such suggestions, and then no more living up to its title than if it had been called "The Sunday School Picnic."

MME. PETROVA

Of course, its theme is of a lady who smashes hearts for no purpose other than the pleasure in the crash. One gets that idea somehow intellectually, but while she is always surrounded by masculine admirers there is none of the conventional vampiring visible—only one or two soul kisses sizzle, and in the main it is like any kind of a tea party.

She seems to begin her career with an automobile accident at a fashionable hotel, from which she emerges miraculously whole—while everybody else was killed—only to fall a victim to the charms of a hotel guest who has a wife somewhere at home.

We see this deceiving creature give the lady a box of chocolates and walk with her in a sun-kissed, fountain-cooled garden, and a subtitle remarks that a lady's heart is nowhere at all when a man's pleasure is concerned.

And then the lady takes to wholesale heart smashing—visually of the tea party variety—in time ensnaring the first deceiver's son. It must be said in passing that she was a thoroughly grown up lady to have lived so long with all those charms and then to have slipped so easily.

Anyway, after that there is much use of the expressions "vampire" and "human spider" in her connection, a dabbling in some kind of secret service business, an overplump replica of President Wilson, the usual fight, and then the finale with the lady's life seeping out, due to the bullet she caught in her person when she endeavored to save the life of her latest masculine acquirement.

After a picturesque passing away, the conclusion arrives with an illustrative quotation of the Biblical remark in regard to stone throwing, and also there is a personification of the "human spider" effect.

Mme. Petrova is a lovely player, in person and in skill, but she needs something more to play in. Though marked every once in a while by nice photographic bits, this isn't enough of a story to stand, demonstrating again that the screen play must have point and substance other than the scintillance of its featured performer.

THE TRIBUNE weekly, supplemented by Doc Yak frolicing with his trick mule, passes some minutes enjoyably. A small person yesterday was so happy over Old Doc and the mule that he laughed out loud all of the time and carried the rest of the audience, discreetly muffled, of course, along with him.

Producers' Woes.

The folowing alterations were ordered in films inspected by the municipal board of censors at the city hall yesterday.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

by MARION HARLAND

Needs a Long Coat.

"I AM writing in behalf of a dear old lady who is greatly in need of a long, loose coat or wrap of some sort. She is an inmate of a Swedish home, and has such clothing as she can get, but is without a coat. She craves something rather pretty. I have done what I could for her, and if there be a Cornerite who wishes to gladden her old heart I will see that the gift reaches her and will pay expressage on it.
MRS. S. L. H."

I hasten to slip in the foregoing appeal from an esteemed member. The old lady in behalf of whom it is made craves something "rather pretty," as is but natural. She does not stipulate that it shall be in the latest fashion. Your last season's "wrap" will fill her soul with content. Do not let the chill winds of early autumn find her without shawl, or jacket, or cloak.

Her Dolly Must Walk.

"Has any one a doll's go-cart that she does not want? My little 5 year old daughter wants one so badly! She sees other children with theirs and comes in crying: 'O, mamma, please get me a little buggy!' We are hardly able to get along in this world. We dare not think of the merest luxury. I will do anything that I can in return. MRS. D. E. V. N."

Bigger women have cried at sight of equipages flashing by when they had to trudge on foot. Will a junior member who is too big and old to care for dolls and doll carriages write to us forthwith for the address of the wee lassie's mother, and get the carriage to the sorrowful 5 year old before the shortening days prevent long excursions?

Nothing to Play With.

"Has any kind person a doll or any kind of toys to give my three children—two girls and one boy? Their ages are 2, 4 and 6, the boy being the oldest. The father has been out of work for some time, and now the children have the whooping cough. They have nothing to play with. It is hard enough to get food for them. TIRED OUT MOTHER."

"A father out of work" is the too familiar refrain of countless stories nowadays. It keeps up a continual heartache with all who love their fellowmen. Mothers can enter into the meaning of children have the whooping cough." That means worry and distress for the rest of the season. For the love of humanity and out of infinite compassion for mother and babies, make up parcels of toys and send to me for the tired out mother's name and address.

Boy Wants Violin Music.

"Will some of your kind readers send some violin music which he or she has no longer any use for to my boy of 13 years? He has taken lessons since 4 year of age and I now find the music too expensive to buy, as we are at present situated. I will pay postage. MRS. L. R."

The mother's address is in our hands. Her request is modest and our musicians are open hearted and free handed. There must be something in the divine art that fosters the sympathies. The boy will get his music.

Call for Violin Music.

"I write to ask if you know of any old violin music that I could have? I will pay express or postage charges. I am too poor to buy any, but it may be I can help the Corner sometimes in another way. "MRS. P. K."

Calls for violin music have been rather numerous of late. As a rule they have been honored by musicians who could spare copies from their own portfolios. I venture to insert one more in the hope that it may meet with like success.

Fashions from London

by Bessie Ascough

IN ENGLAND the fashions for the little maid are all kept within a most commendable simplicity. There is none of that precocity that one occasionally observes in the dressing of the French child; nor is there that desire for expensive display that I learn is all too often characteristic of childish dressing in America.

From royalty on down through the different social strata everything for the little girl must be simple. The materials must be simple and inexpensive; and the cut must be in accordance with the materials. An excess of trimming—to be deplored in any case—is never seen on childish garments over here. And yet there is always a certain amount of style apparent in even the least expensive of the summertime and the play frocks.

Two charming examples, well contrasted, are illustrated. That on the left shows a white linen—the oyster shade in white which is so much softer and more generally becoming than the plain dead white—which relies entirely upon the handwork for its adornment, for nothing could be plainer and simpler than the cut employed. Back and front are smocked with a fine linen thread of two shades of old Saxe blue; while the collar and cuffs of a fine white India muslin are embroidered in white.

The tailor is responsible for the other little costume, which bears a suggestion of the Scotch kilt suit in its lines. The little jacket has a swinging flare back and front, the dried orange tint of linen being complemented with a binding or a hemming of a wide brown cotton cheviot. The little skirt has a rather deep yoke for its length, the fullness applied in plaits that are not pressed to the brown hem.

Real Love Stories

Gave "Tourist" a Lift.

A RELATIVE of mine about thirty years ago, was owner and editor of a daily paper in a town about forty miles from Chicago. He had a comfortable home and family after a life of poverty. His mother had been deserted by his father, and as she went about to earn her living the boy turned out and hustled for himself. From an errand boy he became a printer's "devil," and from that a compositor, and had steadily risen to his comfortable position.

Because he knew what it meant to be cold and hungry he had been charitable to the "down and outs." He suffered loss many times at the hands of those he had helped; they had gone so far as to even steal his horse. He had now arrived at that hardened "never again" stage.

One evening an hour before closing time a decidedly unkempt individual came into his office and asked for a job. As the editor looked him over he did not see in this trampy looking bit of humanity a likely compositor, even if he needed one, which he did not. The applicant (let us call him Barnes) noted the editor's look of disapproval.

"Yes," he said, "I know I look like a tramp, but I am simply an unshaven, penniless man looking for a job to earn money enough to get back to Kansas City, where I have folks and can get a job. No, I don't show the effects of drink; I have been at it only long enough to lose my job. But I am through with it."

The editor had heard that many, many times before; however, something about the man attracted him. He gave him money for a shave and hair cut, bought him clean linen, and then, after a good dinner at a restaurant, took him down to the station and arranged for his passage to Kansas City on a freight train.

Three years later the editor's daughter spent most of a summer with a college chum in Kansas City. She returned in the fall with an engagement ring. "And, dad, he's a big newspaper man. Aren't you happy?"

The following December he escorted his daughter to the train to meet her future husband. He was not prepared for the shock which he received when his daughter began to introduce him to the man he had put on the caboose three years before.

The daughter's married life has been happy and the editor has great faith in human nature, because he knows of one man who has "made good" in the fullest meaning of the term.

The daughter to this day does not know of one experience which her father and her husband shared. F. H.

Have you a perplexing love affair in which you need the counsel of a friend? Write to Doris Blake, care of "The Tribune." If you wish a personal reply send stamped and addressed envelope.

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. Manuscripts will not be returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

Which Is Proper?

"Dear Miss Blake: Is it proper for the lady to take her beau's arm while out walking in the afternoon?

In getting off a street car should the gentleman go ahead of the lady, so as to assist her in getting off? A. B."

It is not according to Dame Etiquette for the lady to take the gentleman's arm while walking in the daytime. The man always precedes the woman in getting off a car, as it is his duty to assist her in alighting.

Treatment for Pimples and Acne.

[Copyright: 1915: By Antoinette Donnelly.]

THERE are three things you must acquire before your complexion will be clear and good and free from pimples, acne, and eczema. The first in importance is absolute freedom from constipation; the second, a healty diet, and the third is fresh air combined with outdoor exercise.

The best laxatives are fruits and vegetables. Water, too, is an excellent laxative. You should drink at least three pints a day. This will not only have the desired laxative effect but it will also keep the kidneys properly flushed. There should be a daily evacuation of the bowels. And if the fruit or water has not the desired result you must secure it by other means. A simple medicinal laxative is the effervescing granules of the phosphate of soda. Some people, however, cannot take anything which effervesces, and in such cases plain phosphate of soda may be substituted.

Sins of diet, such as hurried eating, eating between meals, especially indulging between meals in ice cream and sodas and other sweets, are some of the things that must be overcome in order that you may rid yourself of acne and pimples. All articles of diet must be easily digested, and they must at the same time be nourishing. Cereals, pies, pastry, fried foods, hot bread, rich gravies and salads, pork, and veal must be excluded from your bill of fare. If you can get along without tea and coffee so much the better. Drink milk. Eat fresh meat once a day and supplement this with eggs and fresh vegetables.

Drink a glass of hot water before your meals, as this will put your stomach in good condition for the digestion of food.

The cause of every acne is the formation of blackheads. Blackheads are, as you know, masses of fat and débris which have solidified in the glands and clogged them up. Persons with coarse pores and large fat glands have the worst cases of acne.

The first thing you must do to cure acne is to get rid of the blackheads by one vigorous scrubbing daily with warm water and a good soap—preferably green soap if your skin can stand it. In addition to this sponge off your face with alcohol in order still further to cleanse it. When pus forms in acne lesions they should be opened with a needle. Before they are opened the surface should be wiped with alcohol and after opening the pus should be carefully taken up with a bit of absorbent cotton which has been dipped in alcohol and squeezed out.

KEEP THE CORNERS OF YOUR CHIN UP

Feet Secrets.

I lived in the country all my life, and from paddling around over country roads and through mud I acquired the habit of lifting my feet at every step. I caught a good sight of myself one day in a full length mirror in a department store, as I walked by, and I realized, with an aching heart, that I walked like a steam shovel. There was nothing in the world I longed to do more than to glide along like a swan on a gentle pond, and I made up my mind that I was going to do it. You'd never guess how I accomplished it. I bought a pair of Chinese slippers that you're sure to lose unless you shuffle along with your feet glued to the ground. I don't mind at all seeing myself in department store full length mirrors now!

What Feet Secrets Have You?

Do you know a successful method of removing corns? Have you found a good way to treat aching, swollen, tired or cold feet? Have you a good treatment for flat feet? Have you made your own feet light and airy? "The Tribune" will pay $1 for every letter published on personal experiences in the good care of feet. Address Antoinette Donnelly, "The Tribune," Chicago. No manuscripts will be returned.

The TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

EDITED BY JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

Thickening for Chicken Broth.

BY adding a cereal thickening to a broth we increase its food value. By adding a thickening of different vegetables we improve its flavor but add little food value. As for the cereal thickening, there is nothing quite equal to rice. Wash two tablespoons of rice in three or four waters, drop it into one quart of boiling chicken stock and boil rapidly for twenty minutes or until the rice is tender.

This amount of rice may be added even when all the vegetables of the thick okra soup are added. If more is used the broth seems to be wasted. If tomato is added with rice to give flavor it should be perfectly ripe. The addition of some boiled down water in which celery has been cooked perfects almost any blend of rice and vegetables added.

No chicken broth, even though it have no other seasoning than salt, needs to have that flavor which suggests feathers, but a potpourri of vegetables and rice sinks this objectionable flavor to a lower level of attention.

MANY articles of family necessity now made in factories were once a regular part of household work. Much drudgery has been shifted from the home. But sometimes the routine preparation and service of breakfast, luncheon, and dinner borders on drudgery or monotony. Why not a family dinner now and then—especially on Sundays—at "Henrici's On Randolph?"

NEWS of the THEATERS

At the Majestic; Notes of the Players.

GEORGE W. ANSON, who plays Sir Robert Shale in "The Lie," has for two generations been an actor highly regarded in London. He was in this country in 1896-'97 as a member of Miss Julia Marlowe's company and took part with her in the production that season of the play made from "Romola" by Elwyn Barron, then critic of the drama for the Chicago Inter Ocean. Mr. Anson also sang in the American production of Audran's opera, "La Poupee." His son, A. C. Anson, is well known on the American stage.

At the Majestic:

Agnes Mahr—A toe dancer, early on the bill, but not too early. Neither she nor her partner suggests punctuality to the audiences this week.

Walter Shannon and Marie Annis—Mr. Shannon in his acting is redolent of the minor Chautauquas, but his voice is clarion when raised in songs of love. They have a small time sketch called "A Shine Flirtation," and in it Miss Annis is pretty and attractive of manner.

Hau Ping Chien—Producing large tanks of gold fish from beneath his voluminous habits and otherwise mystifying the witnesses. Several flexible Manchus bend and distort themselves, and there is juggling, also.

Walter Hines—In clever impersonations of a nauseous he-thing more fitted to the observation of psychopathists than of vaudeville audiences. A good spot for the frowning Funkhouser.

Will Morrissey and Dolly Hackett—Bright young satirists in an enlivening skit, burlesquing many things, including the motion picture drama. One of their film is announced as "'Lost in the Desert,' with Mary Pickford. A Pleasant Death." They are the life line of the bill.

Rex's Comedy Circut—Exhibiting the accomplishments of several ponies, dogs, and cats.

Mrs. Leslie Carter—In "Zaza."

Lee Harrison is to spend the new season in Australia, where he will be employed in extravaganza. His stage career dates back to the Henderson spectacles in the Chicago opera house.

Harry B. Smith, the librettist, is to be represented in the season's nonmusical plays. "The Love-Trap," listed by the Charles Frohman office, is Smith's. He has tried the "straight" drama in the past. Louis Mann once acted for a few weeks in a tuneless play of Smith's, based on a famous old behind-the-scenes comedy called "The Father of the Debutante."

The Crown theater will open for the season next Sunday afternoon with a revival of "Miss Nobody from Starland." E. W. Rowland Jr. has been made manager of the Crown.

Harold Vosburg at the moment of sailing withdrew from the cast of A. H. Woods' London production of "Kick In," and so did Miss Jeanette Lowrie. The lady feared torpedoes en route; Mr. Vosburg, being a Canadian, apprehended conscription.

Rennold Wolf recounts that William Collier, W. L. Abingdon, and an English actor were discussing the war problem in the grill room of the Lambs club.

"I think it is your duty to go home and fight," declared Abingdon.

"It is not for you to say that," retorted the English actor. "You are a British subject yourself."

"Yes, and I tried to enlist," said Abingdon. "I was ruled out by my age."

"I tried to enlist in the army, too," answered the English actor, "but I was ruled out on account of my health. The surgeon discovered that I had a floating kidney."

"You ought to have entered the navy," remarked Collier.

Oscar Hammerstein is writing his biography. His has been the raciest of managerial careers, and his book, if he record but half of all he has been through, should make good reading. He has built ten theaters in New York City; nine of them are extant, and not one under his management and not one bearing his name. He built the Metropolitan opera house in Philadelphia and the London opera house; they are now the property of others. Mr. Hammerstein was indirectly responsible for the founding of the Chicago Grand Opera company, inasmuch as his search for a backer to give opera in Chicago stirred up the local pride of the gentlemen who have stood behind the venture launched in 1910 at the Auditorium.

English actors arriving in America predict that within two months not a London theater will be open.

Bulletins from Salt Lake City and points west indicate that Miss Joan Sawyer, the dancer, accompanied by a chaperon, a motor car, and a mechanician, are about to arrive in San Francisco, there to begin a season in vaudeville.

Among the plays which Augustus Thomas will produce for the Frohman corporation is one by himself called "Nan," the scenes of which are laid in an army post in the southwest, the locale of "Arizona."

Miss Laura Cowie will again be Sir J. Forbes Robertson's leading woman in his next farewell tour.

Sam Sothern, a brother of E. H., and considered by many to be a better actor, is coming from England to play in "A Pair of Silk Stockings" this season.

P. H.

In the pretty operetta at the Grand Miss Maude is employed in dance and song. She is from England and is the sister of Valli Valli, the prima donna of the play.

Society and Entertainments

Gayety at Indian Hill Country Club.

AT the Indian Hill Country club last evening a large private dance was given for some sixty guests by Mr and Mrs. Cornelius Lynde of Bryant avenue, Winnetka. Preceding the dance a dinner was given at the club for twenty by Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lindsley Fiske.

The dance was held in the dining room, which was emptied of its ivory tables and rose and ivory chairs for the dancers, and the orchestra was heard from the verandas, which overlook the golf course. At the south of the clubhouse the small cardroom, furnished in black tables with cerise colored chairs, was used by the guests who did not care for dancing.

The day was very gay at the club yesterday and there were a number of women at the weekly golf luncheon. Mrs. Lyman J. Hopkins entertained a party, Mrs. F. O. McGee, Miss Alice Buckingham, Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Landon Hoyt, Mrs. Edwin Clark, and others were among those who spent the day at golf. The invitation tournament, planned for last week, will take place late in the month, according to present plans and if weather conditions continue favorable.

There was a luncheon party of ten guests, entertained by Mrs. Herman Paepcke of Glencoe, which motored later to Ravinia park for the concert. Among the guests were Mrs. W. A. Alexander and Mrs. Charles Goddard and others whose interest in student-artists' day is especially keen.

Afterwards they were among those gathering about the tea tables in the domino room and on the verandas of the Casino.

There is a delightful informality at Ravinia during the afternoon concerts, for one may watch yards of Irish crochet being finished, bits of tatting completed, and brightly hued wools being knitted into sweater coats while the strains of the Fifth Symphony are filling the air with melody. For it has become quite the fad to bring any fancy work that is in the making and listen to music while some intricate task is being done.

Mrs. Philip D. Armour is at Briarcliff Lodge, New York, where she will remain for the rest of the season.

Mrs. John Winterbotham and her children, 674 Lincoln parkway, are spending the summer at Cape Cod, Mass.

Mrs. Charles Deering of New York City, who has been visiting in Chicago for the last fortnight, leaves today for the east.

Mrs. William H. Moorehouse is at her country place, "Edgewood," Oconomowoc.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Mathews of 1101 East Sixty-fifth street announce the engagement of Mrs. Mathews' sister, Mrs. Grace Margaret Haberkorn, to John E. Quigley. The marriage will take place on Sept. 1 at Holy Cross church.

One hundred and fifty guests attended the wedding breakfast at the Hotel La Salle yesterday of Miss Lauretta Catherine Cummings, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Cummings, 1214 East Forty-sixth street, and Thomas Joseph Nugent, who were married at St. James' Roman Catholic church by the Rev. James L. Kearns.

Mr. and Mrs. Nugent left in the afternoon for the Pacific coast.

Early next week Mrs. Frank C. Letts will leave Little Brook camp, Lake Placid, N. Y., for Manchester, Vt., to remain until Sept. 10.

Mrs. Jean Wallace Butler, president of the Elizabeth Cady Stanton club and member of the executive board of the Chicago Political Equality league, left Sunday for a four months' trip on the Pacific coast. Mrs. Butler will visit the Panama exposition and spend a month in Honolulu before her return.

Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Snyder and their daughter, Miss Marjorie Snyder, of 1451 North Dearborn street, are spending the month of August at Bent's camp on Lake Mamie, Wis.

Mrs. Albert J. Maher of 6642 Kimbark avenue announces the marriage of her daughter, Jeanette Louise, to Ray C. Holton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Holton of 4345 Drexel boulevard, which took place last evening

THE marriage is announced of Miss Goldie Elizabeth Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wagner of 7159 Union avenue, Hamilton Park, to Ward W. Jones, which took place at St. Bernard's church. The couple left for the west and will tour the Pacific coast before returning home Sept. 1.

North Shore Chefs Ready for Big Show

MRS. WILLIAM P. MARTIN and Mrs. Orville E. Babcock, co-chairmen of the committee handling the exhibit of domestic arts and kitchen products at the county fair to be held on the grounds of the Onwentsia club Saturday, Aug. 28, have twice enlarged the size of their booth, and at the rate the entries are coming in will probably have to enlarge it again.

The whole north shore will be represented in this booth, from Evanston to Zion City, and not only are the housewives planning to exhibit culinary articles which they themselves will cook, but the well known chefs and high priced cooks of all the millionaires of the north shore are getting ready for the keenest kind of competition, and the numbers of entrees, soups, hors-d'hoerves, salads, pastry, bread, jellies, etc., which will be entered are legion.

This committee, of which Mrs. Charles Dewey and Mrs. A. Watson Armour are also members, also will handle the refreshments booth, and ice tea, grape juice, lemonade, sandwiches, and attractive lunches will be on sale at very reasonable prices.

Mrs. Babcock has secured very wonderful examples of old fashioned bedspreads, "crazy" quilts, and other needlework, which will also be on exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fisher of Joliet, Ill., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Harold C. Osman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Osman of Chicago.

George Stuart, the Misses Harriet and Elizabeth Stuart, and Charles Stuart of Kenilworth have just returned from a trip to South America. They were among the passengers that boarded the Kroonland at Colon, Central America, for the trip through the Panama canal to San Francisco.

Elizabeth Gordon, author of "Flower Children," "Butterfly Babies," and other juvenile books, has returned from California and will be at the home of Mrs. E. A. De Luce at 54 East Elm street for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sampson of 2155 West Jackson boulevard, who are motoring through the New England states, will be at home Aug. 15.

Dr. and Mrs. Cassius Clay Rogers have left to spend the rest of the summer at their ranch in Montana. They will make the trip by motor, returning in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hodges of 61 Bellevue place are leaving this week for a hunting trip in the Canadian Rockies. They will go from there to San Francisco and return by way of the Panama canal about Nov. 1.

Dr. and Mrs. Heliodor Schiller, 5042 Drexel boulevard, have returned to the city after a month's sojourn in California.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Stern of Savannah, Ga., to Max Beck of Chicago will take place this evening at the home of the bride's mother in Savannah. The bride and bridegroom will arrive in Chicago on Friday and will be at home at 1832 Berenice avenue, the home of the bridegroom's father, Henry Beck.

CHARLES H. CLARK, WRITER AND HUMORIST, PASSES AWAY

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Charles Heber Clark, humorist, journalist, and publicist, died this morning in a hotel at Eaglesmere, Pa. He was 74 years old July 11 last. Nearly a generation ago Mr. Clark was one of the most widely known American authors, writing under the pen name of "Max Adeler." Under this pseudonym he turned out such widely read stories as "Elbow Room," "Out of the Hurly-Burly," "The Quakeress," and other narratives which won him a lasting place in the hearts of American readers.

NOVELIST MARSH IS DEAD.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Richard Marsh, the English novelist, died at his home shortly after midnight this morning.

CAPT. BRADLEY DEAN, who was for forty years a resident of Chicago, died yesterday in Milwaukee, where he had lived for the last two years. He was a leader in various army organizations in Chicago. He was past commander of the George H. Thomas post of the G. A. R., president of the Western Society of the Army of the Potomac, and a member of the Loyal Legion. He was born in Keene, N. H., Oct. 11, 1840. He served throughout the civil war and was made captain of the Third Massachusetts cavalry in 1863. After the war he entered business in Chicago, and was secretary and treasurer of the Dean Bros. Blank Book and Printing company.

JOHN FITZGERALD of 6932 Bishop street died yesterday. He has been an inspector in the sewer department of the city for thirty years. He is survived by a widow.

EDWIN GREENE, composer of several songs which gained world-wide popularity, died in London last night, aged 58 years.

McCormick to Tell of War.

R. R. McCormick, THE TRIBUNE war correspondent, who recently returned from the war fronts in Europe, will address the members of the Advertising Association of Chicago at a noon luncheon tomorrow. He will speak on phases of the war situation as observed from the vantage point of the firing line.

"Mr. McCormick has had rare advantages for unbiased observation, and we esteem it a great privilege to hear from him direct, and in person," says a notice announcing the luncheon.

The Gardener at Work

Children's Flower Shows.

ANY neighborhood with gardens can make a creditable display if the exhibits are well arranged. By keeping flowers and vegetables fresh and attractively placed a show does not lose its interest.

One committee should promote interest and hunt exhibitors, a second should construct exhibition tables with display shelves, and plan the arrangement, a third instruct exhibitors how to clean, bunch, tie and keep fresh their products, and a fourth committee place them according to plan, while a fifth inspecting committee should see that exhibits are attractive, faded material thrown away and fresh introduced, even if the show lasts only a day. This division of labor will interest more persons and increase public spirit.

Vegetables must be chosen from the best, cleaned, trimmed, and put on paper plates. The large vegetables at the back and color contrast and harmony kept in mind. Pictures can be made of vegetables. Tall flowers must be at the back and short in front.

While flowers may be picked the night before, long stems, plenty of leaves, and perfect bloom can be kept fresh by putting stems in water and setting in a dark place. Then wrap in a damp paper with dry paper on the outside to carry to the entry. There vases, simple in shape but good design, are ready for the bloom.

Read the entry conditions. If ten persons are wanted be sure you have chosen the best ten. If you think you can improve on the arrangement committee's plan, say so.

CONDON WEALTH CUT BY LOSSES, FRIENDS ASSERT

Friends and former associates of "Blind John" Condon, one time gambling king of Chicago and turf dictator of half a dozen states, are inclined to discount reports that he left a large fortune. Published estimates of his wealth are all too high, they said yesterday. Several friends ventured the opinion his estate will not total $200,000.

"Of all his holdings, the Harlem track is the only one which has increased in value since its purchase by Condon," one acquaintance declared. "Many of his projects cost him heavily in recent years, as they were lying idle. Reports to the effect that he was a millionaire sound foolish to me."

Family to Get Estate.

It is understood Condon's widow and two children, John Jr. and Mrs. R. J. Wright of Philadelphia, will inherit the bulk of the estate. The son lives at the Condon home, 2623 Michigan avenue.

Two sisters, Mrs. John Gerrard and Mrs. John Mulcahy, both of Logansport, Ind., where "Blind John" was born sixty-one years ago, may receive small legacies.

With the death of the former race track ruler old timers of Chicago's sporting fraternity were moved to reminiscence concerning him. Friend or foe—and he had many of the latter—all conceded his ability as an organizer and in handling men. His philosophy, they said, is epitomized in one of his favorite expressions:

Friend and Foe Recall Career.

Two of those who recalled incidents in his life were T. G. O'Conner and Fred T. (Bud) White, the former a friend and the latter an enemy of the dead racing promoter. White knew him best, for the two men fought each other in business for years. Mr. O'Connor was one of the few men who ever uncovered Condon's philanthropies, which, though numerous, were little known.

Hold Man Wanted at Capital.

Adolfo Luria, arrested some days ago by detectives from the bureau on advice from Raymond W. Pullman, chief of the metropolitan police of Washington, will be taken into custody by the government this morning for extradition to Washington. Luria was indicted for the alleged theft of stamps valued at $500.

We Announce That Always-Awaited Twice-Yearly Event Known as the

$1.05 Shirt Sale

Which Begins This Morning with 10,500 Fine Shirts Usually Priced a Third More to More Than Double

ON the day of this recurrence, as we look back upon our plans and view the results here before us in such concrete form as these immense stocks of shirts themselves, we feel sure that this $1.05 Shirt Sale this year will be the greatest of them all.

Should we attempt to enumerate what these shirt stocks contain?

The sweeping assertion that they disclose about every good pattern and color that has been brought out this season is literal fact!

Thousands and Thousands of Soft-Cuff Shirts as Well as Many Negligees and Plaited Shirts

Mercerized Fabrics. Printed and Woven Madrases. Fine Percales

And what makes this sale still more noteworthy and unusual is the complete size-ranges from 14 to 17-inch neckbands throughout the many different patterns and colors.

—$1.05 each. Sale begins this morning

It's the mode of the moment—so, we believe, keen interest will be created by this special group of new taffeta frocks we are presenting today at $22.50.

As to the Taffeta Frock Pictured—

It presents a wealth of clever details—all pleasingly new. For instance, the odd combination of back yoke and collar, the crispy frilled organdie vestee, the sashed girdle and the deeply yoked skirt. In navy blue, green, gray, black. $22.50.

Other Taffeta Frocks of a Rare Good Style at $22.50

Misses' Fall Suits at $35

There is something about its combination of soft wool fabric and bright silken braid that seems irresistibly youthful.

The skirt has an odd panel-and-yoke effect at the front and deep side pleats, very smart and exceedingly new. Both in navy blue and black—sketched here—$35.

New Lines—New Shades—New Touches—in Misses' Fall Suits at $18.75 to $75

Fourth Floor, South Room.

Among Many Interesting New Arrivals—

Fall Blouses of Marquisette and Taffeta at $5.75

It is hard to decide which is the more interesting in these new blouses—the smart combination of silk marquisette and taffeta silk or the charming style of their fashioning!

To the Smallest Detail They Are New, These Fall Blouses at $5.75

Fall Blouses of Georgette Crepe at $5.75

EACH INDUSTRY BOARD FACTION TO HAVE CHAPTER

But One Report Will Be Made, but All Views Will Be Given.

PHONE CHARGES ARE AIRED.

The federal commission on industrial relations will submit but one report to congress. It will be compiled by Aug. 23, when it must be in the hands of the public printer.

This was the announcement that followed a "peace conference" of the nine commissioners yesterday. At the conference differences of opinion were smoothed over and it was decided that the submission of separate reports setting forth the varying conclusions of the commissioners was unnecessary. Because of differences between the members three reports were threatened.

All Opinions to Be Submitted.

The report will incorporate the several opinions of the factions of the board. From now on the various reports to be included will be discussed daily by the commissioners. Yesterday a part of the report of Prof. John R. Commons of Wisconsin was considered. Another report discussed was one on "Scientific Management" prepared by Prof. Robert Hoxie of Chicago, Robert G. Valentine of Boston, and John B. Frey, editor of the Molders' Journal.

B. M. Manly made public a copy of a letter addressed to the Bell telephone lawyers answering its objection to the findings of the commission with regard to working conditions of telephone girls.

Replies to Objections.

The letter takes up the original statements of the commission, gives the company's objections, and replies to them. In answer to the charges that regular hours for operators are from seven to nine hours a day, the company stated that the average hours of operators in fifty-eight largest cities are 7.7 per day, and calls attention to two relief periods of fifteen minutes each, thus reducing the average to 7.2 hours. To this the commissioner's letter says:

"We have to reply that the operators of Chicago work eight and one-half hours, and in Madison, Wis., work nine. Furthermore, we know of no other company which would even consider deducting from an employé's time the necessary period for physical relief."

Charge Company Is Evasive.

On the charge that night operators go and return from work "subject to grave menace," the company asserted that operators "do not work under conditions which subject them to grave menace." This is considered an evasion.

The company objects to the original statement that the condition of operators are subject to grave criticism by asserting that it gives reasonable hours and fair wages, and in addition pays careful attention to details affecting operating conditions. It points out its systems of rest rooms, lunchrooms, heating and ventilation. In answer to this the commission says the company's provisions in this regard are a "duty which any company should make without self-laudation and does not compensate for low wages and unreasonable hours of work."

"Own" and "Control" an Issue.

To the statement of the commission that the American Telephone and Telegraph company controls 70 per cent of the telephone business of the United States the reply is made that that corporation and its associated companies own 58.3 per cent of the telephones in the country.

The letter charges that is another evasion, drawing a distinction between "control" and "own." It contends that gross incomes are the only fair measure of business and states that of the total income of $353,081,234 in 1912 from all telephones in the United States the Bell companies received $199,172,154, or 78 per cent of the total.

On the commission's fifth indictment, that the Bell company has been enormously profitable and can well afford the necessary improvements in working conditions, the company says the per cent of total net earnings to average capital obligations in 1914 was 5.51 per cent, and denies this is "enormously profitable."

In reply to that the letter states the reason for the low earnings percentage is because earning capacity has been capitalized to produce that result. It charges the company's capitalization does not represent investments in the property, but merely "its capitalized earning capacity."

NEGRO SOLDIERS AND WHITES FIGHT AT ILLINOIS CAMP.

Quarrel Between Militiamen and Civilian Leads to Melee and Broken Heads—Trouble Quelled.

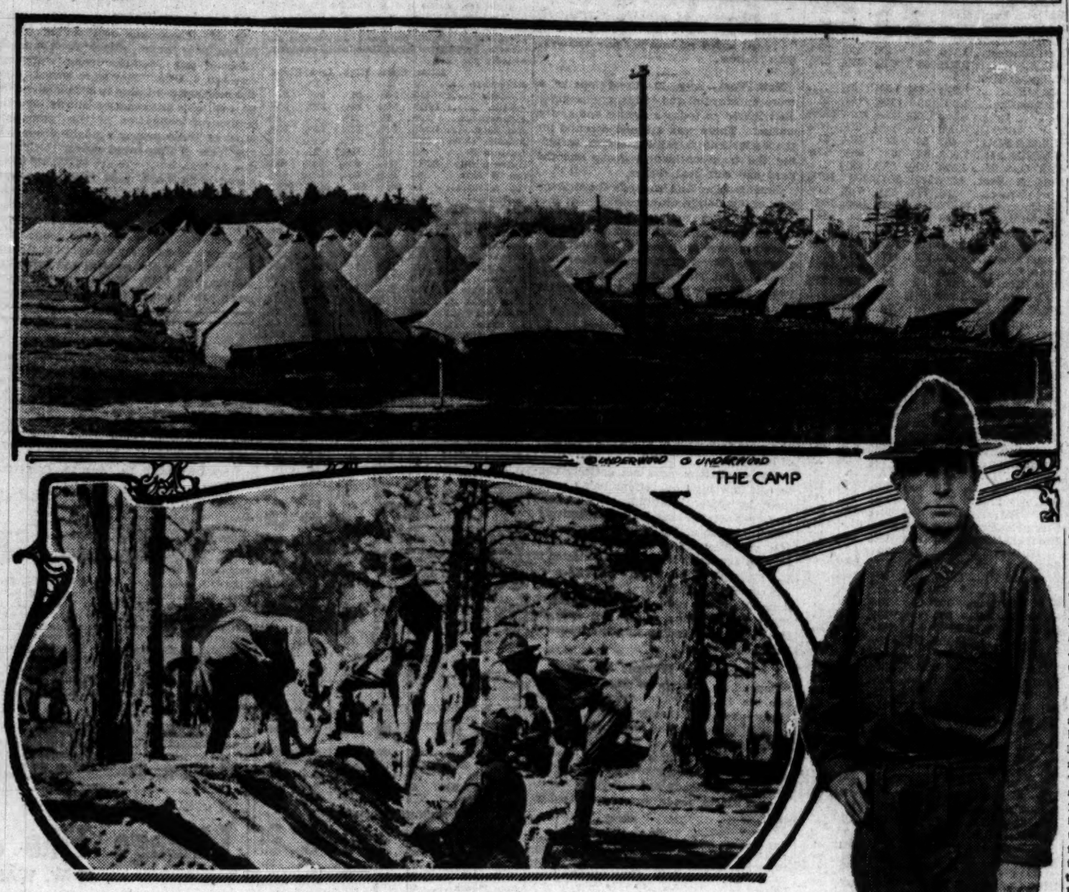

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—Following the stabbing of a negro soldier, a member of the Eighth regiment, I. N. G., of Chicago, Camp Lincoln tonight was the scene of an encounter between whites and blacks which for a time threatened to become serious.

Several white men and boys were severely beaten before the members of the regiment were forced by officers to return to their quarters.

The trouble started when a soldier engaged in a quarrel with a white, and the former received a severe cut across the face. The negro rejoined some of his comrades and they rushed to the scene of the fight. The first white man they encountered was pointed out as the negro's assailant and was set upon by members of the regiment. Other whites were attacked.

The trouble was reported to the adjutant general and Gov. Dunne and an investigation ordered.

MERRITT SEEKS TIP VIOLATORS

Reporter Beats Him To It and Finds It Easy to Give Gratuities.

Announcement that Edward L. Merritt, member of the general assembly, will come to Chicago this week to seek violations of the new anti-tipping law was made in a dispatch from Springfield last night.

That Mr. Merritt will find it necessary to do any extended gum shoe work to discover that the law is not being observed in Chicago was demonstrated by a visit to loop concessions of J. Russo, the tip king, by a reporter. It was found that Russo still is operating his checkrooms with girls with pocketless dresses as of yore and collecting the proceeds under the protection of his recent injunction prohibiting the hotels and restaurants from canceling his contracts with them.

Gives All to Employer.

At the College Inn, a young woman who was checking hats and wraps frankly stated that she didn't get the money—that it was turned over to her employer in the same way it was before the anti-tipping law was passed. She said she expected her job to remain the same as long as the injunction endures.

In the meantime, at Springfield, Mr. Merritt expressed his determination to find out whether the law "has any teeth."

"The law says space in public resorts must not be leased for the purpose of demanding or receiving gratuities or donations—in other words, tips—from the public. Yet it is being done in Chicago.

Warns of Penalty.

"There is a penalty, too, I'll remind you, of imprisonment and a fine not to exceed $10,000.

"I may turn any evidence I get over to the attorney general for action; or I may demand that the state's attorney of Cook county take it up," declared the author of the anti-tipping law. "In addition I'll quite likely get a lawyer of my own to help me out.

MRS. J. D. ROCKEFELLER'S BODY TAKEN TO CLEVELAND.

Coffin Removed from the Vault at Sleepy Hollow, Tarrytown, to Lake View Cemetery.

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Taken through a driving rain storm from the vault at Sleepy Hollow, Tarrytown, in which it had rested since March 15, the body of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller was transferred today to Cleveland for burial in Lake View cemetery. Such secrecy marked the removal that only with the arrival of the coffin at Cleveland did the plan of the family become known.

It had been Mr. Rockefeller's purpose from the time of his wife's death, March 12, to lay her to rest in Cleveland, her girlhood home.

Monday morning word was sent to Charles Vanderbilt, a Tarrytown undertaker, to prepare for the shipment of the body that evening. He got the permit for the removal.

TAKE YOUR PICK! DURSO MYSTERY

Did He Say It or Did He Not? Is He Fired or Is He Not? Or Was He?

What John Durso, guard at the Cook county jail, was reported to have said on Monday regarding the two assistant jailers:

These men are getting rich through tips received from friends of prisoners for permitting them to pass whisky, cocaine, morphine, and other drugs to prisoners. Conditions are so rotten that any man with money can get drunk in the jail.

Last night at 8 p. m. Durso in "The Tribune" office said:

I never accused the jailers. I haven't been fired, but I'm going to quit.

Last night at 8:30 p. m. the City News bureau reported Durso as saying:

I will be able to give Mr. Hoyne specific instances to support all the things I have said about conditions in the county jail.

Last night at 9 p. m. Jailer Will T. Davies said:

Durso is a sorehead. He knew he was booked for dismissal and planned a way to get even. Against Durso himself there have been a number of charges. He drank heavily while on duty, was in the habit of leaving the jail without permission, was a couple of hours late in reporting quite often, and once permitted a prisoner to leave his cell contrary to the regulations.

Deputy Sheriff Peters said:

Durso has been in trouble while employed in the county treasurer's office and as a deputy sheriff. From both offices Durso was dismissed.

OVER TEN THOUSAND FROM TENEMENTS GET OUTINGS.

United Charities Midsummer Report Indicates Last Year's Total Will Be Exceeded.

More than 10,000 sick and tired mothers and children from the tenements of Chicago have been sent to camps and farms with the assistance of the United Charities thus far this summer, according to a report just published. Before the season is over it is expected the figure will overtop that of the previous season, which was 15,000.

Over 7,000 of the 10,000 children were sent by the United Charities from its nine city districts. The remaining 2,000 were recruited by cooperating agencies.

Nearly 1,200 mothers and children enjoyed happy days at the United Charities camp at Algonquin, on the Fox river, 700 of these going to the Tribune hospital, while about 100 were sent to the tuberculosis camp, Harlowarden, at Cherry Hill, on the banks of Hickory creek, near Joliet.

Nearly 1,200 boys and girls have been on farms on outings averaging two weeks each, and farmers in Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan are sending in requests daily for more.

CHICAGO LEADS IN CHARITY.

Disburses More than Any Other City in Winter Assistance to Families of Poor.

Chicago, through its United Charities, spent 75 per cent more money for the relief of poor families last winter than any other city in the United States, according to a report just issued by the charity organization department of the Russell Sage foundation. The report shows that Chicago disbursed nearly $97,000, while the next highest city, New York, disbursed $55,300.

RECRUITS BEGIN REAL ARMY LIFE

1,200 Business Men Reduced to Common Level at Training Camp.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—All civilian garments were removed today by 1,200 business men in the army instruction camp here and they slept tonight in uniform cots, under uniform blankets in uniform tents, and tomorrow morning they will arise at 5:45 as olive drab soldiers. They have been reduced to the dead level of equality and find it thrilling.

On every side are heard expressions of great joy in being on a common level of exalting comradeship. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., Robert Bacon, Mayor Mitchel, and the other personages in camp no longer attract attention from their comrades.

"I hope they give it to us hard," is a common remark, and the reply is: "I am here to obey orders and go the limit."

Recruits Enjoy Camp Life.

"I have 5,000 men under me when I am at home," said Private Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York, "and it is the greatest relief to be a private. I propose to do nothing but obey orders for a month. I recommend this army experience to any man who wants to get a real nerve rest."

Gen. Wood arrived today. He and all the other regular army officers are enthusiastic over the spirit and the material gathered here. There is an entire absence of hazing. The regular recruits have adopted a kindly, courteous manner that promises immediate results.

George French Porter, whose efforts brought the western detachment to the camp, has been assigned to Company P, and is quartered with Abram Poole. They spent the afternoon making an excellent trench to keep the water out of their tent.

Chicago Men Among Soldiers.

In Company B there are five Chicago men and more than a hundred from New York, Philadelphia, and Boston. Four of the Chicagoans were this afternoon made noncommissioned officers. They are: R. H. Little, Otto McFeely, Harry Hill, and Arthur C. Marriott.

Barrett Andrews, formerly of Oak Park and Chicago, but now a magazine publisher in New York, was made a corporal in Company E. C. R. Lee of Chicago, who never was in a military camp before, was asked to serve as corporal but declined. R. D. Bocam and John Smuller have been elected to take the field artillery course which will follow a week of preliminary work.

BURTON AVOIDS N. A. M. MEN.

Former Ohio Senator Refuses to Appear on Spokane Platform with Pope and Emory.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Former United States Senator Burton of Ohio, after consulting with a number of local Republicans interested in his candidacy for the presidential nomination, withdrew his offer to speak before the members of the Spokane chamber of commerce today when he found that he must appear on the same program with George A. Pope of Hartford, Conn., president of the National Manufacturers' association, and James A. Emory of Washington, D. C., former counsel for the organization.

SAYS VALUES IN LOOP ARE FAIR

Hoyne Holds to Cut Assessments Would Work Injustice.

Granting the petition of the loop property owners to reduce valuations in that district to the old figures would be equivalent to making these owners a present of $1,000,000 and collecting that additional amount from other parts of the city, according to State's Attorney Hoyne.

Mr. Hoyne made this assertion yesterday in a letter to the board of review. He urged that the petition be denied, declaring that loop property is now undervalued about 20 per cent.

Six million dollars probably will be lopped off the assessors' valuations of real estate in Cook county as a result of the complaint made by the Central Terminal Railway company.

John McInerney, attorney for the company, informed the board the railroad's property, under a decision of the County court, could only be taxed by the state board of equalization. Mr. Hoyne notified the reviewers he would not appeal the County court's decision.

Chicago Furnace Supply company, $10,589 to $8,589.

Following the protest of Berwyn property owners, that real estate valuations there had been increased unjustly by the board of assessors, the board of review yesterday appointed a committee of real estate experts to investigate.

The valuation for the town was increased by assessors from $1,524,190 in 1914 to $2,826,188 in 1915. This is said to be the largest proportional increase of any section of the county.

George H. Norton, president of School District 100, said inequitable taxation in District 98 resulted from the desire of residents there to obtain more money for better schools. The local assessor was said to be "over-enthusiastic."

The personal property valuation of $369,904 against the Standard Oil company was confirmed, as was that of $283,422 against the Jones & Laughlin company, steel manufacturers.

Jackson Boulevard Law O. K.

An ordinance providing for the improvement of Jackson boulevard from Hamlin avenue west to Kenton avenue was approved yesterday by the West Chicago park commissioners

BOTTLES SMUGGLED AWAY.

"Hobo Jack" Borzik, Evanston bootlegger, again escaped prosecution for selling liquor without a license when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Samuel Harrison yesterday. Borzik has dodged the law for so long that he is known as "The Immune." Justice Harrison also allowed four other men accused of running blind pigs or frequenting them to go free.

Evidence of liquor selling which Assistant State's Attorney Hart E. Baker declared more than sufficient to send Borzik to jail or to be fined was heard. Then Benedict Short, representing Borzik, stepped in with two arguments which Justice Harrison said "forced" him to dismiss the case.

If Not This Way, Then That.

Lawyer Short said that under the law all that Justice Harrison could do was to hold the bootlegger to the grand jury for indictment. No fine could be imposed, he said, under the criminal proceeding which had been instituted. The assistant state's attorney pointed out that for many years other justices of the peace had fined illicit liquor peddlers, with no question of their authority to do so. After the magistrate ruled against the state on this point, and Prosecutor Baker asked that Borzik be held to the grand jury, Lawyer Short found a new legal wrinkle in the way.

This time he argued that no justice could continue a case for more than ten days and that a continuance of two weeks in the Borzik case made prosecution impossible.

Although the longer continuance had been agreed upon by the assistant state's attorney and Short, in the presence of the justice, the latter ruled that the lawyer's point was well taken. The cases against the bootlegger were then dismissed, as were cases against Fred and Martin Brosius, Peter Jowinski, and John Zelinski.

Has a Friend at Court.

"Don't you think you might have waived some of those questionable technicalities?" the justice was asked, "in view of the unmistakable evidence and the demand of the citizens of Evanston that these vicious joints be wiped out?"

"O, now, really, I couldn't do anything else but follow the law," insisted Harrison.

The presence in court of Justice Schmitz of Morton Grove, who admitted that he was a personal friend of Borzik's, was said to have intimated an attempt to influence Justice Harrison in his decision.

That Borzik's friends were trying in various ways to block the prosecution was seen in the temporary disappearance of several bottles of beer which had been placed on the judge's bench. While the constable was outside seeking a jury venire the deputy sheriffs left the courtroom for a moment. When they returned the evidence was gone. Later Justice Harrison happened to kick his feet against the waste basket under the bench. The beer had been placed in the basket.

GIRL WEDS, BUT DOESN'T REALIZE IT'S A CEREMONY.

She Gets License Just to "Worry" Parents, and Now Asks Annulment of Marriage.

"Your oratrix also thought that she could, by allowing a license to be issued, surprise and worry her parents and relatives."

Had it not been for her colossal contrariety, Miss Lillian Phillips of 1428 South Ridgeway avenue would never have been where she is now. And that's in the Superior court, petitioning to have severed the tie that binds her to Joseph Siegel.

Siegel began calling on her parents a few weeks ago in reference to some real estate in which he and they are jointly interested. His eye dropped on Lillian, and, behold! she looked good.

For three or four weeks he had been advising her urgently and sincerely to marry him. Her parents objected. So did she. Then he twisted his tactics.

"At least," he begged, "let's get a marriage license, and you'll decide later whether the world shall be mine."

So last Thursday she accompanied him to the county building. Some one asked her a few questions. Then Joseph guided her to the ninth floor of the city hall, where somebody else asked her a few more questions. All the details were arranged by Siegel out of her presence.

"All right, dear heart," said Siegel at last. "We have the marriage license."

And Lillian went back to the department store where she works, glowing comfortably in the knowledge that, though she didn't think much of Siegel and surely would never, never dream of marrying him, yet she had done something that would make her elders dance with anxiety.

"Ha, ha!" he laughed. "Foiled! Fair Lillian's mine and there be none shall part us. We were married yesterday. If you try to keep her from living with me, I've got a hard fist!"

"Me married?" she echoed. "I should say not. We just got a license."

But she investigated. And she found she had been married. The ceremony was performed by the Hon. Rufus F. Robinson, a judge who has been sitting in the Municipal court.

But Lillian didn't know she was getting married and she wants the marriage annulled.

She's Still After a "Rich" Husband.

MISS LUDVIKA GINETIS

Little Ludvika Ginetis is on the matrimonial market once more. Out of 217 prospective husbands who came forward when her father advertised for a well fixed son-in-law last June, not one has been found on whom Ludvika and the rest of the family can agree. So Ludvika and her father, who is janitor of the apartment house at 805 Bradley place, came to THE TRIBUNE yesterday to see if something couldn't be printed that would turn up another batch of eligibles.

"Please put something in the paper that will get me a good, kind husband," pleaded Ludvika—"Lood-week-a" is the way you pronounce it. "I would like to get a rich one; some one that makes as much as $20 a week, maybe, and could take me on a vacation. You must hurry, for I am getting older every day. Already I am past sixteen."

Firemen Generous in Gift to Fund.

THE relief fund of the mayor's committee reached a total of $339,941.47 yesterday. Contributions amounting to $2,747.76 were received during the day. The largest of these was from the members of the Chicago fire department, which was $1,720. The others follow:

Colleen theater	5.00
Pratt & Lambert	50.00
Strand Theater company [children's performance]	604.20
Excelsior Baking company	10.00

Total	$ 2,747.76
Previously acknowledged	337,193.71
Total to date	$339,941.47

Add to Tribune Fund.

Additional contributions to the fund for the relief of survivors of the Eastland disaster were received by THE TRIBUNE yesterday as follows:

John F. Hennessy	$ 5.00
L. Klein employés, credit department	3.00
Mrs. S. Kulvinsky	5.00
Rose theater, 286 Milwaukee avenue	30.00
Universal Theater company, Salt Lake City, Utah	100.00
Yesterday's total	$ 143.00
Previously acknowledged	21,326.03

Judge Landis Orders Confiscation When He Learns of Violation of Mandate.

G. A. Magie of the Universal Weekly, a moving picture organization, ran contrariwise to the order of Judge K. M. Landis, which provides that no one except those employed in the actual raising of the Eastland or government officers shall be allowed aboard the boat.

Magie, with at least one moving picture machine, and a moving picture photographer named Charles Davis, appeared on the dock yesterday afternoon. After gaining permission from Alexander Cunning, captain of the Favorite, the machine was taken over the Eastland to the Favorite, where the captain was photographed in several different poses. Magie then took the camera to the exposed side of the Eastland, where 600 feet of film was taken, with the captain's permission, according to Magie, Capt. Cunning denies giving permission.

Persons who have been denied access to the boat since the federal order went into effect telephoned to Hinton G. Clabaugh, chief of the bureau of investigation of the government department of justice.

Mr. Clabaugh went immediately to the boat and, after a talk with Capt. Cunning, called up Judge Landis, who ordered him to confiscate the negatives of all pictures taken either on board the Eastland or the Favorite.

Upon investigation Mr. Clabaugh discovered there had been two machines, both the property of the moving picture company, on board the boat.

Operatives of the bureau of investigation were sent to the company's offices to confiscate the negatives.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED TO FOUR FOR BOAT HORROR

Two Others Held Criminally Negligent by Federal Jury; Indictments Today.

GREENEBAUM NOT INCLUDED.

Floating Morgue Awaits the Dead.

The "floating morgue"—a canvas covered scow—which will house the bodies recovered when the Eastland is raised, yesterday was swung to the dock just west of the sunken boat. The funeral barge is sixty feet long and about half as wide. It is covered with canvas with a row of poles supporting the tent like roof in the middle. Above the scow floats an American flag at half mast. Alternate strips of black and purple crepe, hung vertically, cover the front wall of the tent. Within, pine temporary coffins, twenty in number, stained black, await the bodies. The floor of the barge is covered with red sawdust.

Six men named in true bills by the state grand jury yesterday face trial on charges of manslaughter and criminal negligence in connection with the Eastland disaster. It is expected the indictments will be returned before Judge Kersten today, and the state's attorney's office is planning to push the cases to immediate trial.

Three of the men held by the coroner's jury were not indicted by the grand jury. These were W. K. Greenebaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation company, lessee of the vessel, and Inspectors Robert Reid and Charles C. Eckliff of Grand Haven.

It was decided, it is said, the state has no jurisdiction over the official acts of federal steamboat inspectors.

Six Said to Be Named.

William H. Hull, vice president and general manager.

W. C. Steele, secretary-treasurer.

Ray W. Davis, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Capt. Harry Pedersen, master of the Eastland.

Joseph M. Erickson, engineer of the vessel.

The four officials of the owning company are named in a single indictment, alleging manslaughter. The two officers of the boat are jointly charged in a second indictment with criminal carelessness.

Will Reconvene This Morning.

The grand jurors will reconvene this morning. They may consider whether or not to name government checkers who were aboard the Eastland. Recommendations for drastic changes in the inspection of steamboats probably will be contained in a report which the grand jury will submit to Chief Justice Kersten accompanying the indictments.

"We have positive evidence that the boat was overcrowded on the day of the disaster," said State's Attorney Hoyne. "This is not the testimony of witnesses—it is mute evidence—the tickets."

Conviction on the charge of manslaughter carries with it imprisonment from one year to life. The penalty for criminal carelessness is imprisonment not to exceed three years or a maximum fine of $5,000.

The federal grand jury probably will not return indictments before the end of the week. Inspection records and other documentary evidence were submitted to that body yesterday.

Gregory Wants Quick Action.

"I held a long conference with Attorney General Gregory while I was in Washington," United States District Attorney Clyne said upon his return to the city in the afternoon. "Mr. Gregory is anxious that the Eastland investigation be pushed and that immediate action be taken."

After several delays it is again reported the actual raising of the Eastland will begin today.

The advisory committee, working in conjunction with the Red Cross and with the Polish and Bohemian relief groups, decided yesterday that the public money subscribed for Eastland sufferers would not be regarded in the nature of a reimbursement fund, but as a strictly relief fund; that is, that the individual circumstances of each case would determine the amount to be given. It is estimated $25,000 has been expended in emergency cases among homes.

PLAN SELF-REFORM.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The federal steamboat inspection service is attempting to forestall the approaching investigation into its methods by reforming itself before the investigators get to work.

Orders have been issued to all local inspectors to apply rigid stability tests in the cases of all vessels whose seaworthiness they doubt. These orders have been applied by local inspectors at Toledo, who have ordered several vessels there to cease carrying passengers on their upper decks.

Inspector General Uhler, who returned to Washington yesterday from Chicago, today declined to discuss the order of the Toledo inspectors or the new regulations of the service pertaining to stability. It was learned that the order to the vessels not to carry passengers on their upper decks was issued solely on the authority of the local inspectors and not at the direction of the Washington officials.

NEWS OF THE BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL WORLD, INVESTORS' GUIDE.

WESTERN ROADS' STOCKS ADVANCE

Rumor That Commerce Board Will Grant Increase in Rates Causes Rise.

Railroad stocks had an upturn yesterday, accompanied by rumors that western roads would be awarded an advance in rates by the interstate commerce commission. Announcements from Washington as to what the commission would award have varied to the extent of being distinctly opposite.

The belief obtains that the administration wishes to aid in every reasonable way business conditions, and that if credit will be improved by an advance in rates the commission will be favorable thereto.

The impression to this effect was sufficiently strong to cause a buying movement in all western lines, and the strength indicated a strong possibility that the commission would grant an advance.

Rock Island Reorganization.

It is expected that the Rock Island plan of reorganization, together with members of the reorganization committee, will be announced within a few days.

It is probable that the names of several Chicagoans, including one banker of local prominence, will appear on the list.

Inland Steel.

Inland Steel sold at 250. The company has booked profitable orders running over a period of several years.

FINANCIAL NEWS NOTES.

Oil producers in the Oklahoma fields are said to be encouraged by the recent trend of events. The change has been brought about by the advance of 15c a barrel in the price of crude oil. The present price is 55c, and a price of 75c a barrel is predicted before the end of September.

Announcement is made of an impending consolidation of the Providence Telephone company with the New England Telephone and Telegraph company by an exchange of stock on the basis of five shares of the Providence for four shares of New England.

President Ripley of the Atchison is quoted as saying the annual report of the company will show net earnings of $36,000,000. He credits the gain in earnings to an unusually large movement of grain to the south.

According to Wall street advices, the large buyers of commercial paper appear to be holding off for higher rates. At the same time, offerings of the best grades are relatively light.

J. P. Morgan & Co. are offering at 99 and interest the $12,035,000 Chicago and Western Indiana collateral trust 2 year 5 per cent notes recently purchased by that firm.

The Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stock Yards company has sold $765,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Chicago River and Indiana Railroad company.

Money and Exchange.

Money rates in Chicago steady at 4@4½ per cent on collateral, 3½@4 per cent on commercial paper, and 4@4½ per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold at 5c discount. The Chicago bank clearings were $49,203,670.

Chicago Securities.

On the local exchange Chicago Pneumatic Tool again was irregular. There appears to be no definite information as to why the current quotations should obtain. There is a pool in the stock operating from Pittsburgh. Mr. Schwab's connection with the company is supposed to be the basis for belief that earnings should be large.

Sears-Roebuck common was unusually active and advanced to 151. The crop report was used by traders as a basis for advancing the price of the shares.

American Shipbuilding common showed some activity at steady prices. Series 2 certificates of the Chicago Railways company were fairly active and steady.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—There was an ample supply of money available today. Discount rates were firm. The stock market moved irregularly. Dealings in the new war loan were numerous, with fluctuations narrow. Marconis were active, especially the American shares. Home rails and Brazilian bonds and tractions remained weak. A good tone prevailed in the American section. United States Steel and Union Pacific were strong and equipment stocks were in demand at advancing prices under New York influences. Canadian Pacific was firm following the declaration of the regular dividend. The closing was firm. The Bank of England today sold £200,000 in bar gold and released £200,000 in sovereigns for miscellaneous purposes. Bar silver, 22⅞d an ounce. Money, 3¼@4 per cent. Discount rates: Short bills, 4⅝@5 per cent; three months, 4⅝@5 per cent.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Trading was dull on the bourse today. Rentes, 68 francs 50 centimes. Exchange on London, 27 francs 49½ centimes.

ACTIVE DEMAND FOR N. Y. STOCKS

Strength of Market Held Up by Gains in Railroad Issues and Steel.

Total sales of stocks, 1,120,000 shares.

New York, Aug. 10.—Conditions of a more substantial and enduring character contributed to today's strong and active market. There was a broad demand for the better known railway issues, including the transcontinental group and the hard and soft coal shares.

Canadian Pacific also made the striking gain of 6⅝ points on announcement late yesterday of the maintenance of the regular dividend, although the action of the directors was criticised in conservative quarters. Even minor roads like Erie, Rock Island, New Haven, and Chesapeake and Ohio participated appreciably in the forward movement.

U. S. Steel Still Active.

Apart from the rise in the railways, the most interesting development of the day was the further activity of United States Steel common, which touched 76⅝, its best price since 1912. The price fell back over a point shortly after midday. The July unfilled tonnage statement was the most favorable of any since February of last year.

War specialties were not entirely neglected, new high quotations being registered by General Motors common and preferred at 221 and 109½, respectively, Westinghouse at 115, Willys-Overland at 160, and Studebaker at 87½. The latest turn to events in Mexico was reflected in the strength of Southern Pacific, American Smelting, Mexican Petroleum, National Railways of Mexico, and shares of other corporations whose interests are more or less bound up with the future of that country.

Exchange Market Weak.

Impending imports of gold from London via Halifax were without effect on the weakened exchange market, demand sterling falling to the new low of 4.75⅝, while checks on Paris broke to the new record of 5.78. Italian exchange also depreciated to the new low record of 6.37. Bonds were steady but relatively quiet. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BOSTON STOCK QUOTATIONS.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Tamarack again today was the feature of the Boston market, jumping from 53½ to 58 in the first hour and closing at 55 on dealings totaling about 2,500 shares. The buying was on the belief that the engineers will appraise the property at far more than the present market value of the shares outstanding. The coppers generally were quiet. There was some selling of American Zinc and Butte and Superior, the former closing with a loss of 1½ points, while the latter declined ¾. Mohawk and Calumet and Arizona advanced 1 point and Isle Royale sold off 1¼. Other changes were fractional. In the general list New Haven finished 3⅝ points higher, while Boston and Maine lost 1. On the curb Utah Metals touched 6 15-16 on sales of 4,100 shares. Call money ruled at 3 per cent; time loans, short dates, ⅝@3⅝ per cent; time loans, six months, 3½@3¾ per cent; time loans, one year, 4½@4¾ per cent.

Westinghouse Notes.

G. H.—There are outstanding $98,750 fifteen year notes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, due Jan. 1, 1924. They were issued under the readjustment plan in 1908, and, as far as available information shows, are the unsecured obligation of the company. Most of the company's indebtedness is in the form of unsecured convertible notes, due in 1931, but there are $3,570,000 of secured obligations, part falling due next year and part in 1917. Earnings are subject to wide fluctuations, but the average for the last five years has been four times the interest charge. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul convertible 4½s are secured under the general and refunding mortgage of 1913. This is a junior mortgage. Total interest charges were earned more than twice until the year just ended, when increased charges and decreased earnings reduced the margin of safety to 75 or 80 per cent. Complete figures are not yet available.

Chicago Railways Bonds.

R. B. H., Springfield, Ill.—It is probable that the Chicago Railways company will continue paying interest on its B bonds until the expiration of the franchise, and that equity of the bonds in the property will be substantially greater than that it is now. The present equity amounts to something between 75 and 90 per cent of the face value of the bonds. Several things may happen in 1927: The city may take over the property, in which case the bonds will be paid as far as the purchase price will go toward paying them; the bonds may be refunded under a new franchise, or the company may go on operating without any franchise, in which case it probably would continue paying the interest on the bonds. A fourth possibility is that the property may be turned over to a new corporation. In that contingency the purchase price would pay these bonds in full.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The heavy movement of new crop coffee in Brazil seemed to make more impression on sentiment in the market for coffee futures here today and prices broke quite sharply under liquidation and trade selling. The market opened at a decline of 9 to 11 points and active months sold about 11 to 13 points net lower during the middle of the day. The close was a shade up from the lowest on covering, with last prices showing a net decline of 6@11 points. Sales, 46,750 bags. Spot quiet; Rio No. 7, 7¼c; Santos No. 4, 9½c. Cost and freight offers were irregular, averaging about unchanged at from 8½ to 9½c for Santos 4s, while sales were reported of Rio 7s at 6.85c, or a shade under yesterday's offers. Receipts at the two Brazilian ports were 129,000 bags; Jundiahy receipts, 127,000 bags. Milreis prices were unchanged at Santos and 75 reis higher at Rio. Rio exchange on London unchanged. SUGAR—Raw firm; centrifugal, 4.64c; molasses, 3.87c. Refined firm. Futures: September, 3.77c; December, 3.26c; March, 3.23c; May, 3.24c.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—SUGAR—The following prices were quoted by wholesale dealers per 100 pounds: Cut loaf, H. & E., $7.20; powdered standard, $6.62; eastern granulated, $5.96; beet granulated, $5.83; extra C, $5.85; canary, 5.6.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Cotton goods were quiet and steady today. Yarns were quiet. Large orders have been booked by Italy for cloth and blankets for army purposes and woolen mills are running to nearly 70 per cent of capacity. The silk trade shows improvement.

Chicago Title & Trust Company
69 W. WASHINGTON ST.

The economic readjustment which of necessity will follow the war in Europe, will disturb real estate mortgage loans less than any other form of credits. The Chicago Title and Trust Company loans its trust funds on mortgages in Chicago and vicinity. These loans usually become due in five years and they are secured by property remote from any possible seat of war. Real estate loans always bring a high rate of interest. This company is positively abreast of the times in all matters connected with real estate.

NEWS OF THE COMMERCIAL WORLD—REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

The action of the wheat market was a big surprise to the bears yesterday. Selling the last two days had been quite general on the bearish crop figures, while recent reports from the northwest have been of an extremely optimistic kind. Selling was overdone and yesterday local shorts were big buyers, resulting in a sharp advance after a much lower range early. Final prices were ½@⅞@1c higher.

Cash premiums are high in all markets, and with the shortage among shippers of cash wheat the limited arrivals of contract grain are eagerly absorbed at abnormally high figures relative to the September. No. 2 red winter yesterday sold at premiums of 8@8½c over the September and No. 2 hard was 14@18c over. In other markets about the same conditions prevail.

Harvesting Starts in Northwest.

Spring wheat reports reflect the excellent weather conditions that have prevailed for a week. The harvest is well under way and is now expected to be finished one week earlier than was believed possible. South Dakota has much black rust, but experts predict the biggest crop in the history of the state. Further rains were reported in Kansas. Elsewhere in the main conditions were favorable, with rains, however, predicted for today east of the Mississippi.

Receipts here were 488 cars, with 360 cars inspected yesterday. Primary receipts were 1,039,000 bu, against 1,668,000 bu a year ago. Northwest receipts were 171 cars, compared to 294 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg had 32 cars, compared to 150 cars a year ago. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 150,000 bu for three days.

Wet Harvest Abroad.

In many western European countries harvest conditions are unfavorable. In Germany good yields have been secured, and the central empires are said to have contracted for much of the Roumanian crop. Cables from Liverpool showed spot wheat 1d lower to 1½d higher. The wet harvest in Europe and the delayed winter wheat movement in this country, with a good spot demand, were factors at Liverpool.

The seaboard reported export sales in the last two days of 800,000 bu. Local sales were about 100,000 bu, including 50,000 bu red winter wheat to exporters. The European visible showed an increase of about 2,500,000 bu. Country acceptances were moderate, but it is expected there will be quite a liberal run of wheat on consignment to get the benefit of the prevailing high premiums. Clearances for the day were 181,000 bu.

Corn Shows Firm Tone.

The cash demand for corn is fair, while country offerings are lighter again, and cash prices are firm. Futures reflected the firm cash situation as well as the strength in other grains, closing ⅜ to ⅝@¾c higher. Country reports told of good progress in the maturing of the crop, but much corn is still in doubt. Argentine corn is firm, with freights strong and the continent a good buyer, according to Broomhall. The seaboard did not report any Plate corn offered to this country.

Weather conditions were favorable over the greater part of the belt. Cables were ¼@1d higher for spot corn. Receipts were 210 cars inspected yesterday, and primary arrivals were 807,000 bu, against 419,000 bu a year ago. Charters were made for 150,000 bu corn to Buffalo, and shipping sales were 135,000 bu.

Oats Shorts Buy Futures.

Shorts in oats, who sold in the last few days on the optimistic crop reports, paid their reckoning yesterday when prices advanced sharply. Resting prices were ⅜@⅝c higher, the September leading. Cash oats were firm at the close, with new No. 3 whites selling as high as 50c.

Offerings from the country were not heavy and short sales for shipment are said to be heavy. Predictions of more wet weather caused nervousness on the part of the shorts. Receipts were 175 cars and primary receipts were 533,000 bu, against 1,789,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were small at 2,000 bu.

Hog Products Shade Easier.

Provisions were a little easier at the close. There were fair buying orders early, but packers did not give the market much support. Stockyards houses were credited with selling pork. Commission houses were fair buyers of ribs.

Receipts of hogs were 9,000 and prices at the yards were 5@10c up. Receipts estimated for today were 23,000. Western receipts were 56,200, compared to 73,200 a year ago. Liverpool prices were unchanged.

Rye Has Further Gain.

Rye sold higher, with cash No. 2 at $1.05 and No. 3 at $1.01. Receipts, 10 cars.

Barley was steady for malting, old selling at 82½c and new at 72c. Feed was 1c higher, with sales of old at 71c and new at 69@71c. Screenings were 55@68c. Receipts, 21 cars.

Timothy seed was 15c lower, with sales of September at $7.25. Cash lots were nominally $5@6.50. Clover seed was dull, with country lots $10.00@13.50 nominal.

Duluth flax closed at 1@1¼c lower, with cash on track $1.66¾, September $1.66¼, and October $1.68. Receipts, 4 cars. Minneapolis was 1¼c lower, with cash on track $1.67¼@1.69¼. Receipts, 6 cars. Winnipeg closed ⅝c higher, with October $1.67⅛. Receipts, 1 car.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

The weekly foreign crop summary said:

France—Crop prospects are not favorable and harvesting, which is general, is confirming a reduced yield. Reserves are small. The government has accepted the proposal of increased flour extraction to 74 per cent and mix rye meal for breadmaking. This is for the purpose of economizing wheat.

Germany—All reports confirm good crops, but weather has been unfavorable for harvesting.

Russia—Both winter and spring crops are good. Harvesting is now progressing, but with interruption as a result of rain. The yield of all grain will be large.

A good many traders were bullish on wheat yesterday, mainly because of the high premiums prevailing for cash wheat. No. 2 red winter yesterday was 8@8½c over September and No. 2 hard was 14@18c over. In other markets cash stuff is still at big premiums, especially in the northwest. With these premiums and the scarcity of cash wheat at present futures look cheap. A leader in the shipping trade said yesterday the conditions prevailing at present would not last any longer than it would take for the shorts among the shippers to fill their moderate sales to exporters. In all markets quite a little wheat has been sold to the seaboard, and, with the backward winter wheat movement, shorts have been placed in a bad position. Bulls believe it will take a big movement to supply the demand from the mills and for export. On the other hand, if weather conditions are favorable, the spring wheat will be moving in volume almost as soon as the winter wheat.

B. W. Snow wired from Aberdeen, S. D.: "Weather continues perfect. Three-quarters of wheat in northern South Dakota is ripe and every binder is running today. In a seventy miles drive counted fifty-one fields being cut. Plenty of rust in most fields, but marquis and velvet chaff ripened ahead of it and sample is extra plump. The late blue stem possibly 10 per cent of total wheat acreage needs week or ten days to ripen and could be pinched a little, but I believe it will also get away. District covered today will average above twenty-five bushels and it looks like a record for both yield and quality. The outlook for oats is similar to that in wheat. Corn just tasseling, growing fast, and is still very doubtful."

Keusch-Schwartz had a late message from Kansas City saying some grades of wheat would be 4c lower than the previous day. The September wheat at Kansas City also reacted sharply from the previous day. St. Louis reported shipping more red winter wheat to Kansas City. There was understood to have been a big short interest in July wheat at Kansas City, and the shortage in September is also said to be a big one.

O. K. Lyle reports harvesting of wheat general from Aberdeen, S. D., to Jamestown, N. D. He says harvest will be one week earlier than expected. Black rust losses will fall on late wheat. Le Count said in a report to Barrell that there would be little damage from and cause to wheat crop of South Dakota, and that state would have largest crop in its history.

Cash corn closed firm. There was a fair eastern demand and prices followed the futures. Peoria and some of the outside markets claimed a smaller run from the country. Cash oats were in demand, with No. 3 whites, new, advancing to around 50c. The sales here were 135,000 bu corn and 255,000 bu oats, including 150,000 bu to exporters.

About 10,000 bu corn has been posted as out of condition in the South Chicago elevator C and annex. The receipts calling for the corn are R—2689 and R—2760. The corn is winter shelled corn, which has been in the elevator since last December. It is reported either heated and out of condition or getting out of condition.

Russell's bureau wired from New York that offers of wheat from the southwest continue light, as a rule. Durum wheat offerings from the northwest are increasing and some export business has been done in new durum.

John Lindman had a St. Louis message saying Langenberg, who was back from a trip through Kansas, was of opinion the estimate for the state would be cut finally to 80,000,000 or 90,000,000 bu.

The European wheat visible is 59,640,000 bu, against 57,096,000 bu last week, an increase of 2,554,000 bu, compared to a decrease of 2,640,000 bu a year ago.

According to a Minneapolis message new wheat will be shipped from around Redfield, S. D., next week.

Charters were made for 100,000 bu wheat and 150,000 bu corn to Buffalo at ⅞c.

The seaboard reported 800,000 bu wheat taken for export the last two days.

Omaha cash wheat was 1@2c higher for new wheat and old was 2c lower.

Hog prices at Chicago yesterday sold 5@15c higher than on Monday and receipts of 9,000 head found a prompt outlet at the appreciation. The supply was short of expectations and found packers short in their orders for medium weight and mixed packing hogs, which sold mostly 10@15c higher for the day, while lightweight hogs were advanced only 5c. Top sales were made at $7.70, with the bulk at $6.30@7.20. Shippers were credited with purchases of 1,000 head, while packers took 6,500, and about 2,000 were carried over unsold.

Cattle receipts of 4,000 head sold at Monday's decline. The light and medium weight steers of good quality found an early clearance at the prices, but the heavyweight lots were slow. Cows and heifers held steady, while calves recovered the loss sustained Monday and sold up to $11.50 for prime vealers.

Sheep and Lambs Decline.

Sheep sold at a decline of 25@35c from Monday's figures, and lambs suffered a loss of 10@25c. Receipts were posted at 12,000 head and exceeded requirements, as liberal runs at river markets gave packers an opportunity to stock up with cheap mutton. Lambs topped at $9 for natives and $9.25 for rangers. Few lambs sold higher than $6.50.

PATTEN BUYS BOULEVARD FEE

Grain Man Pays $934,555 for Ground Under University Club.

The second largest real estate transaction of the year in the downtown district was closed yesterday in the purchase by James A. Patten from the International Harvester company of the ground under the University Club building at the northwest corner of Michigan avenue and Monroe street for $934,555.

The lot, which fronts 66 feet on the avenue, with a depth of 171 feet on Monroe street, is under lease for a term of 198 years to the University club at an annual rental of $35,000 for the next two years, $40,000 for the succeeding ten years, and $45,000 for the remainder of the term.

The building, a fifteen story, fireproof structure, is one of the most attractive buildings in the downtown district. It was erected in 1907 at a cost of over $1,100,000, and was valued by the board of review at $940,800. The purchase nets Mr. Patten 4½ per cent, and the fee has been regarded as one of the choicest in the downtown district.

Has Faith in Michigan Avenue.

The purchase, which was on a cash basis, makes Mr. Patten one of the largest individual holders of Michigan avenue frontage, his other holdings comprising 120 feet of frontage facing Grant park in the block between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, as well as 126 feet of frontage at the northwest corner of Fourteenth street. They represent an investment of considerable over $2,000,000 and evidence Mr. Patten's strong confidence in the future of that thoroughfare.

The sale of the University club property was negotiated by Oliver & Co., who represented Mr. Patten, and by Wilfred B. Langmore of James A. McLane & Co., who represented the International Harvester company.

Mr. Patten is also the owner of several pieces of high class improved business property in the vicinity of Van Buren and Harrison, Sherman and Polk streets, having a conservative valuation of between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. One is the Printers building, at the northwest corner of Sherman and Polk streets, an eight story and basement structure on a lot 212x100 feet, declared by experts to be the finest building of its kind in the country.

Owner of Patten Building.

He is also the owner of the Patten building at the southwest corner of Harrison and Sherman streets, a twelve story structure on a lot 100x120 feet, and the Faithorn Printing building on Sherman street between Van Buren and Harrison streets. All of these buildings were erected by Mr. Patten.

The 120 feet of frontage on Michigan avenue opposite Grant park is improved with a two story white tile front building containing six stores on the ground floor and offices above. The Fourteenth street corner is improved with a one story building containing five stores.

The legal end of the transaction in connection with the purchase of the University club building fee was attended to by Joseph E. Paden in behalf of Mr. Patten, while the personal representative of the International Harvester company throughout the negotiations was George A. Ranney, secretary of the company.

Shepard Deal Recorded.

Record was made of the purchase by the trustees of the estate of Henry O. Shepard from the trustees of the estate of Henry Witbeck of the Witbeck homestead of the northwest corner of Washington boulevard and Elizabeth street for an expressed consideration of $50,000. The lot is 107½x180 feet and while no plans have been arranged for, it is understood the property eventually will be improved with a building for the occupancy of the Henry O. Shepard company, printers. Walter H. Wilson & Co. and E. Orris Hart & Co. were the brokers.

The property on Leland avenue 264 feet west of Clarendon avenue, lot 30x104 feet, south front, with brick improvements, has been sold by J. S. Erickson to J. C. Godhelp for an indicated consideration of $20,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,500.

Fifty-first Street Deal.

An expressed consideration of $25,000 is given in the transfer by Theodore A. Shaw and Howard Van Doren to David Young of the 99x271 feet at the northeast corner of Fifty-first street and St. Lawrence avenue, which will be improved with a high grade apartment building which is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Record has been made of the conveyance by Edward Buckman to Kellogg Fairbank of the property on North State street, 69 feet south of Goethe street, 22x130 feet, east front, with residence improvements, the consideration being nominal. Mr. Fairbank then transferred to L. D. Karcher for an expressed consideration of $11,000.

Julius Goldstein has conveyed to Louis Yutkowsky the property on Ridgeway avenue, 225 feet north of West Fifteenth street, 22x125 feet, for an indicated consideration of $13,290.

SEEK ECONOMY IN YOUR CAR. SAXON "Six" at $785 has it. Saxon Roadster at $395 has it. Light weight, good balance, and modern design combine to make Saxon cars economical. They are stylish in looks, too—modern in design. Why, therefore, pay 500 to $800 for a car two or three years old? Why buy superweight, extravagant upkeep, old-fashioned looks, and antique design? Why not buy a car with all the motor car virtues—a new Saxon? Come in and see the Saxon models and so be convinced of their quality. Saxon Headquarters, 23d-st. and Indiana-av. Phone Calumet 4626.
